Presently, the Company's gratuity plan is unfunded and the Company is in the process of forming a trust wherein every employee is entitled to the benefit equivalent to fifteen days salary last drawn for each completed year of service. The same is payable on termination of service or retirement whichever is earlier. The benefit vests after five years of continuous service. The Company's scheme is more favourable as compared to the obligation under Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972.

2. Post-retirement medical care plan:

The post-retirement medical benefit plan provides for reimbursement of health care costs to certain categories of employees post their retirement. The reimbursement is subject to an overall ceiling sanctioned based on cadre of the employee at the time of retirement. The plan is unfunded. Employees do not contribute to the plan.

3. Company's pension plan:

In addition to contribution to state-managed pension plan (EPS scheme), the holding company operates a post retirement pension scheme, which is discretionary in nature for certain cadres of employees. The quantum of pension depends on the cadre of the employee at the time of retirement. The plan is unfunded. Employees do not contribute to the plan.

4. Trust managed provident fund plan:

The Company's provident fund plan is managed by the provident fund trust established by the holding company under the Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952. The plan mandates contribution by employer at a fixed percentage of employee's salary. Employees also contribute to the plan at a fixed percentage of their salary as a minimum contribution and additional sums at their discretion. The plan guarantees interest at the rate notified by the provident fund authority. The contribution by employer and employee together with interest are payable at the time of separation from service or retirement whichever is earlier. The benefit under this plan vests immediately on rendering of service.

The interest payment obligation of trust-managed provident fund is assumed to be adequately covered by the interest income on long term investments of the fund. Any shortfall in the interest income over the interest obligation is recognized immediately in the statement of profit and loss as actuarial loss. Any loss/gain arising out of the investment risk and actuarial risk associated with the plan is also recognized as expense or income in the period in which such loss/gain occurs.

All the above defined benefit plans expose the company to general actuarial risks such as interest rate risk and market (investment) risk.

vii) Disclosure pursuant to Indian Accounting Standard (Ind AS) 108 ''Operating Segments''

a) The Company is engaged mainly in the business of engineering, procurement, fabrication, construction and project management activity providing integrated 'design to build' solutions for large and complex offshore and onshore hydrocarbon projects. In the context of Ind AS 108 on Segment Reporting though the Company has operating model defined based on business verticals, the reportable segment is one considering common customers, investments by clients linked to oil price movement, similar risk profile and common infrastructure facilities and resources. Also, the Company's chief operating decision maker (i.e. CEO & Managing Director) reviews the results project-wise rather than reviewing results of the verticals.

f) Financial risk management

The Company is exposed to credit/counter-party risk, liquidity risk, currency risk and interest rate risk.

The Company's risk management policy (including financial risk) is recommended by the audit committee and approved by the board of directors.

The Company's risk management committee is responsible for the implementation of the risk management policy.

e-i) Credit/counter-party risk

The principal credit risk that the Company is exposed to is non-collection of trade receivables and late collection of receivables leading to credit loss. The risk is mitigated by reviewing creditworthiness of the prospective customers by the risk management committee prior to entering into contract and, post receipt of contract through continuous monitoring of collections by the project team and the accounts team.

The Company makes adequate provision for non-collection of trade receivables. Further, the Company has not suffered significant payment defaults by its customers.

The Company has made provision for expected credit loss ('ECL') based on ageing analysis of its trade receivables ranging from 6% to 24% for dues outstanding from private customers towards default and from 3% to 60% towards delay for all customer outstanding. No provision has been made on trade receivable in not due category. The provision for ECL is based on external and internal credit risk factors such as the Company's historical experience for customers, type of customer e.g. public sector, etc.

Allowances for non-collection of receivables and ECL on delay / default in collection, on a combined basis, were ₹ 210.20 crores and ₹ 214.82 crores for the financial years 2016-17 and 2015-16 respectively. The movement in allowances for doubtful accounts comprising provision for both non-collection of receivables and delay in collection is as follows:

(₹ Crore)

Particulars	2016-17	2015-16
Opening balance of allowances for doubtful accounts	214.82	121.84
Allowances recognized (reversed)	(38.44)	12.65
Additional provision	46.54	80.33
Amounts written off during the year	(12.73)	–

The percentage of revenue from its top five customers is 82.71% for 2016-17 (84.09% for 2015-16).

The counter-party risk that the Company is exposed to is principally for financial instruments taken to hedge its foreign currency risks (see below). The counter-parties are mainly banks and the Company has entered into contracts with the counterparties for all its hedge instruments and in addition, entered into suitable credit support agreements to cap counter-party risk where necessary.

The Company invests its surplus funds in bank deposits and liquid investments and mitigates the risk of counter-party failure by investing with institutions having good credit rating.

e-ii) Liquidity risk

The holding company's treasury department monitors the cash flows of the Company and surplus funds are invested in non-speculative financial instruments that are usually highly liquid funds (see counter-party risk above).

The Company has project related borrowings as at March 31, 2017 and has credit facilities (both fund based and non-fund based) with banks that will help it to generate funds and other financial facilities for the business, if required. In addition, the Company has borrowings in the form of preference shares from the holding company aggregating to ₹ 760 crores (₹ 500 crores as at March 31, 2016). The preference shares carry a coupon rate of 10% for ₹ 500 crores and 12% for ₹ 260 crores. The preference shares are convertible at the option of the Company and are wholly accounted for as equity component of preference shares (refer note 18 - other equity).

e-iii) Currency risk

Foreign exchange risk is a significant financial risk for the Company.

The Company uses derivative financial instruments to mitigate foreign exchange related exposures. Specialist teams that have the appropriate skills and experience take decisions for risk management purposes.

In addition, the Company has embedded derivatives, mainly for projects in India that are won under international competitive bidding and sourcing in currencies other than INR and functional currency of the vendor. These are quoted in foreign currency and may match the exposure that the Company may have for the liabilities for the project. Since embedded derivatives are considered ineffective, they are charged to the statement of profit and loss along with the corresponding hedge instrument taken (if any) to mitigate the foreign exchange risk.

The Company does not enter into hedge transactions for either trading or speculative purposes.

The Company has operations abroad and also has other transactions in foreign currencies and the maximum exposure is in US dollars.

The board of directors has approved the Company's financial risk management policy covering management of foreign currency exposures. The holding company's treasury department monitors the foreign currency exposures and takes appropriate forward covers to mitigate its risk. The Company hedges its exposure both on cash flow basis as well as on net basis (i.e. net expected outcome of the project). These hedges are cash flow hedges.

The outstanding hedge instruments at the year-end, their maturity profile and the sensitivity analysis are as under:

Sensitivity analysis:

Value at risk:

To provide a meaningful assessment of the foreign currency risk associated with the Company's foreign currency derivative positions against off-Balance Sheet exposures and unhedged portion of on-Balance Sheet financial assets and liabilities, the Company uses a multi-currency correlated value-at-risk ("VAR") model. The VAR model uses a Monte Carlo simulation to generate thousands of random market price paths for foreign currencies against Indian Rupee taking into account the correlations between them. The VAR is the expected loss in value of the exposures due to overnight movement in spot exchange rates, at 95% confidence interval. The VAR model is not intended to represent actual losses but is used as a risk estimation tool. The model assumes normal market conditions and is a historical best fit model. Because the Company uses foreign currency instruments for hedging purposes, the loss in fair value incurred on those instruments are generally offset by increase in the fair value of the underlying exposures for on Balance Sheet exposures. The overnight VAR for the Company at 95% confidence level is ₹ 23.22 crore as at March 31, 2017 and ₹ 9.49 crore as at March 31, 2016.

Actual future gains and losses associated with the Company's investment portfolio and derivative positions may differ materially from the sensitivity analysis performed as at March 31, 2017 due to the inherent limitations associated with predicting the timing and amount of changes in foreign currency exchange rates and the Company's actual exposures and position.

Interest rate risk:

The Company's exposure to the risk for changes in market rates relate primarily to the Company's investment in liquid mutual funds and project specific borrowing for international projects carrying floating interest rate.

The Company's exposure to interest rate risk is shown (by way of a sensitivity analysis) below.

ANNEXURE 'B' TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

[Referred to in paragraph 2(f) of our Report of even date]

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of L&T Infrastructure Engineering Limited ("the Company") as of 31 March 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the Ind AS financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting ("the Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India("ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act").

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable, to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31 March 2017, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a) Corporate information

L&T Infrastructure Engineering Limited (Corporate Identity Number: U74140TN1998PLC039864) is an Unlisted Public Limited Company incorporated in India, having its registered office at Mount Poonamallee Road, Manapakkam, P.O. Box no 979, Chennai - 600 089, Tamilnadu, India, having its principal office at 4 & 5th Floors, Triton Square (SKCL Building), C3-C7, Thiru. Vi. Ka. Industrial Estate, Guindy, Chennai - 600 032. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of Larsen & Toubro Limited. The Company is engaged in consulting engineering services, mainly in transportation infrastructure.

b) Statement of Compliance

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 (the Act) and the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) in respect of section 133 of the Act.

Upto the year ended 31 March 2016, the financial statements were prepared in accordance with the requirements of previous generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), which includes Accounting Standards prescribed under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006 issued by MCA in respect of section 133 of the Act.

These financial statements are the first Ind AS financial Statements of the Company. The date of transition to Ind AS is 1 April 2015. Refer Note 41 for explanation of how the transition to Ind AS has affected the Company's financial position, financial performance and cash flows.

The financial statements were authorized for issue by the Company's Board of Directors on 19 May 2017.

c) Basis of accounting

The Company maintains its accounts on historical cost convention except for certain financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value as indicated in the following accounting policies. Further, the guidance notes/ announcements issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) are also considered, wherever applicable except to the extent where compliance with other statutory promulgations override the same requiring a different treatment.

d) Presentation of financial statements

The Balance Sheet, the Statement of Profit and Loss and the Statement of Changes in Equity are prepared and presented in the format prescribed in the Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act"). The Cash Flow Statement has been prepared and presented as per the requirements of Ind AS 7 "Statement of Cash flows". The disclosure requirements with respect to items in the Balance Sheet, Statement of Profit and Loss and Statement of Changes in Equity, as prescribed in the Schedule III to the Act, are presented by way of notes forming part of the financial statements along with the other notes required to be disclosed under the notified Accounting Standards.

Amounts in the financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees in line with the requirements of Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013. Per share data are presented in Indian Rupees to two decimals places.

e) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management of the Company makes estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of income and expenses of the period, the reported balances of assets and liabilities and the disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as of the date of the financial statements. Examples of such estimates include the useful lives of property, plant & equipment and intangible fixed assets, allowance for doubtful debts / advances, future obligations in respect of retirement benefit plans etc. Difference, if any, between the actual results and estimates is recognized in the period in which the results are known.

f) Operating cycle

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the Balance Sheet based on current / non-current classification in accordance with the criteria specified in Ind AS compliant Schedule III to the Act.

Operating cycle for the business activities of the Company covers the duration of the specific project / contract / service and extends up to the realization of receivables in cash or cash equivalents within the agreed credit period normally applicable or twelve months, wherever applicable.

g) Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized when consideration can be reasonably measured and there exists reasonable certainty of its recovery.

A. Revenue from contract for engineering design services is recognized as follows:

i. Cost plus contract: Contract revenue is determined by adding the aggregate cost plus proportionate margin as agreed with the customer

ii. Fixed price contract: Contract revenue is recognized only to the extent of cost incurred till such time the outcome of the job cannot be ascertained reliably. When the outcome of the contract is ascertained reliably, contract revenue is recognized based on percentage of completion method. Percentage of completion is the proportion of cost of work performed upto the reporting date, to the total estimated cost of each contract.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

Any expected loss is recognized as an expense in the year in which it is foreseen, irrespective of the stage of completion of the contract. While determining the amount of foreseeable loss, all elements of costs and related incidental income not included in contract revenue is taken into consideration.

B. Other income

i. Interest income is accrued on a time basis by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

ii. Dividend income is accounted in the period in which the right to receive the same is established.

iii. Other items of income are accounted as and when the right to receive arises and it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

h) Property, Plant and Equipment (PPE)

PPE is recognized when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. PPE is stated at original cost of acquisition less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss. Freehold land is carried at cost. PPE acquired on hire purchase basis are stated at their cash values.

The cost of an item of PPE comprises of its purchase price, including import duties and non-refundable purchase taxes net of tax / duty credit availed, trade discounts and rebates. It includes all costs directly attributable to acquisition of PPE and to bringing the PPE to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by the management of the Company. For qualifying assets, cost includes borrowing costs capitalized in accordance with the Company's accounting policy.

Subsequent costs are recognized as a separate asset, as appropriate only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of any component accounted for as a separate asset is derecognized when replaced. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the reporting period in which they are incurred.

An item of PPE is derecognized upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of PPE is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognized in the statement of profit or loss.

PPE not ready for the intended use on the reporting date is disclosed as "capital work-in-progress".

Depreciation

Depreciation on PPE is provided on straight line basis based on useful lives estimated which are as prescribed in Part C of Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013.

Category of PPE	Useful Life in Years
Computers and Data Processing Units
- End User Devices	3
- Servers and Networks	6
Plant and Equipment	15
Office Equipment	5
Furniture & Fixtures	10

Where cost of a part of the asset ("asset component") is significant in relation to the total cost of the asset and useful life of that part is different from the useful life of the remaining asset, useful life of that significant part is determined separately and such asset component is depreciated over its separate useful life.

The estimated useful lives, residual values and depreciation method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate accounted for on a prospective basis, to reflect expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the asset.

Depreciation charge for impaired assets is adjusted in future periods in such a manner that the revised carrying amount of the asset is allocated over its remaining useful life.

On transition to Ind AS, the Company has elected to continue with carrying value of all of its PPE recognized as at 1 April 2015 (transition date) measured as per the previous GAAP and use that carrying value as its deemed cost as at the transition date. The carrying value was original cost less accumulated depreciation and cumulative impairment.

i) Intangible assets and amortization

Intangible assets are recognized when it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the asset will flow to the enterprise and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Intangible assets are stated at original cost of acquisition less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment loss.

Amortization

Specialized software are amortized under straight line method over their useful life of 4 years.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

Amortization on impaired assets is provided by adjusting the amortization charges in the remaining periods so as to allocate the assets revised carrying amount over its remaining useful life.

j) Impairment of non-financial assets

As at each reporting date, the Company assesses whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset and recognizes an impairment loss when the carrying value of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount.

As at each reporting date, the Company also assesses whether there is an indication that an impairment loss recognized in previous periods for an asset may no longer exist or may have decreased. If any such indication exists, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the asset and reverses the impairment loss recognized in previous period such that the increased carrying amount of the asset does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of amortization and depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in previous periods.

When it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

Recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is the higher of its fair value less cost of disposal and its value in use.

Value in use is estimated as the present value of future cash flows expected to be derived from an asset / cash generating unit.

k) Financial Instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in the Statement of Profit or Loss.

A. Financial Assets

All financial assets are subsequently measured at either amortized cost or fair value, depending on the classification of the financial assets.

i. Financial assets at amortized cost

Financial assets are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method if these financial assets are held within a business whose objective is to hold these assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

ii. Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income

Financial assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if these financial assets are held within a business whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

iii. Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless it is measured at amortized cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income on initial recognition.

Derecognition of Financial Assets

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party.

Impairment of Financial Assets

The Company assesses at each balance sheet date whether a financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired. Ind AS 109 “Financial Instruments” requires expected credit losses to be measured through a loss allowance. The Company recognises lifetime expected losses for trade receivables that do not constitute a financing transaction. For all other financial assets, expected credit losses are measured at an amount equal to 12 month expected credit.

For the purpose of measuring expected credit loss allowance for trade receivables, the Company uses a provision matrix / model to determine the impairment loss allowance on the portfolio of trade receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historical credit risk characteristics such as default and delay rates over the expected life of the trade receivables and is adjusted for forward looking information considering the type of customers and a judgmental evaluation of the collectability of the receivables as permitted under Ind AS 109 ‘Financial Instruments’. The matrix has been developed based on the past data after considering the following:

i. Level of provisioning which has been carried in books against the age-wise profile of the trade receivables after they have become past due and;

ii. The expected delays in the payment as are evident from the age-wise profile of trade receivables.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

At every reporting date, the historical observed default and delay rates are updated and changes in the forward-looking estimates are reviewed.

B. Financial Liabilities

All financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method or at fair value through profit or loss.

i. Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)

Financial liabilities are classified as at FVTPL when the financial liability is held for trading or it is designated as at FVTPL. A financial liability is classified as held for trading if:

- It has been incurred principally for the purpose of repurchasing it in the near term; or
- On initial recognition it is part of a portfolio of identified financial instruments that the Company manages together and has a recent actual pattern of short-term profit-taking; or
- It is a derivative that is not designated and effective as a hedging instrument.

A financial liability other than a financial liability held for trading may be designated as at FVTPL upon initial recognition, if:

- Such designation eliminates or significantly reduces a measurement or recognition inconsistency that would otherwise arise;
- The financial liability forms part of a group of financial assets or financial liabilities or both, which is managed and its performance is evaluation on a fair value basis, in accordance with the Company's documented risk management or investment strategy, and information about the grouping provided internally on that basis; or
- It forms part of a contract containing one or more embedded derivatives, and Ind AS 109 permits the entire combined contract to be designated as at FVTPL in accordance with Ind AS 109.

Financial liabilities at FVTPL are stated at fair value, with any gains or losses arising on remeasurements recognized in profit or loss.

ii. Financial liabilities subsequently measured at amortized cost

Financial liabilities that are not held-for-trading and are not designated as at FVTPL are measured at amortized cost at the end of subsequent accounting periods. The carrying amounts of financial liabilities that are subsequently measured at amortized cost are determined based on the effective interest method.

Derecognition of financial liabilities

The Company derecognizes financial liabilities when, and only when, the Company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid and payable is recognized in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

l) Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions.

The Company categorizes assets and liabilities measured at fair value into one of three levels depending on the ability to observe inputs employed in their measurement which are described as follows:

i. Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

ii. Level 2 inputs are inputs that are observable, either directly or indirectly, other than quoted prices included within level 1 for the asset or liability.

iii. Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability reflecting significant modifications to observable related market data or Company's assumptions about pricing by market participants.

m) Foreign Currency Transactions

The reporting currency of the Company is Indian Rupee, which is also the Company's functional currency.

Foreign currency transactions are recorded on initial recognition in the reporting currency using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction. At each Balance sheet date, foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate. Non-monetary items, carried at historical cost denominated in foreign currency are reported using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction. The exchange differences on settlement/ conversion are adjusted in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

n) Income taxes

A. Current tax

Tax on income for the current period is determined on the basis of taxable income and tax credits computed in accordance with the provisions of the Income tax Act, 1961, and based on expected outcome of assessments / appeals.

Current income tax liabilities and assets are measured at the amount expected to be paid to or recovered from the taxation authorities, using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

B. Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the Company's financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in computation of taxable profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences.

Deferred tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward and unused tax credits and any unused tax losses. Deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences can be utilized when there are sufficient taxable temporary differences relating to the same taxation authority, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilized.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period.

Deferred tax relating to items recognized outside profit or loss, either in other comprehensive income or in equity, are recognized in other comprehensive income or in equity as applicable.

C. Tax expense / (income) for the year

Tax expense / (income) comprises of current tax expense / (income) and deferred tax expense / (income). Current and deferred tax are recognized in statement of profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, as the case may be.

o) Employee Benefits

A. Short term employee benefits

All employee benefits falling due wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short-term employee benefits. The benefits like salaries, wages, short term compensated absences etc. and the expected cost of bonus, ex-gratia, are recognized in the period in which the employees renders the related service.

B. Post-employment benefit plans

i. Defined contribution plans:

State governed provident fund scheme and superannuation scheme are the defined contribution plans. The contribution paid / payable under the schemes is recognized during the period in which the employee renders the related service. The superannuation fund is managed by Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC).

ii. Defined benefit plans:

The Company's obligation towards gratuity is a defined benefit plan. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method, which recognizes each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rate used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans is based on the market yields on Government securities, having maturity periods approximating to the terms of related obligations as at the Balance Sheet date.

The fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognize the obligation on a net basis.

Remeasurements, comprising actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the changes to the asset ceiling (if applicable) and the return on plan assets (excluding net interest as defined above), are recognized in other comprehensive income

Gains or losses on the curtailment or settlement of any defined benefit plan are recognized when the curtailment or settlement occurs.

Past service cost is recognized immediately to the extent that the benefits are already vested, and otherwise is amortized on a straight-line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested.

iii. Long term employee benefits:

The present value of the obligation under long term employee benefit plans such as compensated absences, long service award etc. , is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rate used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans, is based on the market yield on government securities of a maturity period equivalent to the weighted average maturity profile of the related obligations at the Balance Sheet date.

Remeasurements, comprising actuarial gains and losses, the return on plan assets (excluding net interest) and any change in the effect of asset ceiling (wherever applicable) are recognized immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

p) Leases

The determination of whether an agreement is, or contains, a lease is based on the substance of the agreement at the date of inception. Assets acquired under leases where the Company has substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance leases. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

Lease rentals from operating leases are recognized as expense in the statement of profit or loss on straight line basis over the term of the relevant lease. Where the rentals are structured solely to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the lessor's expected inflationary cost increases, such increases are recognized in the year in which such benefits accrue.

Contingent rentals are recognized as expense in the period in which they are incurred.

q) Provisions, Contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognized only when:

i. the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event

ii. it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation; and

iii. a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation

The amounts recognized as a provision is the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. When a provision is measured using the cash flows estimated to settle the present obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows (when the effect of the time value of money is material).

Reimbursement expected in respect of expenditure required to settle a provision is recognized only when it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received if the Company settles the obligation.

Contingent Liability is disclosed in the case of

i. a present obligation arising from a past event, when it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation.

ii. a present obligation arising from a past event, when a reliable estimate of the obligation cannot be made, and

iii. a possible obligation arising from past events where the probability of outflow of resources is not remote.

Contingent assets are disclosed where an inflow of economic benefits is probable. Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date.

r) Cash flow statement

Cash flow statement is prepared segregating the cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities. Cash flow from operating activities is reported using indirect method.

s) Operating segments

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker.

The following specific accounting policies have been followed for segment reporting.

i. Segment revenue includes revenue from operations and other income directly identifiable with / allocable to the segment including inter-segment revenue.

ii. Expenses that are directly identifiable with / allocable to segments are considered for determining the segment result. The expenses, which relate to the Company as a whole and not allocable to segments, are included under "Unallocable corporate expenditure".

iii. Income that relates to the Company as a whole and not allocable to segments is included in "Unallocable corporate income".

iv. Segment result includes margins on inter-segment sales which are reduced in arriving at the profit before taxes of the Company.

v. Segment assets and liabilities include those directly identifiable with the respective segments. Unallocable corporate assets and liabilities represent the assets and liabilities that relate to the Company as a whole and not allocable to any segment

t) Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs include interest expense calculated using the effective interest method.

Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalized / inventoried as part of cost of such asset till such time the asset is ready for its intended use or sale. A qualifying asset is an asset that necessarily requires a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale.

Interest income earned on the temporary investment of specific borrowings pending their expenditure on qualifying assets is deducted from the borrowing costs eligible for capitalization.

All other borrowing costs are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

u) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and bank balances include cash on hand, balances with banks and highly liquid financial instruments, which are readily convertible into known amounts of cash that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value and having original maturities of three months or less from the date of purchase.

v) Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit / loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit / loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year are adjusted for the effects of dilutive potential equity shares.

w) First Time Adoption of Ind AS

Exemptions and exceptions availed:

Set out below are the applicable Ind AS 101 optional exemptions and mandatory exemptions applied in the transition from previous GAAP to Ind AS.

A. Optional exemptions availed

i. Deemed cost of property, plant and equipment:

As per Ind AS 101 an entity may elect to use carrying values of property, plant and equipment as on the date of transition to Ind AS (which are measured in accordance with previous GAAP) if there has been no change in its functional currency on the date of transition.

The Company has elected to continue with the carrying value of all of its property, plant and equipment recognized as of 1 April 2015 (Transition date) measured as per the previous GAAP and use that carrying value as its deemed cost as of the transition date.

ii. Determining whether an arrangement contains a lease:

Ind AS 101 includes an optional exemption that permits an entity to apply the relevant requirements in Appendix C of Ind AS 17 for determining whether an arrangement existing at the date of transition contains a lease by considering the facts and circumstances existing at the date of transition (rather than at the inception of the arrangement). The Company has elected to avail this exemption.

B. Mandatory exemptions

i. Estimates:

As per Ind AS 101, an entity's estimates in accordance with Ind AS at the date of transition to Ind AS and at the end of the comparative period present in the entity's first Ind AS financial statements, as the case may be, should be consistent with estimates made for the same date in accordance with the previous GAAP unless there is objective evidence what those estimates were in error.

As per Ind AS 101, where an application of Ind AS requires an entity to make certain estimates that were not required under previous GAAP, those estimates should be made to reflect conditions that existed at the date of transition (for preparing opening Ind AS balance sheet) or at the end of the comparative period (for presenting comparative information as per Ind AS).

The Company's estimates under Ind AS are consistent with the above requirement. Key estimates considered in the preparation of the financial statements that were not required under the previous GAAP are listed below

- Fair valuation of financial instruments carried at FVTPL
- Impairment of financial assets based on the expected credit loss model.

The general reserve is used from time to time to transfer profits from retained earnings for appropriation purposes. As the general reserve is created by a transfer from one component of equity to another component of equity and is not an item of other comprehensive income, items included in the general reserve will not be reclassified subsequently to profit or loss.

The surplus in statement of profit and loss represents the accumulated profits of the Company which are available for distribution to the equity shareholders of the Company.

Sensitivity analysis has been prepared based on Projected Unit Credit method, in the same manner as the base case, for changes in salary increase rate and discount rate. The sensitivity analysis has be used taking into consideration the possible presence of other factors and the effects of interplay of various factors in practical situation.

There have been no changes from the previous period in the methods and assumptions used in preparing the sensitivity analyses viii) The Company proposes to meet its defined benefit obligations from operating cash flows in the regular course of business, thus there is no impact on future contributions due to any funding arrangements or funding policy. The weighted average duration of the Gratuity as at 31 March 2017 (expressed in years) is 4.36 years (31 March 2016: 4.34 years, 31 March 2015 4.38 years).

ix) The fair value of the plan assets under gratuity has been determined at amounts based on their value at the time of redemption, assuming a constant rate of return to maturity. The company expects to fund ₹ 44,09,383/- towards its gratuity plan during FY 2017 – 2018.

x) The expected cash outflows from defined benefit plans are determined using actuarial assumptions. In practical situations, actual events may vary from such assumptions. There could be additional factors too influencing the cash flows. In all, these uncertainties may result in an actual outgo which varies from the projected outgo of cash or occurs in a different period than expected.

xi) At present the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972 stipulates a ceiling of ₹ 10,00,000/- for gratuity paid to any individual employee on separation. This ceiling does not impact the computation of defined benefit obligation of the Company as on 31 March 2017, 31 March 2016 and 1 April 2016. There is no minimum contribution specified under this Act.

The Company is exposed to Market risk, Credit risk and Liquidity risk. The Board of Directors ('Board') oversee the management of these financial risks.

The Risk Management Policy of the Company approved by the Board, states the Company's approach to address uncertainties in its endeavour to achieve its stated and implicit objectives. It prescribes the roles and responsibilities of the Company's management, the structure for managing risks and the framework for risk management. The framework seeks to identify, assess and mitigate financial risks in order to minimize potential adverse effects on the Company's financial performance.

1) Market Risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risks: interest rate risk, price risk and currency risk. The Company does not have any investment and hence is not exposed to price risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk includes borrowings, trade payables, trade receivables and loans.

a) Foreign currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of an exposure will fluctuate due to changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company has not hedged its receivables and payables in foreign currency

The carrying amounts of the Company's foreign currency denominated monetary items are as follows: (Amount in ₹)

Assets (Receivables)

b) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The interest cost on borrowings is insignificant and accordingly the exposure to risk of changes in market interest rates is minimal. The Company has not used any interest rate derivatives.

2) Credit Risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counter party will default on its contractual obligation resulting in financial loss to the Company. The Company has adopted a policy of only dealing with counterparties that have sufficiently high credit rating. The Company's exposure and credit ratings of its counterparties are continuously monitored and the aggregate value of transactions is reasonably spread amongst the counterparties.

For trade receivables, as a practical expedient, the Company computes credit loss allowance based on a provision matrix. The provision matrix takes into account historical observed credit loss experience and is adjusted for forward-looking estimates. Trade receivables from group company are not subject to expected credit loss allowance as their collectability is certain, however expected credit loss on account of expected delay is recognized. The provision matrix at the end of the reporting period with respect to delay and default in payment by customers is as follows:

Ageing	% of expected credit loss
	Delay	Default
Due for 0 - 6 months	Nil	Nil
Due for 6 - 12 months	7%	3%
Due for 12 - 24 months	13%	15%
Due for 24 - 36 months	21%	30%
Due for more than 36 months	28%	60%

Balance as at the end of the year	43,124,510	50,086,594

3) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in raising funds to meet commitments associated with financial instruments that are settled by delivering cash or another financial asset. Liquidity risk may result from an inability to sell a financial asset quickly at close to its fair value.

In general, the Company uses its realization from receivables on an on-going basis to settle its financial liabilities and uses its cash credit limits for supplementing its cash requirements.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE MEMBERS OF MARINE INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPER PRIVATE LIMITED

REPORT ON THE IND AS FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

We have audited the accompanying Ind AS financial statements of Marine Infrastructure Developer Private Limited ("the Company"), which comprise the Balance Sheet as at 31st March, 2017, the Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the statement of Changes in Equity, the Cash Flow Statement for the period then ended, and a summary of the significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (herein after referred to as "Ind AS financial statements").

MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE IND AS FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in Section 134 (5) of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") with respect to the preparation of these Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance including other comprehensive income, cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under Section 133 of the Act, read with Rule 4 of the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015.

This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITY

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these Ind AS financial statements based on our audit.

We have taken into account the provisions of the Act, the accounting and auditing standards and matters which are required to be included in the audit report under the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Those Standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Ind AS financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and the disclosures in the Ind AS financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal financial control relevant to the Company's preparation of the Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of the accounting policies used and the reasonableness of the accounting estimates made by the Company's Directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the Ind AS financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Ind AS financial statements.

OPINION

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid Ind AS financial statements give the information required by the Act in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India including the Ind AS, of the state of affairs of the Company as at 31st March, 2017, its financial performance including Other Comprehensive Income, changes in equity and its cash flows for the period ended on that date.

REPORT ON OTHER LEGAL AND REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS

1. As required by the Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2016 issued by the Central Government of India in terms of sub-section (11) of section 143 of the Act, we enclose in the "Annexure A", a statement on the matters specified in the paragraph 3 and 4 of the said order.
2. As required by Section 143 (3) of the Act, we report that:
   (a) We have sought and obtained all the information and explanations which to the best of our knowledge and belief were necessary for the purposes of our audit.

   (b) In our opinion, proper books of account as required by law have been kept by the Company so far as it appears from our examination of those books.

   (c) The Balance Sheet, the Statement of Profit and Loss, the statement of Changes in Equity and the Cash Flow Statement dealt with by this Report are in agreement with the books of account.

   (d) In our opinion, the aforesaid Ind AS financial statements comply with the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Act, read with Rule 4 of the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015.

   (e) On the basis of the written representations received from the directors as on 31st March, 2017 taken on record by the Board of Directors, none of the directors is disqualified as on 31st March, 2017 from being appointed as a director in terms of Section 164 (2) of the Act.

(f) With respect to the adequacy of the internal financial controls over financial reporting of the Company and the operating effectiveness of such controls, refer to our separate report in “Annexure B”.

(g) With respect to the other matters to be included in the Auditor’s Report in accordance with Rule 11 of the Companies (Audit and Auditors) Rules, 2014, in our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us:

ANNEXURE - B TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

(Referred to in our Report of even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Marine Infrastructure Developer Private Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the Ind AS financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "Guidance Note"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2017, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. CORPORATE INFORMATION

Marine Infrastructure Developer Private Limited (the 'Company') is a wholly owned subsidiary of L& T Limited was incorporated on 22nd Jan 2016 and is domiciled in India having its registered office located at TC-1 Building, L & T Campus, 22, Mount Poonamallee Road, Manapakkam, Chennai-600089, India.

The Company is engaged in the construction, development, maintenance and operation of the Port terminals at Kattupalli near Chennai.

Pursuant to a Scheme of Arrangement of Demerger, the Company has acquired the identified assets and liabilities of port business undertaking of L&T Shipbuilding Limited on and from the effective date 22nd Mar 2017 and with effect from the appointed date close of business hours 31st Mar 2016 (Refer Note 21).

2. A) STATEMENT OF COMPLIANCE

By virtue of Para 4 (ii) (a) of Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 the Company is under obligation to comply with Ind AS, being a subsidiary Company of a listed Company.

The Company's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 and as amended from time to time, that were issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs in respect of section 133 of Indian Companies Act, 2013. This is being the Company's first Ind AS financial statements, after its incorporation and taking over the identified assets and liabilities from L&T Shipbuilding Limited as per the scheme of arrangement of demerger.

B) KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management of the Company make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of income and expenses of the period, the reported balances of assets and liabilities and the disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as of the date of the financial statements. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period to which it affects.

Examples of such estimates include the useful lives of property, plant and equipment, Intangible assets, allowance for doubtful debts/ advances, future obligations in respect of retirement benefit plans, fair value measurement etc. difference, if any, between the actual results and estimates is recognised in the period in which the results are known.

C) BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Company maintains its accounts on accrual basis following the historical cost convention, except for the property, plant and equipment which are measured at fair value as per the Scheme of Arrangement of Demerger (Refer Note 21). Further, the guidance notes/ pronouncements issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) are also considered, wherever applicable except to the extent where compliance with other statutory promulgations override the same requiring a different accounting treatment.

D) PRESENTATION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Balance Sheet and the Statement of Profit and Loss are prepared and presented in the format prescribed in the Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act"). The Cash Flow Statement has been prepared and presented as per the requirements of Ind AS 7 "Statement of Cash flows". The disclosure requirements with respect to items in the Balance Sheet and Statement of Profit and Loss, as prescribed in the Schedule III to the Act, are presented by way of Notes forming part of accounts along with the other notes required to be disclosed under the notified Accounting Standards. The financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (`INR') in Lakhs. Per share data are presented in Indian Rupees.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

3.1 Property, Plant and Equipment:

(i) PPE is recognized when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. PPE is stated at original cost net of tax/duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated depreciation and cumulative impairment.

(ii) Any costs directly attributable to bringing the asset to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by management are capitalized as part of cost of the asset.

(iii) Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognised as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of any component accounted for as a separate asset is derecognised when replaced. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the reporting period in which they are incurred.

(iv) Property, plant and equipment are eliminated from financial statement, either on disposal or when retired from active use. Losses arising in the case of retirement of property, plant and equipment and gains or losses arising from disposal of property, plant and equipment are recognized in profit or loss in the year of occurrence.

(v) The assets' residual values, useful lives and methods of depreciation are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

(vi) Further, where cost of a part of the asset ("asset component") is significant in relation to the total cost of asset and useful life of that part is significantly different from the useful life of the remaining asset, then the useful life of that significant component is determined separately and such component is depreciated over its separate useful life.

3.2 Depreciation

i. Owned Assets

Depreciation on assets including buildings constructed on leasehold land is provided, under the Straight Line Method, pro rata to the period of use, based on useful life specified in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 except for certain items, where useful life is estimated on technical assessment, past trends and expected useful life differ from those provided in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013:

The Company has adopted the revised useful lives for the following category of fixed assets based on technical evaluation made by the transferor Company:

Asset category	Useful life as per Schedule II (in years)	Revised Useful life adopted based on technical evaluation (in years)
(i) Marine structures	30*	50
(ii) Plant and equipment
(a) Land berth and piled platforms	30*	40
(b) Rail Mounted Quay Cranes, Rubber Tyre Gantry Cranes having capacity of 40 Tons or more	15	20 (Calculated on single shift basis)
(iii) Buildings
(a) Container yards	30	20
(b) Internal / Peripheral roads	5	15
(iv) Air-Conditioner & refrigeration equipment	15	12

*Represents concession period as per agreement executed with the Tamil Nadu Maritime Board.

In respect of additions/extensions forming an integral part of the existing assets, depreciation has been provided for over the residual life of the respective existing assets.

Depreciation on additions to / deductions from, owned fixed assets is calculated pro-rata from / to the month of additions/ deductions. Assets costing less than ₹ 5,000/- each are fully depreciated in the year of purchase.

ii. Leasehold land

Land acquired under long-term lease is classified under “Property, Plant and Equipment” and is depreciated over the primary lease period.

3.3 Intangible assets and Amortization

(i) Intangible assets are recognized when it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the assets will flow to the company and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably.

(ii) Intangible assets are stated at original cost net of tax/ duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated amortization and cumulative impairment.

(iii) Intangible assets comprising specialized software are amortized under straight line method over their useful life over a period of 3 to 10 years.

(iv) Any costs directly attributable to the cost of preparing the asset for its intended use are included as a part of the asset.

(v) Amortization methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically including at each financial year end.

3.4 Impairment

Non-financial assets

(i) Intangible Assets and Property, Plant and Equipment

At each Balance Sheet date, the Company assesses whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired and also whether there is an indication of reversal of impairment loss recognized in the previous periods. If any indication exists, carrying amount of asset is tested for impairment so as to determine:

(i) the provision for impairment loss, if any; and

(ii) the reversal of impairment loss recognized in previous periods, if any.

Impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount.

Recoverable amount is determined:

(i) in the case of an individual asset, at the higher of its fair value less costs of disposal and the value in use; and

(ii) in the case of a cash generating unit (a group of assets that generates identified, independent cash flows), at the higher of the cash generating unit’s fair value less costs disposal and the value in use.

(Value in use is the present value of estimated future cash flows from the continuing use of an asset and from its disposal at the end of its useful life.)

3.5 Inventories

Inventories are valued in the balance sheet as follows:

Stores, spares, components	Lower of cost (calculated on weighted average basis) and net realizable value.

However, these items are considered to be realizable at cost if the finished products in which they will be used, are expected to be sold at or above cost.

The cost of inventories comprises of all cost of purchases, cost of conversion and other related costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTD.)

Assessment of net realizable value is done in each subsequent period and when the circumstances that previously caused inventories to be written down below cost no longer exist or when there is clear evidence of an increase in net realizable value because of changed economic circumstances, the amount of the write-down is reversed.

3.6 Cash and bank balances

Cash and bank balances also include fixed deposits, margin money deposits, earmarked balances with banks and other bank balances which have restrictions on repatriation. Short term and liquid investments being not free from more than insignificant risk of change in value, are not included as part of cash and cash equivalents.

3.7 Cash Flow Statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby profit/(loss) before tax is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a non-cash nature, any deferrals or accruals of past or future operating cash receipts or payments and items of income and expenses associated with investing and financing flows. The cash flows from operating, investing and financing of the company are segregated.

3.8. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized based on nature of activity when consideration can be reasonably measured and there exists reasonable certainty of its recovery. Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and is reduced for customer rebates and other similar allowances.

(i) Revenue from service operations is recognized based on services provided and billed as per the terms of contracts with the customers, provided that the collection is reasonably certain.

(ii) Interest income is accrued on a time basis by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

(iii) Other items of income are accounted as and when the right to receive arises and it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

3.9 Employee Benefits

(i) Short-term employee benefits

All employee benefits falling due within twelve months from the end of the reporting period in which the employee renders the services are classified as short-term employee benefits. The benefits like salaries, wages, short-term compensated absences, etc. and the expected cost of bonus and ex-gratia are recognized in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

(ii) Post-employment benefits:

a) Defined contribution plans

The State governed provident fund scheme, employees' state insurance scheme and employee pension scheme are defined contribution plans. The contribution paid/payable under the schemes is recognized during the period in which the employee renders the related service.

b) Defined benefit plans

The Company's obligation towards gratuity is a defined benefit plan. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method, which recognizes each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rate used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans is based on the market yields on Government securities, having maturity periods approximating to the terms of related obligations as at the Balance Sheet date.

The fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognize the obligation as Net Defined benefit liability (assets).

The Company recognizes the following components of the defined benefit cost under employee benefit expenses in the statement of profit and loss.

- Service costs comprising current service costs, past-service costs, gains and losses on curtailments and non-routine settlements.
- Net interest on the net defined benefit liability.

Net interest on the net defined benefit liability (assets) is computed by applying the discount rate, to the net defined benefit liability (asset) at the start of the financial year after taking into account any changes as a result of contribution and benefit payments during the year.

The Company recognizes the re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability (assets), comprising of actuarial gains and losses, any change in the effect of the asset ceiling(excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability) and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through other comprehensive income in the period in which they occur. Re-measurements are not reclassified to the statement of profit and loss in subsequent periods.

(iii) Long-term employee benefits

The obligation for long-term employee benefits such as long-term compensated absences is recognized in the similar manner as in the case of defined benefit plans as mentioned in (ii) (b) above except for re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability which is recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

3.10 Borrowing costs

(i) Borrowing costs include interest, commitment charges, amortization of ancillary costs, amortization of discounts/ premium related to borrowings calculated using the effective interest method and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings, to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs.

(ii) Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalized / inventorised as part of the cost of such asset, till such time as the asset is ready for its intended use or sale. A qualifying asset is an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time (ordinarily, a period of twelve months) to get ready for its intended use or sale. All other borrowing costs are recognized as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

3.11 Operating Segments

Operating segment are identified and reported as a component of the Company based on the performance assessment and resource allocation by the management. The operating segments are regularly reviewed and monitored by the Chief Operating decision maker of the company based on the discrete financial information available to evaluate their performance and allocation of resource.

3.12 Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement is, or contains, a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the date of inception.

Finance leases that transfer substantially all of the risks and benefits incidental to ownership of the leased item, are recognized and capitalized as assets at the commencement of the lease at the fair value of the leased assets or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. The corresponding liability to the lessor is included in the balance sheet as a finance lease obligation. Lease payments are apportioned between finance charges and a reduction in the lease liability so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are recognized in finance costs in the statement of profit and loss unless they are directly attributable to the qualifying assets.

A leased asset is depreciated over the useful life of the asset. However, if there is no reasonable certainty that the Company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term, the asset is depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life of the asset and the lease term.

Assets acquired on leases where a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are retained by lessor are classified as operating leases. Lease rentals are charged to the statement of profit and loss on straight line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

3.13 Earnings per share

Basic and Diluted earnings per share is calculated by dividing the profit from continuing operations and total profit, both attributable to equity shareholders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

3.14 Taxes on income

Tax on income for the current period is determined on the basis on estimated taxable income and tax credits computed in accordance with the provisions of the relevant tax laws and based on the expected outcome of assessments / appeals. It is measured using the tax rates and laws that are enacted or substantively enacted by the end of reporting date.

The current tax assets and liabilities as at balance sheet date have been arrived at after setting off current tax assets and liabilities where the Company have a legally enforceable right to set-off the recognized amounts and assets against liabilities and where such assets and liabilities relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

Current income tax relating to items recognized directly in equity and in other comprehensive income are recognized in equity and other comprehensive income respectively and not in the statement of profit and loss. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided for the future tax consequences using the balance sheet approach on temporary differences at the reporting date between the carrying values of the assets and liabilities for the financial reporting purposes at the reporting date and their respective tax bases used in computation of taxable profit, using tax rates and laws that are enacted or substantively enacted by the end of reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences and deferred tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward of unused tax credits and any unused tax losses.

However, deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilized.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilized. Unrecognized deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax relating to items recognized directly in equity and in other comprehensive income are recognized in equity and /or other comprehensive income respectively and not in the statement of profit and loss.

The major components of the deferred tax assets and liabilities as at balance sheet date has been arrived at after setting off deferred tax assets and liabilities where the Company have a legally enforceable right to set-off assets against liabilities and where such assets and liabilities relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

3.15 Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognized for liabilities of uncertain timing and amount that can be measured only by using a substantial degree of estimation, if

(i) the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event,

(ii) a probable outflow of resources embodying economic benefits is expected to settle the obligation; and

(iii) the amount of obligation can be reliably estimated.

Reimbursement expected in respect of expenditure required to settle a provision is recognized only when it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received.

If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognized as a finance cost.

Contingent liability is disclosed in the case of

(i) a present obligation arising from a past event, when it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation;

(ii) a present obligation arising from past events, when no reliable estimate is possible;

(iii) a possible obligation arising from past events, unless the probability of outflow of resources is remote.

Contingent assets are disclosed where an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets are reviewed at each reporting date.

3.16 Operating cycle for current and non-current classification

Operating cycle for the business activities of the Company is taken as twelve months for classification of its assets and liabilities into current / non –current.

3.17 Current and non-current classification:

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current/non-current classification. An asset is current when it is:

- Expected to be realized or intended to be sold or consumed in normal operating cycle;
- Held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- Expected to be realized within twelve months after the reporting period; or
- Cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

- It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle,
- It is held primarily for the purpose of trading,
- It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period, Or
- There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other liabilities are classified as non-current.

3.18 Fair value measurement:

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability considering their characteristics in an orderly transaction between market participants who act in their economic best interest in the principal market for asset and liability or most advantageous market in the absence of the principal market at the measurement date under the current market conditions regardless of whether the price is directly observable or estimated using a valuation technique.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements using inputs to measure such fair value are categorized within the fair value hierarchy on the following basis:

- Level 1 — Inputs are quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date.
- Level 2 — Inputs are other than quoted price within level 1 that are either directly or indirectly observable for the asset or liability
- Level 3 — Inputs are unobservable for the asset or liability.

For assets and liabilities that are recognized in the balance sheet on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between the levels of the hierarchy by re-assessing categorization at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

3.19 Financial instruments

(i) Financial assets:

Initial recognition and measurement

The Company initially recognizes financials assets in the balance sheet when, and only when, the company becomes party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTD.)

All financial assets are initially measured at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset.

Financial assets, at initial recognition, are classified as financial assets as subsequently measured at amortized cost, fair value through other comprehensive income or as fair value through profit and loss, unless the company irrevocably designate the financial assets as measured at fair value through profit or loss under fair value option.

Subsequent measurement

All financial assets are classified as subsequently measured at amortized cost, fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI) and fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL).

The classification depends upon the following two criteria and options elected by the company:

(a) The company's business model for managing the financial assets, and

(b) The contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets.

Business model test: The objective of the Company's business model is to hold the financial asset to collect the contractual cash flows and selling financial assets.

Cash flow characteristics test: The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding

Financial Assets at Amortized cost

Financial Assets are measured at amortized cost by using effective interest method, when the financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial assets give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding rather than to sell the asset prior to its contractual maturity to realize the fair value changes.

Financial Assets through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)

Financial Assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income, when the financial assets are held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets, and the contractual terms of the financial assets give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Financial Assets through profit or loss (FVTPL)

Financial Assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless they are measured at amortized cost or fair value through other comprehensive income or the company irrevocably designate the financial assets as measured at fair value through profit or loss under fair value option.

Derecognition

The company primarily derecognizes the financial assets when the contractual rights to receive cash flows from the assets have expired or the company has transferred the financial assets by transfer of the contractual rights to receive cash flows of the financial assets or the company retains the contractual rights to receive the cash flows of a financial asset but assumes a contractual obligation to pay those cash flows to one or more recipients in an arrangement where the company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial assets or has not retained any control over the assets.

Impairment of financial assets

The Company applies the expected credit loss model for recognizing impairment loss on financial assets measured at amortized cost, debt instruments at FVTOCI, lease receivables, trade receivables and other contractual rights to receive cash or other financial asset and financial guarantees not designated as at FVTPL. For the purpose of measuring expected credit loss allowance for businesses other than financial services for trade receivables, the Company has used a provision matrix which takes into account historical credit loss experience and adjusted for forward looking information as permitted under Ind AS 109.

(ii) Financial liabilities:

Financial liabilities are classified at initial recognition, as financial liabilities as fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate. All financial liabilities are recognized initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

Loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized costs using EIR.

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL) are subsequently measured at fair value.

Financial liability is derecognized when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires.

3.20 Commitments

Commitments are future liabilities for contractual expenditure. Commitments are classified and disclosed as follows:

a) Estimated amount of contracts remaining to be executed on capital account and not provided for.

b) Other non-cancellable commitments, if any, to the extent they are considered material and relevant in the opinion of management.

Other commitments related to sales/procurements made in the normal course of business are not disclosed to avoid excessive details.

Financial Instruments - Accounting, Classifications and Fair Value Measurements

(i) The fair value of financial instruments are the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in an arms length transaction between two knowledgable willing parties.

(ii) Fair value of cash and short-term deposits, security deposits, trade and other short term receivables, trade payables, other current financial liabilities, short term loans from banks and other financial institutions approximate their carrying amounts largely due to the short-term maturities of these instruments.

(iii) Financial instruments with fixed and variable interest rates are evaluated by the Company based on parameters such as interest rates and individual credit worthiness of the counterparty. Based on this evaluation, allowances are taken to account for the expected losses of these receivables.

(iv) Various inputs are used in determining the fair value of financial instruments that are :

a) recognised and measured subsequently at fair value, or

b) recognised and measured subsequently at amourtised cost for which fair values are disclosed in the financial statements.

(v) Fair value measurements are categorized into Level 1, 2 or 3 based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurements are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

Level 1 — Inputs are quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTD.)

All amounts are in ₹ Lakhs Except as stated

Level 2 —The fair value of the instruments that are not traded in active markets are determined using valuation techniques which maximise the use of observable market data either directly or indirectly.

This includes the security deposit, amounts payable to related party.

Level 3 — The inputs used to measure the financial instruments are not based on observable market data. resulting in a significant increase in discount rate which has an effect on the recorded fair value of the instrument.

The company does not have any financial instruments falling under Level-3.

CREDIT RISKS

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the company if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations and arises principally from the Company's trade receivables.

The Company's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by individual characteristics of each customer. Credit risk is managed through credit approvals, establishing credit limits and continuously monitoring the credit worthiness of the customers to which the Company grants credit terms in the normal course of the business.

Financial assets for which loss allowance is measured using simplified ECL model

The company follows a "Simplified Approach" for recognition of loss allowance for Expected Credit Loss (ECL) for trade receivables or any contractual right to receive cash or another financial assets arising out of its operating activities. To assess the whether there is significant increase in the credit risk, the company measures the credit quality of the financial assets as on the reporting date to that at the date of initial recognition by taking into consideration reasonable and supportive forward looking information like:

1) Any significant adverse change in the business
2) Any significant change in the financials status of the counter party
3) Any financial or economic condition of the country that significantly changes the counterparty's ability to meet its contractual obligations
4) Any significant increase in the credit risk in other financial instruments of the same counterparty.
5) Significant change in the value of the collateral supporting the obligation or in the quality of the third party guarantees or credit enhancements

Under the Simplified Approach , recognition of impairment loss for trade receivables or any contractual rights to receive cash or another financial assets that result from transactions arising out of its operations is based on the lifetime ECL at each reporting date. The lifetime ECL is entire amount of loss expected on the financial asset during its lifetime as on the reporting date either due to non- payment by the customers and or due to delay in payment by the customers.

The Company uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on the portfolio of trade receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historically credit loss experience over the expected life of the trade receivables and is adjusted for forward looking estimates considering the type of Public or Private and a judgmental evaluation of the collectability of the receivables based on the past due experience.

At every reporting date, the historical credit loss experience is reviewed and updated and changes in the forwarding looking information are analysed.

Cash and bank balances

The Company considers that the cash and bank balances have low credit risks based on the external credit ratings of the counter parties.

Liquidity Risks

Liquidity Risk is defined as the risk that the Company will not be able to settle or meet its obligations as per the terms of the agreement or contract. Adverse contractual payment terms or delay in making payments by the customers lead to pressure on the working capital. The Company manages such a situation by close monitoring of the cash flows at the project level and regular follow up with the customers for release of payments .The company's treasury team under the close supervision of the Corporate Treasury team of the Parent Company monitors the liquidity position of the company by judicious use of the credit limits granted by the Banks and deployment of short term and long term funds from the parent company for funding its temporary net working capital gap. The liquidity position of the Company is closely monitored and reviewed by the senior management of the Company on a regular basis through rolling Cash flow forecast and analysis Net working capital position.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

On behalf of the Board of Directors, it gives me pleasure in presenting the Annual Report and Audited Accounts of Larsen & Toubro Qatar LLC for the period ending 31st December, 2016.

Major Activities:

During the year 2016 there is no major activity in the company. The company continued its operation without any new project being quoted.

During the year efforts had been put-in by the Management team of L&T Qatar LLC & HBK Contracting WLL JV (50:50) on Doha 2006 Asian Games village / Hamad Medical City project to follow up for the extra claims submitted during the year 2011 total claims as follows.

1.	Prolongation Cost	QR 7.703 Mn
2.	Escalation Cost	QR 0.687 Mn
3.	Disputed Variation & other cost	QR 10.522 Mn
	Total Claim	QR 18.912 Mn

The "Claims Committee" of Ministry of Finance has rejected the claim. The management has decided to forego the claim. As the objective of Larsen & Toubro HBK Contracting CO WLL is full filled, the management has decided to dissolve the company.

As Larsen & Toubro Qatar LLC is not carrying out any operations and is not having plan to quote any project in the future, the management of the company further decided to dissolve the company. Accordingly the Financial statements are prepared on a winding up basis.

Share Transfer:

The transfer of Shares from Larsen & Toubro Limited, India to Larsen & Toubro International FZE, UAE is under process.

Financial Results:

We have reported a Loss of QR 0.043Mn against from various expenses for the year 2016 and the cumulative profit of QR 0.038 MN as at 31st Dec 2016.

Personnel:

We continue to keep just 2 staffs in the roll as authorised signatories in the company to ensure compliance.

Auditors Report:

The Auditor's Report to the shareholders does not contain any qualifications. The notes to the accounts referred to in the Auditors Report are self explanatory and therefore do not call for any further comments of Directors.

Directors Responsibility Statement:

The Board of Directors of the company confirm:

i. That in the preparation of the annual accounts, the applicable accounting standards have been followed and there has been no material departure.

ii. That the selected accounting policies were applied consistently and the directors made judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent so as to give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the company as at 31st December, 2016.

iii. That proper and sufficient care has been taken for the maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the commercial law for safeguarding the assets of the company and proper internal control system has been established for preventing and detecting fraud and other irregularities.

iv. That the annual accounts have been prepared on a winding up basis.

Prospects for the Company:

The Company is not having plan to quote any Project in the near future.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Partners
Larsen & Toubro Qatar L.L.C.
Doha – Qatar

Report on the financial statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Larsen & Toubro Qatar L.L.C. (the "Company"), which comprise the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2016, and the statements of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as at December 31, 2016, and its financial performance and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs).

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) together with the other ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Company's financial statements in Qatar, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

We draw attention to Note 1 to the financial statements wherein the management will commence the dissolution of the Company and cease all operating activities. As a result, the Company has changed its basis of accounting from the going concern to winding up basis.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with IFRS, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management have determined that it is inappropriate to use the going concern basis of accounting and have prepared the financial statements on a winding up basis.

Management are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISA's, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risk, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than the one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omission, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of Management's use of the basis other than going concern. We are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosure is inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with management regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

Further, as required by the Qatar Commercial Companies' Law, we report the following:

- We obtained all the information and explanations which we considered necessary for our audit.
- To the best of our knowledge and belief and according to the information given to us, no contraventions of the applicable provisions of Qatar Commercial Companies' Law and the Company's Articles of Associations were committed during the year which would materially affect the Company's activities or its financial position.

2. APPLICATION OF NEW AND REVISED INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL REPORTING STANDARDS (IFRSs)

2.1 New and revised IFRSs that are mandatorily effective

The following new and revised IFRSs, which became effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016, have been adopted in these financial statements.

- IFRS 14 Regulatory Deferral Accounts
- Amendments to IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements relating to Disclosure initiative
- Amendments to IFRS 11 Joint arrangements relating to accounting for acquisitions of interests in joint operations
- Amendments to IAS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment and IAS 38 Intangible Assets relating to clarification of acceptable methods of depreciation and amortisation
- Amendments to IAS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment and IAS 41 Agriculture to bring in bearer plants into the scope of IAS 16
- Amendments to IAS 27 Separate Financial Statements relating to accounting investments in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates to be optionally accounted for using the equity method in separate financial statements
- Amendments to IFRS 10 Consolidated Financial Statements, IFRS 12 Disclosure of Interests in Other Entities and IAS 28 Investment in Associates and Joint Ventures relating to applying the consolidation exception for investment entities
- Annual Improvements to IFRSs 2012 – 2014 Cycle covering amendments to IFRS 5, IFRS 7, IAS 19 and IAS 34

The application of these revised IFRSs has not had any material impact on the amounts reported for the current and prior years but may affect the accounting for future transactions or arrangements.

2.2 New and revised IFRSs in issue but not yet effective

The Company has not applied the following new and revised IFRSs that have been issued but are not yet effective:

New and revised IFRSs	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
Annual Improvements to IFRS Standards 2014 – 2016 Cycle amending IFRS 1, IFRS 12 and IAS 28	The amendments to IFRS 1 and IAS 28 are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018, the amendment to IFRS 12 for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017
Amendments to IAS 12 Income Taxes relating to the recognition of deferred tax assets for unrealised losses	January 1, 2017
Amendments to IAS 7 Statement of Cash Flows to provide disclosures that enable users of financial statements to evaluate changes in liabilities arising from financing activities.	January 1, 2017

New and revised IFRSs	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
IFRIC 22 Foreign Currency Transactions and Advance Consideration The interpretation addresses foreign currency transactions or parts of transactions where: • there is consideration that is denominated or priced in a foreign currency; • the entity recognises a prepayment asset or a deferred income liability in respect of that consideration, in advance of the recognition of the related asset, expense or income; and • the prepayment asset or deferred income liability is non-monetary.	January 1, 2018
Amendments to IFRS 2 Share Based Payment regarding classification and measurement of share based payment transactions.	January 1, 2018
Amendments to IFRS 4 Insurance Contracts: Relating to the different effective dates of IFRS 9 and the forthcoming new insurance contracts standard.	January 1, 2018
Amendments to IAS 40 Investment Property: Amends paragraph 57 to state that an entity shall transfer a property to, or from, investment property when, and only when, there is evidence of a change in use. A change of use occurs if property meets, or ceases to meet, the definition of investment property. A change in management's intentions for the use of a property by itself does not constitute evidence of a change in use. The paragraph has been amended to state that the list of examples therein is non-exhaustive.	January 1, 2018
Amendments to IFRS 7 Financial Instruments: Disclosures relating to disclosures about the initial application of IFRS 9.	When IFRS 9 is first applied
IFRS 7 Financial Instruments: Disclosures relating to the additional hedge accounting disclosures (and consequential amendments) resulting from the introduction of the hedge accounting chapter in IFRS 9.	When IFRS 9 is first applied
IFRS 9 Financial Instruments (revised versions in 2009, 2010, 2013 and 2014) IFRS 9 issued in November 2009 introduced new requirements for the classification and measurement of financial assets. IFRS 9 was subsequently amended in October 2010 to include requirements for the classification and measurement of financial liabilities and for derecognition, and in November 2013 to include the new requirements for general hedge accounting. Another revised version of IFRS 9 was issued in July 2014 mainly to include a) impairment requirements for financial assets and b) limited amendments to the classification and measurement requirements by introducing a 'fair value through other comprehensive income' (FVTOCI) measurement category for certain simple debt instruments. A finalised version of IFRS 9 which contains accounting requirements for financial instruments, replacing IAS 39 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement. IFRS 9 Financial Instruments (revised versions in 2009, 2010, 2013 and 2014) (continued) The standard contains requirements in the following areas: • Classification and measurement: Financial assets are classified by reference to the business model within which they are held and their contractual cash flow characteristics. The 2014 version of IFRS 9 introduces a 'fair value through other comprehensive income' category for certain debt instruments. Financial liabilities are classified in a similar manner to under IAS 39, however there are differences in the requirements applying to the measurement of an entity's own credit risk. • Impairment: The 2014 version of IFRS 9 introduces an 'expected credit loss' model for the measurement of the impairment of financial assets, so it is no longer necessary for a credit event to have occurred before a credit loss is recognised. • Hedge accounting: Introduces a new hedge accounting model that is designed to be more closely aligned with how entities undertake risk management activities when hedging financial and non-financial risk exposures.	January 1, 2018

• Derecognition: The requirements for the derecognition of financial assets and liabilities are carried forward from IAS 39.
IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers In May 2014, IFRS 15 was issued which established a single comprehensive model for entities to use in accounting for revenue arising from contracts with customers. IFRS 15 will supersede the current revenue recognition guidance including IAS 18 Revenue, IAS 11 Construction Contracts and the related interpretations when it becomes effective. The core principle of IFRS 15 is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. Specifically, the standard introduces a 5-step approach to revenue recognition: • Step 1: Identify the contract(s) with a customer. • Step 2: Identify the performance obligations in the contract. • Step 3: Determine the transaction price. • Step 4: Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract. • Step 5: Recognise revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation. Under IFRS 15, an entity recognises when (or as) a performance obligation is satisfied, i.e. when 'control' of the goods or services underlying the particular performance obligation is transferred to the customer. Far more prescriptive guidance has been added in IFRS 15 to deal with specific scenarios. Furthermore, extensive disclosures are required by IFRS 15.	January 1, 2018
Amendments to IFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers to clarify three aspects of the standard (identifying performance obligations, principal versus agent considerations, and licensing) and to provide some transition relief for modified contracts and completed contracts.	January 1, 2018
IFRS 16 Leases IFRS 16 specifies how an IFRS reporter will recognise, measure, present and disclose leases. The standard provides a single lessee accounting model, requiring lessees to recognise assets and liabilities for all leases unless the lease term is 12 months or less or the underlying asset has a low value. Lessors continue to classify leases as operating or finance, with IFRS 16's approach to lessor accounting substantially unchanged from its predecessor, IAS 17.	January 1, 2019
Amendments to IFRS 10 Consolidated Financial Statements and IAS 28 Investments in Associates and Joint Ventures (2011) relating to the treatment of the sale or contribution of assets from and investor to its associate or joint venture.	Effective date deferred indefinitely

The application of these revised IFRSs has not had any material impact on the amounts reported for the current and prior years but may affect the accounting for future transactions or arrangements.

Since these financial statements are prepared on a winding up basis and the Company has no operations, new and revised International Financial Reporting Standards will not have any effect on these financial statements.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Statement of compliance

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and applicable provisions of Qatar Commercial Companies Law.

Basis of preparation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention. The Company's functional and reporting currency is Qatari Riyal (QR).

Accounts and other receivables

Accounts and other receivables are stated at original invoice amount less provision for any uncollectible amounts. An estimate for doubtful debts is made when collection of the full amount is no longer probable. Bad debts are written off when there is no possibility of recovery.

Revenue recognition

Contract revenue is recognized following percentage of completion method. Where the outcome of the contract can be estimated reliably, revenue is recognized by reference to the percentage of completion method, as measured by the proportion that contract costs incurred for work performed to date bear to the estimated total contract costs, except where this would not be representative of the stage of completion. Variations in contract work, claims and incentive payments are included to the extent that they have been agreed with the customer.

Where the outcome of a contract cannot be estimated reliably, revenue is recognized only to the extent of contract costs incurred that is probable to be recovered. Costs include material, labor and other direct costs plus an appropriate allocation of overheads.

Interest income is recognized on an accrual basis, taking into account the interest rate applicable and principal outstanding.

Investment in joint ventures

A joint venture is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the joint arrangement. Joint control is the contractually agreed sharing of control of an arrangement, which exists only when decisions about the relevant activities require unanimous consent of the parties sharing control. The results and net assets of joint ventures are incorporated in these financial statements using the equity method of accounting.

Contract costs

Contract costs represent direct expenses incurred for all the projects such as materials, labour, subcontractors, plant hire etc. and indirect operational expenses relating to the projects such as engineers' salaries and bonus, accommodation, staff facilities, utilities, repair and maintenance.

Foreign currency

Transactions in currencies other than the Company's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recorded at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of transactions. At each reporting date, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Qatari Riyal at the rates of exchange at that date, and any exchange differences are recognized in the statement of profit or loss.

Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Company has an obligation (legal or constructive) arising from a past event and it is probable that the Company will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

Accounts payable

Accounts payable are initially measured at fair value and represent amounts to be paid in the future for goods or services received.

4. CRITICAL JUDGMENTS IN APPLYING THE COMPANY'S ACCOUNTING POLICIES

In the application of the Company's accounting policies, which are described in note 3, management is required to make judgements, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered to be relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

Impairment of financial assets

The Company's management reviews periodically items classified as receivables / due from a related party to assess whether a provision for impairment should be recorded in the statement of profit or loss. Management estimates the amount and timing of future cash flows when determining the level of provisions required. Such estimates are necessarily based on assumptions about several factors involving varying degrees of judgement and uncertainty.

12. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized on the Company's statement of financial position when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

The Company's principal financial assets are cash and bank balances and due from a related party. The Company's principal financial liabilities are trade payables and due to a related party.

Accounting policies relating to the financial assets and financial liabilities have been set out in Note 3.

Fair value

Fair value is the amount for which an asset could be exchanged or a liability transferred in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, regardless of whether the participant is directly observant or estimated using another valuation technique. Since the accompanying financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, the carrying value of the Company's financial instruments, as recorded, could be different from the fair value. However, in the opinion of the management, fair value of the financial assets and liabilities are not considered significantly different from their book value as most of these items are either short-term in nature or repriced frequently.

13. FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT

The activities of the Company expose it to routine financial risks, including the effects of defaults by customers, movement in foreign exchange rates and liquidity risks. The Company's management seeks to minimize potential adverse effects on the financial performance of the Company by taking appropriate steps to address specific risk management areas, such as credit risk, liquidity risk and currency risk management.

Credit risk

The Company's principal financial assets are cash and bank balances and due from a related party.

The credit risk on cash and bank balances is limited because the counterparties are banks with high credit-ratings assigned by international credit-rating agencies.

Liquidity risk

Prudent liquidity management implies maintaining sufficient funding to enable the business of the Company to continue without disrupting. The management of the company maintains liquidity by getting support from the partners.

Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the value of financial instruments will fluctuate due to changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company does not hedge its currency exposure. Management is of the opinion that the Company's exposure to currency risk is minimal since most of the dealings of the entity is in Qatari Riyal.

14. APPROVAL OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The financial statements were approved by the Partners and authorized for issue on April 30, 2017.

OPINION

We have audited the financial statements of LARSEN & TOUBRO READYMIX AND ASPHALT CONCRETE INDUSTRIES LLC (the "Company"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2017, and the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company as at 31 March 2017, and of its financial performance and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs).

BASIS FOR OPINION

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UAE, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

MATERIAL UNCERTAINTY RELATED TO GOING CONCERN

We draw attention to Note 2 (c) in the financial statements, which states that the company incurred a loss of AED 5,161,022 for the year ended 31 March 2017 and at that date, the company's accumulated losses aggregated to AED 15,454,010 and there was a net deficit of AED 13,954,010 in equity funds. As stated in Note 2 (c), these events or conditions, indicate that a material uncertainty exists that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

OTHER INFORMATION

Management is responsible for the other information. Other information comprises the directors' report as required by the UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015, which we obtained prior to the date of this auditor's report. The other information does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed on the other information that we obtained prior to the date of this auditor's report, we concluded that there is a material misstatement of the other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF MANAGEMENT AND THOSE CHARGED WITH GOVERNANCE FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Management is responsible for the preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with IFRSs, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE AUDIT OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

REPORT ON OTHER LEGAL AND REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS

We draw attention to note 1(b) to the financial statements that refers to the company taking advantage of the transitional provisions contained in UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015.

Further, as required by the UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015, we report that:

i) We have obtained all the information we considered necessary for the purpose of our audit;

ii) The financial statements have been prepared and comply, in all material respects, with the applicable provisions of the UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015;

iii) The company has maintained proper books of account;

iv) The financial information included in the Directors' report is consistent with the books of account of the company;

v) The company has not made any investments during the financial year ended 31 March 2017;

vi) Note 10 to the financial statements reflects material related party transactions and balances, and the terms under which they were conducted;

vii) The company has not made any social contributions during the financial year ended 31 March 2017;

viii) Based on the information that has been made available to us nothing has come to our attention which causes us to believe that the company has contravened during the financial year ended 31 March 2017 any of the applicable provisions of the UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015 or of its Memorandum and Articles of Association which would materially affect its activities or its financial position as at 31 March 2017.

1. LEGAL STATUS AND BUSINESS ACTIVITY

a) LARSEN & TOUBRO READYMIX AND ASPHALT CONCRETE INDUSTRIES LLC is a limited liability company registered in Dubai, United Arab Emirates. The registered office is at Plot no 599-1080, Jebel Ali Industrial Area 2, PO Box 112380, Dubai, UAE. The company was registered on 28 June 2006 and commenced commercial operations from 7 January 2007.

b) The UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015 (“Companies Law”) has come into force on 1 July 2015. The company has two years from the effective date of the Companies Law to comply with its provisions (“the transitional provisions”) and the company has availed of these transitional provisions.

c) The company’s business comprises the production and sale of ready-mix and asphalt concrete.

d) The ultimate parent company is Larsen and Toubro Limited, a company incorporated in India.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

a) Statement of compliance

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards issued or adopted by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and which are effective for accounting periods beginning 1 April 2016, and the requirements of UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015.

b) Basis of measurement

The financial statements are prepared using historical cost. Historical cost is based on the fair value of the consideration given to acquire the asset or cash or cash equivalents expected to be paid to satisfy the liability.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

c) Going Concern

The financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis.

When preparing financial statements, management makes an assessment of an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern. Financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis unless management either intends to liquidate the entity or to cease trading, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The company incurred a loss of AED 5,161,022 for the year ended 31 March 2017 and at that date, the company’s accumulated losses aggregated to AED 15,454,010 and there was a net deficit of AED 13,954,010 in equity funds. However, one of the partners has agreed to provide continuing financial support to enable the company to discharge its liabilities as and when they fall due. Accordingly, these financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis.

d) Adoption of new International Financial Reporting Standards

Standards and interpretations effective for the current year

The International Financial Reporting Standards, amendments thereto and Interpretations that became effective for the current reporting period and which are applicable to the company are as follows:

- Amendments to IAS 16: Property, Plant and Equipment and IAS 38: Intangible Assets: ‘Clarification of Acceptable Methods of Depreciation and Amortisation (1 January 2017). The amendments provide additional guidance on how the depreciation or amortisation of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets should be calculated. The amendments to IAS 16 prohibit entities from using a revenue based depreciation method for items of property, plant and equipment. The amendments to IAS 38 introduce a rebuttable presumption that revenue is not an appropriate basis for amortisation of intangible asset. This presumption can only be rebutted in very limited circumstances.
- Amendments to IAS 1 Disclosure Initiative (1 January 2017)

  The amendments to IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements clarify existing IAS 1 requirements in relation to :
  - The materiality requirements in IAS 1
  - That specific line items in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income and the statement of financial position may be disaggregated
  - That entities have flexibility as to the order in which they present the notes to financial statements.

New and revised IFRSs in issue but not yet effective

The following International Financial Reporting Standards, amendments thereto and Interpretations that are assessed by management as likely to have an impact on the financial statements have been issued by the IASB prior to the date the financial statements were authorised for issue but have not been applied in these financial statements as their effective dates of adoption are for future accounting periods.

- Amendments to IAS 7 Disclosure Initiative (1 January 2017)

  The amendments require the disclosure that enable the users to evaluate the changes in liabilities arising from financing activities, including changes arising from cash flow and non cash changes.

- IFRS 9: Financial instruments (1 January 2018)

  IFRS 9 requires financial assets to be classified into two measurement categories: those measured at fair value and those measured at amortised cost. The determination is made at initial recognition. For financial liabilities, the standard retains most of the IAS 39 requirements. The main change is that, in cases where the fair value option is taken for financial liabilities, the part of a fair value change due to an entity's own credit risk is recorded in other comprehensive income rather than the profit or loss, unless this creates an accounting mismatch.

- IFRS 15: Revenue from Contracts with Customers (1 January 2018)

  The International Accounting Standard Board (IASB) has published its new revenue Standard, IFRS 15 'Revenue from Contracts with Customers'. IFRS 15 specifies how and when an IFRS reporter will recognise revenue as well as requiring such entities to provide users of financial statements with more informative, relevant disclosures. The standard supersedes IAS 18 'Revenue', IAS 11 'Construction Contracts' and a number of revenue-related interpretations. Application of the standard is mandatory for all IFRS reporters and it applies to nearly all contracts with customers: the main exceptions are leases, financial instruments and insurance contracts.

- Clarifications to IFRS 15: Revenue from Contracts with Customers (1 January 2018)
- IFRS 16: Leases (1 January 2019)

  IFRS 16 introduces a number of significant changes to lease accounting model. It eliminates the classification of leases as either operating lease or finance lease for a lessee and instead all the leases are treated similar to a finance lease. The standard however, does not require an entity to recognise assets and liabilities for a) Short- term leases (for a period of twelve months or less) and b) Leases of low value assets.

e) Functional and presentation currency

The financial statements are presented in UAE Dirhams ("AED") which is also the company's functional currency.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies adopted, and which have been consistently applied, are as follows:

a) Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses. The cost less estimated residual value, where material, is depreciated from the date the asset is available for use until it is derecognised, using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

Leasehold improvements	17 years
Plant and machinery	12 years
Furniture, fixtures and office equipment	1 to 3 years
Motor vehicles	3 years

Capital work-in-progress is stated at cost less any impairment losses and is not depreciated. This will be depreciated from the date the relevant assets are ready for use.

An assessment of depreciation method, useful lives and residual values is undertaken at each reporting date and, where material, if there is a change in estimate, an appropriate adjustment is made to the depreciation charge.

Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing proceeds with the carrying amount. These are recognised within 'other operating income/expenses' in profit or loss.

b) Intangible assets

Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment losses.

The amount of premium paid to the previous lessee for acquiring the rights to the leasehold land is amortised using the straight-line method over the period of seventeen years. The cost of computer software is amortised over three years.

An assessment of amortisation method and useful lives is undertaken at each reporting date and, where material, if there is a change in estimate, an appropriate adjustment is made to the amortisation charge.

c) Impairment of tangible and intangible assets

At each reporting date, the management reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss if any. Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the acquirer estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

Recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or cash-generating unit) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (cash-generating unit) is reduced to its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is recognised immediately in profit or loss, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation decrease.

d) Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost is arrived at using the Weighted Average Cost (WAC) method and comprises invoice value plus applicable landing charges less discounts. Net realizable value is based on estimated selling price less any estimated cost of completion and disposal.

e) Staff end-of-service benefits

Provision is made for end-of-service benefits payable to the staff at the reporting date in accordance with the local labour laws.

f) Statutory reserve

Statutory reserve is created by appropriating 10% of the profit of the company as required by Article 103 of the UAE Federal Law No. (2) of 2015. The partners may resolve to discontinue such deduction when the reserve totals 50% of the paid up share capital. The reserve is not available for distribution except as provided in the Federal Law.

g) Revenue

Revenue is recognised to the extent that it is probable that economic benefits will flow to the company and revenue can be measured reliably. Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable, excluding discounts, rebates, returns and other similar allowances.

Revenue is recognised when persuasive evidence exists, usually in the form of an executed sales agreement, that significant risks and rewards of ownership have been transferred to the buyer.

h) Leases

Leases under which substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the related asset remain with the lessor are classified as operating leases and the lease payments are charged to profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the period of the lease.

i) Foreign currency transactions

Transactions in foreign currencies are translated into UAE Dirhams at the rate of exchange ruling on the date of the transactions.

Monetary assets and liabilities expressed in foreign currencies are translated into UAE Dirhams at the rate of exchange ruling at the reporting date.

Gains or losses resulting from foreign currency transactions are taken to profit or loss.

j) Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs are recognized as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

k) Provisions

A provision is recognized when the company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

The amount recognized as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. Where a provision is measured using the cash flow estimated to settle the present obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows.

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, the receivable is recognized as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of receivable can be measured reliably.

l) Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when, and only when, the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

Financial assets are de-recognised when, and only when, the contractual rights to receive cash flows expire or when substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership have been transferred.

Financial liabilities are de-recognised when, and only when, they are extinguished, cancelled or expired.

Financial assets

Loans and receivables

Trade and other receivables

Trade and other receivables are classified as loans and receivables and stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash receipts over the short credit period is not considered to be material. These are reduced by appropriate allowances for estimated irrecoverable amounts. Interest on overdue balances is recognised as it accrues.

Related party receivables

Related party receivables are classified as loans and receivables and stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash receipts over the short credit period is not considered to be material. These are reduced by appropriate allowances for estimated irrecoverable amounts. Interest on overdue balances is recognised as it accrues.

Other current financial assets

Other current financial assets which comprise deposits under encumbrance and deposits with a maturity date of more than three months from the date of deposit are classified as loans and receivables and stated at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash, bank current accounts, bank deposits free of encumbrance with a maturity date of three months or less from the date of deposit and highly liquid investments with a maturity date of three months or less from the date of investment that are readily convertible to known amount of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

Financial liabilities

At amortised cost

Trade and other payables

Trade and other payables are stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash payments over the short credit period is not considered to be material.

Related party payables

Related party payables and partner's loan account are stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash payments over the short credit period is not considered to be material.

Equity

Share capital is recorded at the value of proceeds received towards interest in the share capital of the company.

Impairment of financial assets

All financial assets are assessed for indicators of impairment at each reporting date. Impairment losses and reversals thereof are recognised in profit or loss.

Offsetting

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

m) Fair value measurement

The company measures financial instruments, such as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss and available for sale financial assets, and non-financial assets such as [property plant and equipment, investment properties], at fair value at each reporting date. The company also discloses the fair value of financial instruments measured at amortised cost.

The fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for the asset or liability or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using assumptions that the market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that the market participants act in their best economic interests.

The fair value measurement of a non financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

4. SIGNIFICANT JUDGMENTS EMPLOYED IN APPLYING ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant judgments made in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements are as follows:

Impairment

At each reporting date, management conducts an assessment of property, plant, equipment, intangible assets and all financial assets to determine whether there are any indications that they may be impaired. In the absence of such indications, no further action is taken. If such indications do exist, an analysis of each asset is undertaken to determine its net recoverable amount and, if this is below its carrying amount, a provision is made. In the case of loans and receivables, if an amount is deemed irrecoverable, it is written off to profit or loss or, if previously a provision was made, it is written off against the provision. Reversals of provisions against loans and receivables are made to the extent of the related amounts being recovered.

5. KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

Key assumptions made concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are as follows:

Inventory provisions

Management regularly undertakes a review of the company's inventory, stated at AED 548,742 (previous year 1,103,062) in order to assess the likely realisation proceeds, taking into account purchase and replacement prices, technological changes, age, likely obsolescence, the rate at which goods are being sold and the physical damage. Based on the assessment assumptions are made as to the level of provisioning required.

Impairment of loans and receivables

Management regularly undertakes a review of the amounts of loans and receivables owed to the company either from third parties, (see note 9) or from related parties (see note 10) and assesses the likelihood of non-recovery. Such assessment is based upon the age of the debts, historic recovery rates and assessed creditworthiness of the debtor. Based on the assessment assumptions are made as to the level of provisioning required.

Impairment

Assessments of net recoverable amounts of property, plant, equipment, intangible assets and all financial assets other than loans and receivables (see above) are based on assumptions regarding future cash flows expected to be received from the related assets.

Staff end-of-service benefits

The company computes the provision for the liability to staff end-of-service benefits stated at AED 818,248 (previous period AED 883,327), assuming that all employees were to leave as of the reporting date. The management is of the opinion that no significant difference would have arisen had the liability been calculated on an actuarial basis as salary inflation and discount rates are likely to have approximately equal and opposite effects.

Management of risk

The management conducts and operates the business in a prudent manner, taking into account the significant risks to which the business is or could be exposed.

The primary risks to which the business is exposed, which are unchanged from the previous year, comprise credit risks, liquidity risks and market risks (including currency risks and fair value interest rate risks).

Credit risk is managed by assessing the creditworthiness of potential customers and the potential for exposure to the market in which they operate, combined with regular monitoring and follow-up. As part of the company's credit risk management, where it is considered necessary, such receivables are covered by letters of credit or bank guarantees in favour of the company, issued by high credit quality financial institutions.

Management continuously monitors its cash flows to determine its cash requirements and makes comparison with its funded and un-funded facilities with banks in order to manage exposure to liquidity risk.

The company buys goods in foreign currencies. Exposure is minimised where possible by denominating such transactions in US dollars to which the UAE Dirham is pegged.

Borrowing facilities are regularly reviewed to ensure that the company obtains the best available pricing, terms and conditions on it borrowings.

Exposures to the aforementioned risks are detailed below:

Credit risk

Financial assets that potentially expose the company to concentrations of credit risk comprise principally bank accounts, trade and other receivables and amounts due from related parties.

The company's bank accounts are placed with high credit quality financial institutions.

Trade and other receivables are stated net of the allowance for doubtful recoveries.

At the reporting date 86% of trade receivables was due from four customers (previous year 83% due from three customers) including three related parties. 100% (previous year 100%) of the trade receivables were due from customers in the construction industry.

Currency risk

There are no significant currency risks as substantially all financial assets and financial liabilities are denominated in UAE Dirhams or US Dollars to which the Dirham is fixed.

Reasonably possible changes to exchange rates at the reporting date are unlikely to have had a significant impact on profit or equity.

Fair values

The fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair values of the company's financial assets and financial liabilities which are required to be stated at cost or at amortised cost approximate to their carrying values.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

The Members
L&T REALTY FZE

We have audited the financial statements of L&T Realty FZE (the Entity), which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 December 2016, and the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the period then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies set out on pages 4373 to 4382.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Entity of as at 31 December 2016, and of its financial performance and its cash flows for the period then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs).

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Entity in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UAE, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Material uncertainty related to going concern

We draw attention to Note 2 (c) to the financial statements, which states that at the reporting date, the Entity's accumulated losses amounted to AED 3,398,638. As stated in Note 2 (c), these events or conditions, indicate that a material uncertainty exists that may cast significant doubt on the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern. However, the parent company has agreed to continue with the operations of the Entity and has agreed to provide continuing financial support to enable the Entity to discharge its liabilities as and when they fall due. Accordingly, these financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with IFRSs, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Entity or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Entity's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Entity's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Entity to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Report on other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

We note that the net assets of the Entity are below 75% of its share capital. Accordingly, the directors are required (under Regulation 46/67 of the Sharjah Airport International Free Zone, pursuant to Law No. 2 of 1995) to notify the Free Zone Authority not later than fifteen days from the earliest day on which that fact became known, and the directors are also required, within seven days of such notification, to take necessary steps to remedy the situation.

We confirm that, except for the matter in the preceding paragraph, the financial statements comply with the referred regulation.

1. LEGAL STATUS AND BUSINESS ACTIVITY

a) L&T REALTY FZE (the “Entity”) was incorporated on 27 January 2008 in the Sharjah Airport International Free Zone, Sharjah (SAIF-Zone) as a Free Zone Establishment with Limited Liability under the SAIF-Zone implementing Rules and Regulations issued pursuant to Law No. 2 of 1995, decreed by H.H. Sheikh Sultan Bin Mohammed Al Qassimi, Ruler of Sharjah. The address of the registered office is P.O. Box 121576, Sharjah, UAE and the Entity operates from 206-209, Sheikh Abdullah Building, Al Qasimia Street, Sharjah, UAE.

b) The Entity is a wholly owned subsidiary of L&T Realty Limited, a company incorporated in India, which is the parent company and the ultimate parent company is Larsen & Toubro Limited, India.

c) The Entity is licensed (license number 05714, valid up to 26 January 2018) for the development of real estate and related activities but did not carry out any commercial activities during the year.

2. BASIS OF PREPARATION

a) Statement of compliance

The financial statements are prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards issued or adopted by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) and which are effective for accounting periods beginning 1 January 2016.

b) Basis of measurement

The financial statements are prepared using historical cost, except for an investment property which is carried at fair value. Historical cost is based on the fair value of the consideration given to acquire the asset or cash or cash equivalents expected to be paid to satisfy the liability. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

c) Going Concern

The financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis.

When preparing financial statements, management makes an assessment of an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern. Financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis unless management either intends to liquidate the entity or to cease trading, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

At the reporting date, the Entity’s accumulated losses amounted to AED 3,398,638. However, the parent company has agreed to continue with the Entity’s operations and to provide funds on an ongoing basis in order to enable the Entity to settle its liabilities as they fall due. Accordingly, these financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis.

d) Adoption of new International Financial Reporting Standards

Standards and interpretations effective for the current period

The International Financial Reporting Standards, amendments thereto and Interpretations that became effective for the current reporting period and which are applicable to the Entity are as follows:

- Amendments to IAS 1 Disclosure Initiative

  The amendments to IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements clarify existing IAS 1 requirements.in relation to:

  - The materiality requirements in IAS
  - That specific line items in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income and the statement of financial position may be disaggregated
  - That entities have flexibility as to the order in which they present the notes to financial statements

New and revised IFRSs in issue but not yet effective

The following International Financial Reporting Standards, amendments thereto and Interpretations that are assessed by management as likely to have an impact on the financial statements, have been issued by the IASB prior to the date the financial statements were authorised for issue, but have not been applied in these financial statements as their effective dates of adoption are for future accounting periods.

- Amendments to IAS 7 Disclosure Initiative (1 January 2017)

  The amendments require the disclosure that enable the users to evaluate the changes in liabilities arising from financing activities, including changes arising from cash flow and non cash changes.

- IFRS 9: Financial instruments: (1 January 2018)

  IFRS 9 requires financial assets to be classified into two measurement categories: those measured at fair value and those measured at amortised cost. The determination is made at initial recognition. For financial liabilities, the standard retains most of the IAS 39 requirements. The main change is that, in cases where the fair value option is taken for financial liabilities, the part of a fair value change due to an entity's own credit risk is recorded in other comprehensive income rather than the profit or loss, unless this creates an accounting mismatch.

e) Functional and presentation currency

The financial statements are presented in UAE Dirhams ("AED") which is also the Entity's functional currency.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies adopted, and which have been consistently applied, are as follows:

a) Investment property

Freehold land for undetermined use is classified as investment property and are measured initially at cost including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are measured at fair value. Gains and losses arising from changes in the fair value of investment properties are included in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

In the case of an increase in fair value, an equal amount is transferred from retained earnings to fair value reserve. In the case of decrease in the fair value, an equal amount is transferred from fair value reserve to retained earnings to the extent of any credit balance existing in the fair value reserve in respect of that property. The fair value reserve is not available for distribution. An investment property is derecognised upon disposal or when the investment property is permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefits are expected from the disposal. Any gain or loss arising on derecognition of the property (calculated as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset) is included in the profit or loss in the period in which the property is derecognised. On derecognition, the related amount in fair value reserve, if any, is transferred to retained earnings.

b) Impairment of tangible assets

At each reporting date, the management reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss if any. Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the acquirer estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

Recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or cash-generating unit) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (cash-generating unit) is reduced to its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is recognised immediately in profit or loss, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation decrease.

Where an impairment loss subsequently reverses, the carrying amount of the asset (cash-generating unit) is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, so that the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset (cash-generating unit) in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized immediately in profit or loss, unless the relevant asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the reversal of the impairment loss is treated as a revaluation increase.

c) Foreign currency transactions

Transactions in foreign currencies are translated into UAE Dirhams at the rate of exchange ruling on the date of the transactions.

Monetary assets and liabilities expressed in foreign currencies are translated into UAE Dirhams at the rate of exchange ruling at the reporting date.

Gains or losses resulting from foreign currency transactions are taken to profit or loss.

d) Provisions

A provision is recognized when the Entity has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

The amount recognized as a provision is the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. Where a provision is measured using the cash flow estimated to settle the present obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows.

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle, a provision is expected to be recovered from a third party, the receivable is recognized as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of receivable can be measured reliably.

e) Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when, and only when, the Entity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

Financial liabilities are de-recognised when, and only when, they are extinguished, cancelled or expired.

Financial assets

Deposits

Deposits are classified as loans and receivables and stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash receipts over the short credit period is not considered to be material.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash, bank current accounts, bank deposits free of encumbrance with a maturity date of three months or less from the date of deposit and highly liquid investments with a maturity date of three months or less from the date of investment that are readily convertible to known amount of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

Financial liabilities

At amortised cost

Accruals and other payables

Accruals and other payables are stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash payments over the short credit period is not considered to be material.

Related party payables

Related party payables are stated at cost, as the interest that would be recognised from discounting future cash payments over the short credit period is not considered to be material.

Equity

Share capital is recorded at the value of proceeds received towards interest in share capital of the Entity.

Impairment of financial assets

All financial assets are assessed for indicators of impairment at each reporting date. Impairment losses and reversals thereof are recognised in profit or loss.

Offsetting

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

f) Fair value measurement

The Entity measures non-financial assets such as investment properties at fair value at each reporting date. The Entity also discloses the fair value of financial instruments measured at amortised cost.

The fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for the asset or liability or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using assumptions that the market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that the market participants act in their best economic interests.

The fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Entity uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

In addition, the fair value measurements are categorised into Level 1, 2 or 3 based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurement are observable and significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

- Level 1 fair value measurements are those derived from quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 fair value measurements are those derived from inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices).
- Level 3 fair value measurements are those derived from valuation techniques that include inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (unobservable inputs).

4. SIGNIFICANT JUDGMENTS EMPLOYED IN APPLYING ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant judgments made in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements are as follows:

Investment property

Freehold property is classified as investment property only if an insignificant portion of the useable space is used by the Entity for its own activities.

Impairment

At each reporting date, management conducts an assessment of investment property and all financial assets to determine whether there are any indications that they may be impaired. In the absence of such indications, no further action is taken. If such indications do exist, an analysis of each asset is undertaken to determine its net recoverable amount and, if this is below its carrying amount, a provision is made. In the case of loans and receivables, if an amount is deemed irrecoverable, it is written off to profit or loss or, if previously a provision was made, it is written off against the provision. Reversals of provisions against loans and receivables are made to the extent of the related amounts being recovered.

5. KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

Key assumptions made concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are as follows:

Valuation of investment property

Investment property with a carrying value of AED 5,700,000 has been valued using comparable market data.

Impairment

Assessments of net recoverable amounts of investment property are based on assumptions regarding future cash flows expected to be received from the related assets.

The plot of freehold land purchased from Dubai Industrial City was registered in the Entity's name with the Land Department, Government of Dubai on 19 June 2011. A valuation of the land was undertaken by a professional external valuer on 31 December 2016 whose report dated 5 January 2017 established the market value thereof at AED 5,700,000. The valuation was carried out by reference to comparable market data and therefore the land is stated using Level 2 input of the fair value hierarchy.

9. SHAREHOLDER'S LOAN

The loan from the Shareholder is interest free and for the term of the Entity.

10. RELATED PARTIES

The Entity enters into transactions with entities that fall within the definition of a related party as contained in International Accounting Standard 24. The management considers such transactions to be in the normal course of business and are at prices determined by the management.

Related parties comprise the parent company, fellow subsidiaries, companies under common management control, and directors.

At the reporting date, significant balances with related parties were as follows:

There were no significant transactions with related parties during the year.

11. MANAGEMENT OF CAPITAL

The Entity's objectives when managing capital are to ensure that the Entity continues as a going concern and to provide the owner with a rate of return on their investment commensurate with the level of risk assumed.

Capital, which is unchanged from the previous year, comprises equity funds as presented in the statement of financial position. Debt comprises total amounts owing to third parties, net of cash and cash equivalents.

The Entity is exposed to externally imposed capital requirements as required by SAIF-Zone regulations.

Management of risk

The primary risk to which the business is exposed, which are unchanged from the previous year comprise credit risk and liquidity risk.

Credit risk is managed by assessing the creditworthiness of counter-parties and the potential for exposure to the market in which they operate, combined with regular monitoring and follow-up.

Exposures to the aforementioned risk are detailed below:

Credit risk

Financial assets that potentially expose the Entity to concentrations of credit risk comprise principally the Entity's bank account, which is placed with a high credit quality financial institution.

Liquidity risk

As stated in note (2) (c), the parent company has agreed to provide necessary financial support.

Fair values

The fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair values of the Entity's financial assets and financial liabilities which are required to be stated at cost or at amortised cost approximate to their carrying values.

14. SHARJAH AIRPORT INTERNATIONAL FREE ZONE REGULATIONS

The net assets of the Entity are below 75 percent of its share capital. However, the directors are taking steps to remedy the situation as required by the Regulation 46/67 of the Sharjah Airport International Free Zone, pursuant to Law No. 2 of 1995.

ANNEXURE I : MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS FY 2016-17

1. OVERVIEW:

L&T Shipbuilding Limited is a Joint Venture between Larsen & Toubro Limited (L&T) and Tamilnadu Industrial Development Corporation Limited (TIDCO), a Government of Tamilnadu enterprise, wherein L&T holds 97% and TIDCO holds 3%. The company has been engaged in the Shipbuilding Business and Port Business. The Port Business has been transferred to a separate company i.e., Marine Infrastructure Developer Private Limited vide National Company Law Tribunal Order dated 20th March 2017.

2. BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT:

The global shipbuilding industry has been going through challenging times, essentially due to downward trend in oil prices and most of the shipping companies have shelved their expansion and acquisition plans. This had an impact on the commercial shipbuilding business by way of cancellation of commercial shipbuilding contracts. However, the Company is currently focusing on Defence sector.

The Ministry of Defence during the year had nominated many of the new defence programs to the Defence Public Sector Undertaking Shipyards. Simultaneously, The Ministry of Defence is processing RFPs / bids for major programs like Landing Platform Dock, Anti-Submarine Warfare Shallow Water Craft, Survey Vessels (large) and Diving Support Vessels during the year. The decisions on these programs are expected during FY 18.

The Defence Procurement Procedure, 2016 came into effect during the year giving thrust to indigenization, which will support Government of India's Make in India initiative.

The Company's outstanding design and execution capabilities have helped it in executing contracts relating to Floating Dock and Coast Guard vessels. Its contingency plans were put into effective use when a cyclone hit Chennai in December 2016.

3. SIGNIFICANT INITIATIVES:

The internal process on project cost monitoring was revamped during the year. The Budget driven cost control measures through ERP system was extensively used for monitoring. The initiatives for Digitalisation of identified processes to enhance productivity of shipyard and human resources were also made during the year.

4. OUTLOOK FOR FY 2017-18:

The Ministry of Defence is expected to finalise contracts for Landing Platform Dock and Anti-Submarine Warfare Shallow Water Craft during FY 18. The Ministry of Defence will be coming out with further Request for Proposals and Request for Information for further Defence Shipbuilding programs. The company will be making inroads in to exports of Defence Ships during FY 18. The overall scenario is encouraging and there is a positive outlook emerging for participation in Defence Orders.

5. RISKS AND CONCERNS OF SHIPBUILDING:

The prominent risks and concerns essentially pertain to dependence on global sources for equipment and materials and their associated price fluctuations in Foreign Exchange. However, Ministry of Defence for all recent RFPs have introduced a Foreign Exchange Rate Variation Policy. Apart from that the risks in design emanate from stringent specifications required for Defence vessels, much of which are validated only after the ship is constructed. These are suitably addressed through risk mitigation measures in design and supply chain management.

6. PORT OPERATIONS:

Pursuant to the order dated 20th March 2017 by the National Company Law Tribunal, the Port business has been transferred in to a separate company, Marine Infrastructure Developer Private Limited.

A CONSERVATION OF ENERGY

a) Enhancing energy Effectiveness/Efficiency of Equipment & systems:

1. Conversion of 3 No's DOL Starter to Variable Frequency Drives (VFD) for Admin Building chiller Primary pumps to optimize the energy and power factor (PF) from 0.8 to 0.99, which directly conserves 26,352 units /annum and a savings of ₹ 2.24 Lakhs/annum.
2. Changeover of existing 617 No's of Tube lights (36W / 40W) to Energy efficient LED Tube Lights (18W) in MRS,DG Room, Substation -03, 04,4A, Fire Station, QA and OHC buildings, which directly conserves 45,708units /annum, savings of ₹ 4.17 Lakhs /annum and also improves PF from 0.90 to 0.99.
3. Replacement of existing HPSV (150W) to Energy efficient LED luminaires (50W) in all transformer yards (15No's) which directly conserves 6,588units/annum, savings of ₹ 0.71 Lakhs /annum and improves PF from 0.8 to 0.99.
4. Substitution of existing 10 No's Metal Halide luminaires (70W) to 5 No's Energy efficient LED luminaires (42W) in Fire Station Parking area, which directly conserves 2,152 units /annum, savings of ₹0.22 Lakhs /annum and improves PF from 0.8 to 0.99.
5. Conversion of existing 166 No's HPSV (150W) to Energy efficient LED luminaires (72W) in street lightings of Road – 02,03,04,5A,5B, which directly conserves 56,867units /annum, savings of ₹ 7.03 Lakhs /annum and also improves PF from 0.8 to 0.99.
6. Changeover of existing 58 No's MH (2*400W) to Energy efficient LED luminaires (350W) in 7No's of Highmasts, which directly conserves 1,14,631 units /annum, savings of ₹11.64 Lakhs and also improves PF from 0.8 to 0.99.
7. Automatic Switching off 50% Streetlights during Night hours (2200hrs to 0600hrs) with Astronomic Timer, which directly conserves 65,880 units /annum and savings of ₹ 5.60 Lakhs /annum.
8. Refurbishment of existing 15% Split A/C's with Copper condenser coil instead of Aluminium Coil to enhance the cooling efficiency and reduce the impact of greenhouse gas emission in various buildings in the Shipyard. With this conversion to 100% Copper Condenser Coil has been achieved in entire shipyard.
9. Fitment of 100% Energy Efficient LED Luminaries implemented in RO Plant.
10. Total Energy saved 3,18,178 units/annum which corresponds to savings of ₹31.61 Lakhs /annum.

b) Improving Energy Effectiveness/Efficiency of Manufacturing Process.

In Plate Cutting Shop and Painting/Blasting Shop the suggestions of external energy auditors have been implemented in FY2016-17.The energy Conserved is 8,14,408 Units/annum and savings of ₹ 67.17 Lakhs /annum.

c) Measures adopted (vide serials a) & b) above) have resulted in cumulative energy Conservation of 11,32,586 Kwh/annum and a saving of ₹ 98.78 Lakhs / annum

d) Steps taken by the company for utilizing alternate source of Energy: Nil

e) Capital Investment on energy Conservation Equipment's :

TO THE MEMBERS OF L&T SHIPBUILDING LIMITED

Report on the Ind AS Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying Ind AS financial statements of L&T SHIPBUILDING LIMITED ("the Company"), which comprise the Balance Sheet as at 31 March 2017, and the Statement of Profit and Loss (including other comprehensive income), the statement of cash flows and the statement of changes in equity for the year then ended, and a summary of the significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (herein after referred to as "Ind AS financial statements").

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in Section 134(5) of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") with respect to the preparation of these Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view of the state of affairs (financial position), loss (financial performance including other comprehensive income), cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under Section 133 of the Act, read with relevant rules issues thereunder. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these Ind AS financial statements based on our audit.

We have taken into account the provisions of the Act, the accounting and auditing standards and matters which are required to be included in the audit report under the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder.

We conducted our audit of the Ind AS financial statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Those Standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Ind AS financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and the disclosures in the Ind AS financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal financial control relevant to the Company's preparation of the Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of the accounting policies used and the reasonableness of the accounting estimates made by the Company's Directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the Ind AS financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Ind AS financial statements.

Opinion

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid Ind AS financial statements give the information required by the Act in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India including the Ind AS, of the state of affairs (financial position) of the Company as at 31 March 2017, and its loss (financial performance including other comprehensive income), its cash flows and the changes in equity for the year ended on that date.

Emphasis of matter

1) We draw attention to Note 49 accompanying the Ind AS financial statements, which indicates that the Company has substantial accumulated losses carried forward from the previous year and has incurred significant cash losses during the current and previous financial years resulting in substantial erosion of net worth as at 31 March 2017 and the Company's current liabilities exceed its current assets as at the balance sheet date. These conditions indicate the existence of a material uncertainty that may cast significant doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. However, the Ind AS financial statements of the Company have been prepared on a going concern basis based on the financial support confirmed by the Holding Company and other reasons stated in the said Note.

   Our opinion is not modified in respect of the above matters.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

1) As required by the Companies (Auditor's Report) Order, 2016 ("the Order") issued by the Central Government of India in terms of sub-section (11) of section 143 of the Act, we give in "Annexure A" to this Report, a statement on the matters specified in para 3 and 4 of the said Order.

2) As required by Section 143 (3) of the Act, we report that:

   (a) We have sought and obtained all the information and explanations which to the best of our knowledge and belief were necessary for the purposes of our audit.

   (b) In our opinion, proper books of account as required by law have been kept by the Company so far as it appears from our examination of those books.

(c) The Balance Sheet, the Statement of Profit and Loss, the Cash Flow Statement and Statement of Changes in Equity dealt with by this Report are in agreement with the books of account.

(d) In our opinion, the aforesaid Ind AS financial statements comply with the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Act, read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015.

(e) On the basis of the written representations received from the directors as on 31 March, 2017 taken on record by the Board of Directors, none of the directors is disqualified as on 31 March 2017 from being appointed as a director in terms of Section 164 (2) of the Act.

(f) With respect to the adequacy of the internal financial controls over financial reporting of the Company and the operating effectiveness of such controls, refer to our separate Report in "Annexure B". Our report expresses an unmodified opinion on the adequacy and operating effectiveness of the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting.

(g) With respect to the other matters to be included in the Auditor's Report in accordance with Rule 11 of the Companies (Audit and Auditors) Rules, 2014, in our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us:

i. The Company has disclosed the impact of pending litigations on its financial position in its Ind AS financial statements - Refer Note 37 accompanying the Ind AS financial statements;

ii. The Company has made provision as required under the applicable accounting standards, for material foreseeable losses on long-term contracts including derivative contracts - Refer Note 43 accompanying the Ind AS financial statements

iii. There were no amounts which were required to be transferred to the Investor Education and Protection Fund by the Company.

iv. The Company has provided requisite disclosures in its Ind AS financial statements as to holdings as well as dealings in Specified Bank Notes during the period from 08 November 2016 to 30 December 2016 and these are in accordance with the books of accounts maintained by the Company. Refer Note 14 A to the standalone Ind AS financial statements.

ANNEXURE 'A' TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

With reference to Annexure A referred to in paragraph 1 under the heading "Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements" of the Independent Auditor's report to the members of L&T Shipbuilding Limited ("the Company") on the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2017, we report that:

(i) (a) The Company is maintaining proper records showing full particulars, including quantitative details and situation of fixed assets.

(b) Fixed assets have been physically verified by the management during the year and no material discrepancies were noticed on such verification.

(c) According to the information and explanations given to us and the records of the Company examined by us, the title deeds of immovable properties are held in the name of the Company.

(ii) As explained to us, inventories have been physically verified by the management at reasonable intervals during the year. In our opinion, the frequency of such verification is reasonable. The discrepancies noticed on verification between the physical stocks and the book records, which were not material, have been properly dealt with in the books of account.

(iii) According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has not granted any loans, secured or unsecured, to companies, firms, Limited Liability Partnerships or other parties covered in the register maintained under Section 189 of the Companies Act, 2013. Accordingly, reporting under clauses 3 (iii) (a), (b) and (c) of the Order does not arise.

(iv) According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has not advanced any loan, given any guarantee or provided any security to the parties covered under Section 185 and the Company has not given any loan or made any investment covered under section 186 of the Companies Act, 2013. Accordingly, reporting under clause 3 (iv) of the Order does not arise.

(v) According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has not accepted any deposits within the meaning of sections 73 to 76 or any other relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and the rules framed thereunder. Accordingly, reporting under clause 3 (v) of the Order does not arise.

(vi) The Central Government has not prescribed the maintenance of cost records under section 148(1) of the Act, for any of the goods sold/services rendered by the Company.

(vii) (a) According to the information and explanations given to us and on the basis of our examination of the books of account, in our opinion, the Company is generally regular in depositing undisputed statutory dues including provident fund, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales tax, service tax, duty of customs, value added tax and other statutory dues applicable to it during the year with appropriate authorities. According to the information and explanations given to us, there were no undisputed amounts payable in respect of provident fund, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales tax, service tax, duty of customs, value added tax and other statutory dues outstanding as at 31 March 2017 for a period of more than six months from the date they became payable.

(b) According to the information and explanations given to us and the records of the Company examined by us, there are no dues of income tax, sales tax, service tax, duty of customs, duty of excise, value added tax as at 31 March 2017 which have not been deposited on account of a dispute.

(viii) According to the records of the Company examined by us and the information and explanations given to us, the Company has not defaulted in repayment of loans or borrowing to a bank or debenture holders during the year. The Company has not taken any loans or borrowing from a financial institution or Government during the year.

(ix) The Company has neither raised any money by way of initial public offer or further public offer (including debt instruments) nor has availed any term loans during the year. Accordingly, reporting under clause 3 (ix) of the Order does not arise.

(x) During the course of our examination of the books and records of the Company, carried out in accordance with the generally accepted auditing practices in India, and according to the information and explanations given to us, we have neither come across any instances of fraud by the Company, or any instances of frauds on the Company by its officers or employees, noticed or reported during the year, nor we have been informed of such cases by the management.

(xi) According to the information and explanations given to us and the records of the Company examined by us, in our opinion, managerial remuneration representing sitting fees to Directors has been paid in accordance with the requisite approvals mandated by the provisions of section 197 read with Schedule V to the Companies Act, 2013.

(xii) According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company is not a Nidhi Company. Accordingly, reporting under clause 3(xii) of the Order does not arise.

(xiii) According to the information and explanations given to us and the records of the Company examined by us, in our opinion, all transactions with the related parties are in compliance with Sections 177 and 188 of the Companies Act, 2013, where applicable and the details have been disclosed in the Financial Statements etc., as required by the applicable accounting standards.

(xiv) According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has not made any preferential allotment or private placement of shares or fully or partly convertible debentures during the year under review. Accordingly, reporting under clause 3 (xiv) of the Order does not arise.

(xv) According to the information and explanations given to us, the Company has not entered into any non-cash transactions with directors or persons connected with the directors during the year. Accordingly, reporting under clause 3 (xv) of the Order does not arise.

ANNEXURE 'B' TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

[Referred to in paragraph 2(f) of our Report of even date]

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of L&T SHIPBUILDING LIMITED ("the Company") as of 31 March 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting ("the Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ("ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act").

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable, to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31 March 2017, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

NOTE 1 - CORPORATE INFORMATION

L&T Shipbuilding Limited ("the Company") was incorporated on November 13, 2007. The promoter of the Company M/s. Larsen & Toubro Limited ("the Holding Company") and M/s. Tamilnadu Industrial Development Limited (TIDCO) have entered into an Associate Sector Agreement on April 15, 2008 for implementation of integrated shipyard cum development of minor port complex and related facilities at Kattupalli village in Tiruvallur District. The Company commenced its shipyard operations in December 2012 and port operations in January 2013.

The Company has been given approval by Ministry of Commerce & Industry, Government of India for total area of 607.89 hectares for setting up of a sector specific Special Economic Zone (SEZ) for Heavy Engineering at Kattupalli Village, Ponneri Taluk, Tiruvallur District, Tamilnadu. The total SEZ area is constituted by 447.62 hectares (1,105.63 acres) of land area, 31.12 hectares (76.87 acres) of Coastal land area and 129.15 hectares (319.00 acres) of Water area.

The Company is carrying out authorized operations of shipbuilding and ship related activities in the processing zone and operations of port in the non-processing zone in the Sector specific Special Economic Zone as per approval from the Department of Commerce, SEZ section, Ministry of Commerce & Industry, Government of India in accordance with the provisions of SEZ Act, 2005 and the SEZ Rules, 2006 framed thereunder.

Pursuant to Scheme of Arrangement for Demerger as approved by National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on March 20, 2017 and filed with Register of Companies (ROC) on March 22, 2017, the Company has transferred the Port business to a separate company viz. Marine Infrastructure Developer Private Limited (MIDPL).

Consequently, the Company continues with the shipbuilding and ship related activities in processing zone in the Sector specific Special Economic Zone.

NOTE 2 - A) STATEMENT OF COMPLIANCE

By virtue of Para 4 (ii) (a) of Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 the Company is under obligation to comply with Ind AS, being a subsidiary company of a listed company.

The Company's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and the Indian Accounting Standards ("Ind AS') notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 and as amended from time to time, that were issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India in exercise of powers conferred by Section 133 read with Section 469 of Indian Companies Act, 2013. Up to the year ended March 31, 2016, the Company prepared its financial statements in accordance with the requirements of previous GAAP, which includes Standards notified under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006. These are the Company's first Ind AS financial statements. The date of transition to Ind AS is April 01, 2015. Refer Note 3.26 for the details of first time adoption exemptions availed by the Company.

NOTE 2 - B) KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management of the Company make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of income and expenses of the period, the reported balances of assets and liabilities and the disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as of the date of the financial statements. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period to which it affects.

Examples of such estimates include the useful lives of property, plant and equipment, Intangible assets, allowance for doubtful debts/advances, insurance claims, future obligations in respect of retirement benefit plans, provision for rectification costs, fair value measurement etc. difference, if any, between the actual results and estimates is recognised in the period in which the results are known.

(i) Impairment of non-financial assets

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

(ii) Defined benefit plans

The cost of the defined benefit plan and other post-employment benefits and the present value of such obligation are determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate, future salary increases, mortality rates and attrition rate. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, a defined benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date.

(iii) Fair value measurement of financial instruments

When the fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded in the balance sheet cannot be measured based on quoted prices in active markets, their fair value is measured using valuation techniques including the Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) model. The inputs to these models are taken from observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, a degree of judgement is required in establishing fair values. Judgements include considerations of inputs such as liquidity risk, credit risk and volatility. Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect the reported fair value of financial instruments.

(iv) Impairment of financial assets

The impairment provisions for financial assets are based on assumptions about risk of default and expected loss rates. The Company uses judgement in making these assumptions and selecting the inputs to the impairment calculation, based on Company's past history, existing market conditions as well as forward looking estimates at the end of each reporting period.

NOTE 2 - C) BASIS OF PREPARATION

The Company maintains its accounts on accrual basis following the historical cost convention, except for certain items of property, plant and equipment where the carrying value of all the items of property, plant and equipment as on date of transition is considered as the deemed cost and certain financial instruments that are measured at fair values in accordance with Ind AS. Further, the guidance notes/ pronouncements issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) are also considered, wherever applicable except to the extent where compliance with other statutory promulgations override the same requiring a different accounting treatment.

NOTE 2 - D) PRESENTATION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Balance Sheet and the Statement of Profit and Loss are prepared and presented in the format prescribed in the Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act"). The Cash Flow Statement has been prepared and presented as per the requirements of Ind AS 7 "Statement of Cash flows". The disclosure requirements with respect to items in the Balance Sheet and Statement of Profit and Loss, as prescribed in the Schedule III to the Act, are presented by way of Notes forming part of accounts along with the other notes required to be disclosed under the notified Accounting Standards.

Functional currency:

The financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (₹) in lakhs rounded off to two decimal places in line with the requirement of Schedule III of Companies Act 2013.

Per share data are presented in Indian Rupees (₹) to two decimals places.

NOTE 3 - SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

3.1 Property, Plant and Equipment:

(i) The Company has elected to continue with the carrying value for all of its property, plant and equipment as recognized in the financial statements as at the date of transition to Ind AS, measured as per the previous GAAP and use that as deemed cost as at the date of transition.

(ii) Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost net of CENVAT / Value Added Tax less accumulated depreciation and impairment loss, if any.

(iii) Any costs directly attributable to bringing the asset to the location and condition necessary for it to be capable of operating in the manner intended by management are capitalized as part of cost of the asset.

(iv) Property, plant and equipment are eliminated from financial statement, either on disposal or when retired from active use. Losses arising in the case of retirement of property, plant and equipment and gains or losses arising from disposal of property, plant and equipment are recognised in profit or loss in the year of occurrence.

(v) The assets' residual values, useful lives and methods of depreciation are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

(vi) Further, where cost of a part of the asset ("asset component") is significant in relation to the total cost of asset and useful life of that part is significantly different from the useful life of the remaining asset, then the useful life of that significant component is determined separately and such component is depreciated over its separate useful life.

(vii) Assets which are not ready for the intended use as on the date of Balance Sheet are carried as "Capital work-in-progress".

3.2 Depreciation

i. Owned Assets

Depreciation on assets including buildings constructed on leasehold land is provided, under the Straight Line Method, pro rata to the period of use, based on useful life specified in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 except the for certain items, where useful life estimated on technical assessment, past trends and expected useful life differ from those provided in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013:

The Company has reviewed and revised the useful lives of the following category of fixed assets based on technical evaluation.

Asset category	Useful life as per Schedule II (in years)	Revised Useful life adopted based on technical evaluation (in years)
(i) Marine structures	30*	50
(ii) Plant and equipment
(a) Ship lift structures, Control system, Chiller units, Condition monitoring system, Ship position system, Ship transfer system, other ship lift related structures	30*	20
(b) Land berth and piled platforms	30*	40
(c) Rail Mounted Quay Cranes, Rubber Tyre Gantry Cranes having capacity of 40 Tons or more	15	20 (Calculated on single shift basis)
(d) Tower cranes and EOT cranes	15	25
(e) Rails	15	20

Asset category	Useful life as per Schedule II (in years)	Revised Useful life adopted based on technical evaluation (in years)
(iii) Buildings
(a) Production shops	30	50
(b) Container yards	30	20
(c) Internal roads	5	15
(iv) Vehicles - Motor Cars	8	7
(v) Air-Conditioner & refrigeration equipment	15	12
(vi) Diesel generator	15	12

The Company has carried out assessment of useful lives of the above assets and based on technical justification, different useful lives have been arrived at in respect of above assets.

The justification for adopting different useful life compared to the useful life of assets provided in Schedule II is based on the consumption pattern of the assets, performance of the assets and peer industry comparison duly supported by technical assessment carried out by an Independent Chartered Engineer.

In respect of additions/extensions forming an integral part of the existing assets, depreciation has been provided for over the residual life of the respective existing assets.

Depreciation on additions to / deductions from, owned fixed assets is calculated pro-rata from / to the month of additions/ deductions. Assets costing less than ₹ 5,000/- each are fully depreciated in the year of purchase.

Extra shift depreciation is provided based on the pattern of usage.

Depreciation charge for impaired assets is adjusted in the future periods in such a manner that the revised carrying amount of the asset is allocated over its remaining useful life.

ii. Leasehold land

Land acquired under long-term lease is classified under "Property, Plant and Equipment" and is depreciated over the primary lease period.

3.3 Intangible assets and amortisation

(i) Intangible assets are recognized when it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the assets will flow to the Company and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably.

(ii) Intangible assets are stated at original cost net of tax/ duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated amortisation and cumulative impairment.

(iii) Intangible assets comprising specialized software are amortized under straight line method over their useful life over a period of 3 to 10 years.

(iv) Any costs directly attributable to the cost of preparing the asset for its intended use are included as a part of the asset.

(v) Amortisation on impaired assets is adjusted in the future periods in such a manner that the revised carrying amount of the asset is allocated over its remaining useful life.

3.4 Impairment of non-financial assets

As at each Balance Sheet date, the Company assesses whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired and also whether there is an indication of reversal of impairment loss recognised in the previous periods. If any indication exists, carrying amount of asset is tested for impairment so as to determine:

(i) the provision for impairment loss, if any; and

(ii) the reversal of impairment loss recognized in previous periods, if any.

Impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount.

Recoverable amount is determined:

(i) in the case of an individual asset, at the higher of its fair value less costs of disposal and the value in use; and

(ii) in the case of a cash generating unit (a group of assets that generates identified, independent cash flows), at the higher of the cash generating unit's fair value less costs disposal and the value in use.

3.5 Inventories

Inventories are valued in the balance sheet as follows:

Raw materials, stores, spares, components and construction materials	Lower of cost (calculated on weighted average basis) and net realizable value. However, these items are considered to be realizable at cost if the finished products in which they will be used, are expected to be sold at or above cost.
Manufacturing work-in-progress	At lower of cost (calculated on weighted average basis) including related overheads and net realizable value.
Finished goods and stock-in-trade	At lower of cost (calculated on weighted average basis) and net realizable value. Cost includes related overheads and excise duty paid/ payable on such goods.

The cost of inventories comprise of all cost of purchases, cost of conversion and other related costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Slow and non-moving material, obsolesces, defective inventories are duly provided for.

Goods and materials in transit are valued at actual cost incurred up to the date of balance sheet.

Assessment of net realisable value is done in each subsequent period and when the circumstances that previously caused inventories to be written down below cost no longer exist or when there is clear evidence of an increase in net realisable value because of changed economic circumstances, the amount of the write-down is reversed.

3.6 Cash and bank balances

Cash and bank balances also include fixed deposits, margin money deposits, earmarked balances with banks and other bank balances which have restrictions on repatriation. Short term and liquid investments being not free from more than insignificant risk of change in value, are not included as part of cash and cash equivalents.

3.7 Cash Flow Statement

Cash flows are reported using the indirect method, whereby profit/(loss) before tax is adjusted for the effects of transactions of a non-cash nature, any deferrals or accruals of past or future operating cash receipts or payments and items of income and expenses associated with investing and financing flows. The cash flows from operating, investing and financing of the Company are segregated.

3.8 Foreign currency transactions

The Company's financial statements are presented in functional currency which is INR.

(i) Foreign currency transactions are recorded on initial recognition in the functional currency, using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

(ii) At each balance sheet date, foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing exchange rate.

(iii) Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currency that are measured in terms of historical cost are not retranslated. Foreign currency non-monetary items carried at fair value are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined.

(iv) Exchange differences that arise on settlement/restatement of monetary items are recognised in the statement of profit and loss in the period in which they arise except for exchange differences on foreign currency borrowings relating to assets under construction for future productive use, which are included in the cost of those assets when they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs in a foreign currency not translated.

3.9 Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognised based on nature of activity when consideration can be reasonably measured and there exists reasonable certainty of its recovery. Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and is reduced for customer returns, rebates and other similar allowances.

(i) Revenue from sales and services includes adjustments made towards liquidated damages and price variation, wherever applicable. Escalation and other claims, which are not ascertainable / acknowledged by customers, are accounted in the period in which they are ascertained / acknowledged by customers.

(ii) Revenue from sale of manufactured and traded goods is recognised when the significant risks and rewards of ownership are transferred to the buyer under the terms of the contract.

(iii) Revenue from construction activity is recognised as follows :

Contract revenue comprising the total value of construction work performed is recognized only to the extent of cost incurred till such time the outcome of the job cannot be ascertained reliably. When the outcome of the contract is ascertained reliably, contract revenue is recognized at cost of work performed on the contract plus proportionate margin, using the percentage of completion method. Percentage of completion is the proportion of cost of work performed to-date, to the total estimated contract costs.

Expected loss, if any, on the construction activity is recognized as an expense in the period in which it is foreseen, irrespective of the stage of completion of the contract. While determining the amount of foreseeable loss, all elements of costs and related incidental income not included in contract revenue is taken into consideration.

(iv) Revenue from contracts for the rendering of services which are directly related to the construction of an asset is recognised on similar basis as stated in (iii) above.

(v) Revenue from sale of services is recognised based on stage of completion when the outcome of the transactions involving rendering of services can be estimated reliably and the cost incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transactions can be measured reliably. Stage of completion is determined by the proportion of actual costs incurred to-date, to the total estimated total costs of the transaction.

(vi) Interest income is accrued on a time basis by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

(vii) Other items of income are accounted as and when the right to receive arises and it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

3.10 Employee Benefits

(i) Short-term employee benefits

All employee benefits falling due within twelve months from the end of the reporting period in which the employee renders the services are classified as short-term employee benefits. The benefits like salaries, wages, short-term compensated absences, etc. and the expected cost of bonus and ex-gratia are recognized in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

(ii) Post-employment benefits:

a) Defined contribution plans

The State governed provident fund scheme, employees' state insurance scheme and employee pension scheme are defined contribution plans. The contribution paid/payable under the schemes is recognized during the period in which the employee renders the related service.

b) Defined benefit plans

The Company's obligation towards gratuity is a defined benefit plan. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method, which recognizes each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rate used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans is based on the market yields on Government securities, having maturity periods approximating to the terms of related obligations as at the Balance Sheet date.

The fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognize the obligation as Net Defined benefit liability (assets).

The Company recognises the following components of the defined benefit cost under employee benefit expenses in the statement of profit and loss.

- Service costs comprising current service costs, past-service costs, gains and losses on curtailments and non-routine settlements.
- Net interest on the net defined benefit liability.

Net interest on the net defined benefit liability (asset) is computed by applying the discount rate, to the net defined benefit liability (asset) at the start of the financial year after taking into account any changes as a result of contribution and benefit payments during the year.

The Company recognizes the re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability (assets), comprising of actuarial gains and losses, any change in the effect of the asset ceiling (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability) and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through other comprehensive income in the period in which they occur. Remeasurements are not reclassified to the statement of profit and loss in subsequent periods.

(iii) Long-term employee benefits

The obligation for long-term employee benefits such as long-term compensated absences is recognized in the similar manner as in the case of defined benefit plans as mentioned in (ii) (b) above except for re-measurements of the net defined benefit liability which is recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

3.11 Borrowing costs

(i) Borrowing costs include interest, commitment charges, amortisation of ancillary costs, amortisation of discounts/ premium related to borrowings calculated using the effective interest method and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings, to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs.

(ii) Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalized / inventorised as part of the cost of such asset, till such time as the asset is ready for its intended use or sale. A qualifying asset is an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time (ordinarily, a period of twelve months) to get ready for its intended use or sale. All other borrowing costs are recognized as an expense in the period in which they are incurred.

3.12 Operating Segments

Operating segments are identified and reported as a component of the Company based on the performance assessment and resource allocation by the Management. The operating segments are regularly reviewed and monitored by the Chief Operating decision maker of the Company based on the discrete financial information available to evaluate their performance and allocation of resource.

The Operating segments have been identified on the basis of the nature of products / services.

(i) Segment revenue includes sales and other income directly identifiable with / allocable to the segment including inter-segment revenue.

(ii) Expenses that are directly identifiable with / allocable to segments are considered for determining the segment result. Expenses which relate to the Company as a whole and not allocable to segments are included under unallocable expenditure.

(iii) Income which relates to the Company as a whole and not allocable to segments is included in unallocable income.

(iv) Segment assets and liabilities include those directly identifiable with the respective segments. Unallocable assets and liabilities represent the assets and liabilities that relate to the Company as a whole and not allocable to any segment.

Inter-Segment transfer pricing

Segment revenue resulting from transactions with other business segments is accounted on the basis of transfer price agreed between the segments. Such transfer prices are either determined to yield a desired margin or agreed on a negotiated basis.

3.13 Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement is, or contains, a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the date of inception, whether fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets or the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset, even if that right is not explicitly specified in an arrangement.

Finance leases that transfer substantially all of the risks and benefits incidental to ownership of the leased item, are recognized and capitalized as assets at the commencement of the lease at the fair value of the leased assets or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. The corresponding liability to the lessor is included in the balance sheet as a finance lease obligation. Lease payments are apportioned between finance charges and a reduction in the lease liability so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are recognised in finance costs in the statement of profit and loss unless they are directly attributable to the qualifying assets.

A leased asset is depreciated over the useful life of the asset. However, if there is no reasonable certainty that the Company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term, the asset is depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life of the asset and the lease term.

Assets acquired on leases where a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are retained by lessor are classified as operating leases. Lease rentals are charged to the statement of profit and loss on straight line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

3.14 Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing the profit from continuing operations and total profit, both attributable to equity shareholders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

3.15 Taxes on income

Tax on income for the current period is determined on the basis on estimated taxable income and tax credits computed in accordance with the provisions of the relevant tax laws and based on the expected outcome of assessments / appeals. It is measured using the tax rates and laws that are enacted or substantively enacted by the end of reporting date.

The current tax assets and liabilities as at balance sheet date have been arrived at after setting off current tax assets and liabilities where the Company have a legally enforceable right to set-off the recognized amounts and assets against liabilities and where such assets and liabilities relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

Current income tax relating to items recognised directly in equity and in other comprehensive income are recognised in equity and other comprehensive income respectively and not in the statement of profit and loss. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided for the future tax consequences using the balance sheet approach on temporary differences at the reporting date between the carrying values of the assets and liabilities for the financial reporting purposes at the reporting date and their respective tax bases used in computation of taxable profit, using tax rates and laws that are enacted or substantively enacted by the end of reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable temporary differences and deferred tax assets are recognized for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward of unused tax credits and any unused tax losses.

However, deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that taxable income will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilized.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilized. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax relating to items recognized directly in equity and in other comprehensive income are recognised in equity and /or other comprehensive income respectively and not in the statement of profit and loss.

The major components of the deferred tax assets and liabilities as at balance sheet date has been arrived at after setting off deferred tax assets and liabilities where the Company have a legally enforceable right to set-off assets against liabilities and where such assets and liabilities relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

3.16 Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognized for liabilities of uncertain timing and amount that can be measured only by using a substantial degree of estimation, if

(i) the company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event,

(ii) a probable outflow of resources embodying economic benefits is expected to settle the obligation; and

(iii) the amount of obligation can be reliably estimated.

Reimbursement expected in respect of expenditure required to settle a provision is recognised only when it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received.

If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost

Contingent liability is disclosed in the case of:

(i) a present obligation arising from a past event, when it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation;

(ii) a present obligation arising from past events, when no reliable estimate is possible;

(iii) a possible obligation arising from past events, unless the probability of outflow of resources is remote.

Contingent assets are disclosed where an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

3.17 Financial Guarantee Asset

Financial Guarantee issued by the Holding Company to the lenders of the Company are recognised as financial liability at fair value in the books of Holding Company. Accordingly, the Company has recognised the financial guarantee charges as financial guarantee asset under other non-current/current assets, which will be systematically amortised over the term of guarantee. On initial recognition equivalent amount is recognised as Equity component of financial instruments under Other Equity.

3.18 Operating cycle for current and non-current classification

Operating cycle for the business activities of the Company covers the duration of the specific project/contract/product line/service including the defect liability period, wherever applicable and extends up to the realisation of receivables (including retention monies) within the agreed credit period normally applicable to the respective lines of business.

3.19 Current and non-current classification:

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current/non-current classification. An asset is current when it is:

- Expected to be realised or intended to sold or consumed in normal operating cycle;
- Held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- Expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period; or
- Cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

- It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle,
- It is held primarily for the purpose of trading,
- It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period; or
- There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other liabilities are classified as non-current.

3.20 Non-current assets held for sale and discontinued operations

Non-current assets and disposal groups are classified as held for sale if their carrying amounts will be recovered principally through a sale transaction rather than through continuing use. Non-current assets and disposal groups classified as held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amount and fair value less costs to sell. This condition is regarded as met only when the sale is highly probable and the asset or disposal group is available for immediate sale in its present condition. Management must be committed to the sale, which should be expected to qualify for recognition as a completed sale within one year from the date of classification.

Discontinued operations are excluded from the results of continuing operations and are presented as a single amount as profit or loss after tax from discontinued operations in the statement of profit and loss.

Assets and liabilities classified as held for sale are presented separately from other assets and liabilities in the balance sheet.

A disposal group qualifies as discontinued operation if it is a component of the Company that either has been disposed of, or is classified as held for sale, and:

(a) represents a separate major line of business or geographical area of operations,

(b) is part of a single coordinated plan to dispose of a separate major line of business or geographical area of operations, or

(c) is a subsidiary acquired exclusively with a view to resale.

3.21 Insurance claims

Compensation due under insurance policy contracts is accounted in the period when the insured loss occurs. Wherever the amount of compensation is in the process of assessment by the insurance surveyors, the compensation is recognised only to the extent of lower of compensation receivable or the carrying value of the insured assets based on assessment by management.

3.22 Exceptional Items

On certain occasions, the size, type or incidence of an item of income or expense is such that its disclosure improves an understanding of the performance of the Company. Such income or expense is classified as an exceptional item and accordingly disclosed in the notes to accounts.

3.23 Fair value measurement:

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability considering their characteristics in an orderly transaction between market participants who act in their economic best interest in the principal market for asset and liability or most advantageous market in the absence of the principal market at the measurement date under the current market conditions regardless of whether the price is directly observable or estimated using a valuation technique.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements using inputs to measure such fair value are categorised within the fair value hierarchy on the following basis :

- Level 1 - Inputs are quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date.
- Level 2 - Inputs are other than quoted price within level 1 that are either directly or indirectly observable for the asset or liability
- Level 3 - Inputs are unobservable for the asset or liability.

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the balance sheet on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between the levels of the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

3.24 Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

(i) Financial assets:

Initial recognition and measurement

The Company initially recognises financials assets in the balance sheet when, and only when, the Company becomes party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

All financial assets are initially measured at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset.

Financial assets, at initial recognition, are classified as financial assets as subsequently measured at amortised cost, fair value through other comprehensive income or as fair value through profit and loss, unless the Company irrevocably designate the financial assets as measured at fair value through profit or loss under fair value option.

Subsequent measurement

All financial assets are classified as subsequently measured at amortized cost, fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI) and fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL).

The classification depends upon the following two criteria and options elected by the company:

(a) The company's business model for managing the financial assets, and

(b) The contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets.

Business model test: The objective of the Company's business model is to hold the financial asset to collect the contractual cash flows and selling financial assets.

Cash flow characteristics test: The contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Financial Assets at Amortized cost

Financial Assets are measured at amortized cost by using effective interest method, when the financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold financial assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial assets give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding rather than to sell the asset prior to its contractual maturity to realise the fair value changes.

Financial Assets through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)

Financial Assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income, when the financial assets are held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets, and the contractual terms of the financial assets give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Financial Assets through profit or loss (FVTPL)

Financial Assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless they are measured at amortised cost or fair value through other comprehensive income or the Company irrevocably designate the financial assets as measured at fair value through profit or loss under fair value option.

Derecognition

The Company primarily derecognizes the financial assets when the contractual rights to receive cash flows from the assets have expired or the Company has transferred the financial assets by transfer of the contractual rights to receive cash flows of the financial assets or the Company retains the contractual rights to receive the cash flows of a financial asset but assumes a contractual obligation to pay those cash flows to one or more recipients in an arrangement where the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial assets or has not retained any control over the assets.

Investment in Equity Instruments

Equity instruments which are held for trading are classified as FVTPL.

Investment in Debt Instruments

The Company classifies the debt instruments at amortised cost or at FVTOCI.

Debt instruments classified under amortised cost are initially recognized at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost.

Debt instrument classified under FVTOCI are measured initially as well as subsequently at each reporting date at fair value. Movements in the carrying amounts are recognized in other comprehensive income. The Company recognises interest income, impairment gains or loss and foreign exchange gains or losses in statement of profit and loss. The Company on derecognition of the asset reclassifies the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in OCI to statement of profit and loss.

Any debt instrument which does not meet the criteria for categorization as at amortised cost or at FVTOCI are classified as at FVTPL.

Impairment of financial assets

The Company applies the expected credit loss model for recognising impairment loss on financial assets measured at amortised cost, debt instruments at FVTOCI, lease receivables, trade receivables and other contractual rights to receive cash or other financial asset and financial guarantees not designated as at FVTPL. For the purpose of measuring expected credit loss allowance for businesses other than financial services for trade receivables, the Company has used a provision matrix which takes into account historical credit loss experience and adjusted for forward looking information as permitted under Ind AS 109.

(ii) Financial liabilities:

Financial liabilities are classified at initial recognition, as financial liabilities as fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate. All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

Loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortised costs using EIR.

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL) are subsequently measured at fair value.

Financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires.

(iii) Derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting:

The Company designates certain hedging instruments, which include derivatives, embedded derivatives and non-derivatives in respect of foreign currency risk, as either fair value hedges, cash flow hedges, or hedges of net investments in foreign operations. Hedges of foreign exchange risk on firm commitments are accounted for as cash flow hedges.

Changes in fair value of the designated portion of derivatives that qualify as fair value hedges are recognised in profit or loss immediately, together with any changes in the fair value of the hedged asset or liability that are attributable to the hedged risk.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. The fair value adjustment to the carrying amount of the hedged item arising from the hedged risk is amortised in statement of profit and loss from that date.

The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated under the heading of cash flow hedging reserve. The gain or loss relating to the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in profit or loss.

Amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity relating to (effective portion as described above) are reclassified to profit or loss in the periods when the hedged item affects profit or loss, in the same line as the recognised hedged item.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. Any gain or loss recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity at that time remains in equity and is recognised when the forecast transaction is ultimately recognised in profit or loss. When a forecast transaction is no longer expected to occur, the gain or loss accumulated in equity is recognised immediately in profit or loss.

3.25 Commitments

Commitments are future liabilities for contractual expenditure. Commitments are classified and disclosed as follows:

a) Estimated amount of contracts remaining to be executed on capital account and not provided for.

b) Other non-cancellable commitments, if any, to the extent they are considered material and relevant in the opinion of management.

3.26 First time adoption of Ind AS

The Company has prepared opening balance sheet as per Ind AS as of April 01, 2015 (transition date) by recognising all assets and liabilities whose recognition is required by Ind AS, not recognising items of assets or liabilities which are not permitted by Ind AS, by reclassifying items from previous GAAP to Ind AS as required under Ind AS, and applying Ind AS in measurement of recognised assets and liabilities. However, this principle is subject to certain exceptions and certain optional exemptions availed by the Company as detailed below:

1. The Company has applied the derecognition requirements of financial assets and financial liabilities prospectively for transactions occurring on or after April 01, 2015 (transition date).
2. The Company has determined the classification of debt instruments in terms of whether they meet the amortised cost criteria or the FVTPL or Loss or FVTOCI criteria based on the facts and circumstances that existed as of the transition date.
3. The Company has opted to continue with the carrying value for all of its PPE & investment property as recognised in its previous GAAP financial as deemed cost at the transition date.
4. The Company has applied the impairment requirements of Ind AS 109 retrospectively; however, as permitted by Ind AS 101, it has used reasonable and supportable information that is available without undue cost or effort to determine the credit risk at the date that financial instruments were initially recognised in order to compare it with the credit risk at the transition date. Further, the Company has not undertaken an exhaustive search for information when determining, at the date of transition to Ind AS, whether there have been significant increases in credit risk since initial recognition, as permitted by Ind AS 101.
5. The Company has assessed all contracts and arrangements for embedded leases based on conditions in place as at the date of transition.
6. The estimates as at April 01, 2015 and at March 31, 2016 are consistent with those made for the same dates in accordance with the Indian GAAP.

Refer Note No. 50 for detailed Reconciliation of Equity as at April 01, 2015 and March 31, 2016 pursuant to Indian Accounting Standard (Ind AS) 101 “First-time Adoption of Indian Accounting Standards”.

(vii) Sensitivity Analysis

Gratuity is a lump sum plan and the cost of providing these benefits is typically less sensitive to small changes in demographic assumptions. The key actuarial assumptions to which the benefit obligation results are particularly sensitive to are discount rate and future salary escalation rate. The following table summarizes the impact in percentage terms on the reported defined benefit obligation at the end of the reporting period arising on account of an increase or decrease in the reported assumption by 50 basis points.

Particulars	Period Ended 31.03.2017
	Discount Rate	Salary Escalation Rate
Impact of increase in 50bps on DBO	(4.40)%	4.53%
Impact of decrease in 50bps on DBO	4.75%	(4.29)%
Impact of increase in 50bps on DBO (Amounts)	(11.50)	11.84
Impact of decrease in 50bps on DBO (Amounts)	12.41	(11.21)

(viii) Funding Arrangement & Policy

The expected contribution payable to the plan next year is ₹ 90.00 lakhs.

(ix) Projected Plan Cash Flow

The table below show the expected cash flow profile of the benefits to be paid to the current membership of the plan based on past service of the employees as the valuation date:

Maturity Profile	Amount

(xi) The plan assets of the Trust as at March 31, 2017 is fully invested in Insurer Managed Funds.

(xii) Basis used to determine the overall expected return:

The Trust formed by the Company manages the investments of gratuity funds. Expected return on plan assets is determined based on the assessment made at the beginning of the year on the return expected on its existing portfolio, along with the estimated increment to the plan assets and expected yield on the respective assets in the portfolio during the year.

(xiii) General description of the defined benefit plans

The Company operates gratuity plan through a Trust wherein every employee is entitled to the benefit equivalent to fifteen days salary last drawn for each completed year of service. The same is payable on termination of service or retirement whichever is earlier. The benefit vests after five years of continuous service.

(xiv) The estimates of future salary increases, considered in actuarial valuation, take into account inflation, seniority, promotion and other relevant factors, such as supply and demand in the employment market.

(c) Long-term employee benefits

Provision for long-term compensated absences has been made based on actuarial valuation report dated April 17, 2017 as summarized below:

Forward contracts are purchased to mitigate the risk of changes in foreign exchange rates associated with certain payables and forecasted transactions denominated in certain foreign currencies. These derivative contracts are initially recognized at fair value on the date the contract is entered into and subsequently re-measured at their fair value. The counterparties for these contracts are banks. The details of outstanding forward contracts are as follows:

Financial Instruments - Fair Value Measurements

(i) The fair value of financial instruments are the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in an arms length transaction between two knowledgeable willing parties.

(ii) Fair value of cash and short-term deposits, security deposits, trade and other short term receivables, trade payables, other current financial liabilities, short term loans from banks and other financial institutions approximate their carrying amounts largely due to the short-term maturities of these instruments. Hence the fair values are not disclosed.

(iii) Financial instruments with fixed and variable interest rates are evaluated by the Company based on parameters such as interest rates and individual credit worthiness of the counterparty. Based on this evaluation, allowances are taken to account for the expected losses of these receivables.

(iv) Various inputs are used in determining the fair value of financial instruments that are :

a) recognised and measured subsequently at fair value, or

b) recognised and measured subsequently at amortised cost for which fair values are disclosed in the financial statements.

(v) Fair value measurements are categorized into Level 1, 2 or 3 based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurements are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

All amounts are in ₹ lakhs

Level 1 - Inputs are quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company can access at the measurement date. This includes investment in Mutual fund units that are valued using closing NAVs.

Level 2 - The fair value of the instruments that are not traded in active markets are determined using valuation techniques which maximise the use of observable market data either directly or indirectly.

This includes the fair valuation of liability component of preference share capital & debentures for which risk adjusted G-Sec interest rates are used for the purpose of fair valuation.

Level 3 - The inputs used to measure the financial instruments are not based on observable market data. resulting in a significant increase in discount rate which has an effect on the recorded fair value of the instrument. The Company does not have any financial instruments falling under Level-3.

Internal Audit undertakes reviews of risk management controls and procedures, the results of which are reported to the Audit Committee.

Credit Risk:

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the company if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations and arises principally from the Company's trade receivables, treasury operations and other activities that are in the nature of leases.

Trade Receivables and Deposits

The Company's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by individual characteristics of each customer. Credit risk is managed through credit approvals, establishing credit limits and continuously monitoring the credit worthiness of the customers to which the Company grants credit terms in the normal course of the business.

Cash and bank balances and other investments

In the area of treasury operations, the Company is presently exposed to counter party risks relating to short term and medium term deposits placed with public sector bank, and also investments made in mutual funds. The Company considers that the cash and bank balances and investments in mutual funds have low credit risks based on the external credit ratings of the counter parties.

Exposure to credit risk

The gross carrying amount of financial assets, net of any impairment losses recognised represents the maximum credit exposure. The maximum exposure to credit risk as at March 31, 2017, March 31, 2016 and April 01, 2015 are as follows:

Financial Assets	As at March 31, 2017	As at March 31, 2016	As at April 01, 2015
Investments (Refer Note 12)	1044.03	976.21	902.12
Trade Receivables (Refer Note 13)	6385.51	4168.31	4617.86
Cash and bank balances (Refer Note 14)	1775.00	22.28	13.25
Loans (Refer Note 8& 15)	426.06	471.95	419.06
Other financial assets (Refer Note 9 & 16)	9257.02	453.87	63.87

Financial assets for which loss allowance is measured using simplified ECL model :

The Company considers the probability of default upon initial recognition of the financial assets and whether there has been significant increase in the credit risk on an ongoing basis throughout the reporting period.

The company follows a "Simplified Approach" for recognition of loss allowance for Expected Credit Loss (ECL) for trade receivables or any contractual right to receive cash or another financial assets arising out of its operating activities. To assess whether there is significant increase in the credit risk, the company measures the credit quality of the financial assets as on the reporting date to that at the date of initial recognition by taking into consideration reasonable and supportive forward looking information like :

1) Any significant adverse change in the business.
2) Any significant change in the financials status of the counter party.
3) Any financial or economic condition of the country that significantly changes the counterparty's ability to meet its contractual obligations.
4) Any significant increase in the credit risk in other financial instruments of the same counterparty.
5) Significant change in the value of the collateral supporting the obligation or in the quality of the third party guarantees or credit enhancements.

Under the Simplified Approach , recognition of impairment loss for trade receivables or any contractual rights to receive cash or another financial assets that result from transactions arising out of its operations is based on the lifetime ECL at each reporting date. The lifetime ECL is entire amount of loss expected on the financial asset during its lifetime as on the reporting date either due to non-payment by the customers and or due to delay in payment by the customers.

The Company uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on the portfolio of trade receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historical credit loss experience over the expected life of the trade receivables and is adjusted for forward looking estimates considering the type of Public or Private and a judgmental evaluation of the collectability of the receivables based on the past due experience.

At every reporting date, the historical credit loss experience is reviewed and updated and changes in the forwarding looking information are analysed.

Liquidity Risks

Liquidity Risk is defined as the risk that the Company will not be able to settle or meet its obligations as per the terms of the agreement or contract. Adverse contractual payment terms or delay in making payments by the customers lead to pressure on the working capital. The Company manages such a situation by close monitoring of the cash flows at the project level and regular follow up with the customers for release of payments. The company's treasury team under the close supervision of the Corporate Treasury team of the Holding Company CFO monitors the liquidity position of the company by judicious use of the credit limits granted by the Banks and deployment of short term from the Holding company for funding its temporary net working capital gap. The liquidity position of the Company is closely monitored and reviewed by the senior management of the Company on a regular basis through analysis of Net working capital position.

Market Risks

Market risk is the risk of loss in future earnings, future cash flows and fair values of the financial instruments of the Company arising from movements in market price. The value of the financial instruments may change as a result of changes in the foreign currency exchange rates (foreign currency risks), interest rate (interest rate risk), and other market changes (price risks) that effect financial performance of the Company. Market risks is attributable to all market risk sensitive financial instruments including investment and deposits, foreign currency receivables, payables and loans and borrowings.

a) Foreign Currency Risks: Foreign Currency risk that the fair value or the future cash flow of the financial instruments fluctuates because in the movement of the foreign currency rates in relation to functional currency (INR) of the Company. The Company's exposure to the risk in changes in the foreign exchange rates primarily relates to the business activities denominated in a foreign currency like exports, import of raw materials, components, equipment, other services and trade related foreign currency borrowings. The Company uses hedging instruments as a part of its management of foreign currency risk associated with its highly probable purchase transactions in foreign currency. The company manages its foreign currency exposure by entering into foreign exchange forward contracts, which are designated as cash flow hedges, to hedge foreign currency risk exposures for balancing the risk and optimizing the hedging cost. Derivatives are used for hedging purpose and not for any trading or speculative transactions.

- Set up of lighting distribution network dedicated by independent lighting transformers resulting in savingof energy and increase in life of luminaries.
- Use of intelligent office lighting and air-conditioning systems to save energy
- Extensive use of poly carbonate translucent sheetson shop roofs to get natural light of around 1000 lux in day time thus saving power in day time inside shop area.
- Use of high masts for area lighting, eliminating street lights
- Installation of 44 KWp Roof Top Solar Power Plant in Administration Building resulting in annual Renewable/GREEN Energy Source having power generation of around 57600 KWh.
- Constructed Administration Building with concept of GREEN Buildingresulting in Platinum rating.
- Used VFD for FES motors and cranes to improve motor efficiency and enhance energy saving.
- Use of energy efficient re-generative furnace burner technology to save 25-30 % energy (natural gas).
- Used new-generation energy efficient air compressors.
- Mist cooling system set up in place of conventional cooling tower to save energy consumed by fan.
- Optimum boiler chimney height to avoid need of ID fans
- Selected refrigerant type air-dryers instead of externally heated desiccant air- dryers to save energy
- Selection of single primary pumping circuit instead of double circuit (primary-secondary) for cooling tower thus saving the power-cost of double pumping.
- Trimming of impellers of various utility pumps appropriately while maintaining flow & pressure as per design, resulting in power saving of 340 KWh / Hrs.
- Modified operation timing of EAF panel cooling water pumps based on real-time temperature feedback, resulting in saving of power 268 KWh/Heat operation.
- Modified operation of cooling tower fans based on real-time temperature feedback, resulting in power savings
- Pump P1 motor (30 KW) converted from "Delta" to "Star" which is running 24 Hrs. for compressor cooling water, resulted in 780KWh/month.
- Forging press oil cooling system operation optimized based on real-time temperature feed-back
- HT &LT capacitor bank installed resulting in improvement in Power Factor
- Saved NG consumption in boilers by using nitrogen purging system on non-production days; earlier the Boilers were being kept under pressurized condition using NG gas firing. This has resulted in savings in NG consumption.
- Power consumption for compressed air generation reduced by reducing the air pressure. Also eliminated use of compressed air for cooling of HT sight glasses.
- Number of fans reduced from 6 to 3 in Forced Draft Cooling Operation in FES system
- Optimized loading of Fume Extraction System to reduce No-load loss
- Number of LRF cooling water pumps reduced from 2 to 1 thus optimized power consumption
- Optimized loading of transformers to reduce No-load loss
- Magnetic resonators installed in NG Pipelines of RH furnaces for better combustion performance resulting in savings in energy consumption
- Modification of Ladle pre-heaters and installation of higher efficiency burner & waste-heat recuperator resulting in lower NG consumption
- Reviewed complete compressed air circuit to arrest air leakages, installed pressure regulators, isolated area not requiring compressed air thus reducing total air demand, resulting in power savings
- Optimized usage of RO plant to reduce power consumption
- Installed small 90 TR chiller to augment water quenching operations and to substitute use of NG at low C.O.P. to chill the administration building when waste heat was not available from furnaces
- Investment in additional furnaces suitable for small forgings, to optimize gas consumption

- Roof-top rain water collection and storage was implemented – approx. 4500 m3 water was collected, saving equivalent drawal from river, and its pumping cost
- Magnetic resonators have been installed on NG lines of both steam boilers, vertical ladle pre-heater VAM chiller and heat-pump in boiler-house, saving NG consumption by average 3% in these equipment
- Installed small 75 KW capacity screw air compressor to cater to low plant load conditions, instead of operating 315 KW compressor in unload condition. As this new compressor is an air-cooled unit, we have switched to 7.5 KW cooling water pump instead of 30 KW pump for only air-dryer cooling.
- Installation of facility to inject silicon at EAF resulting in power consumption savings
- Reduced Press motor consumption by 10% in Press by optimizing process practices.
- Melting operations in night time when surplus power is available in the grid, thus optimally utilizing the energy resource

(b) Additional investments and proposals , if any , being implemented for reduction of consumption of energy:

- Installation side oxy-fuel burners in EAF
- Cooling-less ignition sensor arrangement in RH furnace burners.
- Replacement of existing burner in Vertical Ladle Pre-heater with a smaller higher efficiency burner
- Modification of feed-water piping in boiler-house to operate one single boiler instead of two, during VIC heats.
- Installation of small air-compressor (15KW) in machine-shop to reduce power consumption of larger compressors during low off take of air in plant.
- Installation of a small pressure sand filter to keep cooling tower water in clean condition; this will help reduce the blow-down water quantity substantially, and reduce fresh water make-up demand as well as power consumption in the WTP.

(c) Impact of measures at (a) and (b) above for reduction of energy consumption and consequent impact on the cost of production of goods

- Measures taken are likely to result in savings in energy consumption, reduction in carbon emission and cost of production.

(d) Total energy consumption and energy consumption per unit of production as per Form-Aof the Annexure to the Rules in respect of Industries specified in the schedule thereto:

[B] TECHNOLGY ABSORBTION:

Efforts made in technology absorption as per Form B

FORM B – (Disclosure of particulars with respect to Technology Absorption)

RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT (R&D)

1. Specified area in which R&D carried out by the Company:

- Experiments being done in the areas of Heat treatment operations with the help of experts from IITs/NITs.
- Simulation of Ingot casting using “Pro-cast”
- Simulation of Forgings process using “Simu-fact”
- Developing special grades of steel for defense and Nuclear
- Developing pure iron forgings for magnets (health sector)

2. Benefits derived as a result of above R&D:
   - This helps improve the processes and better understanding of material properties.

3. Future plan of action:
   - The company intends to develop technology in the area of
     - Rotor forgings for Power Plants above 500MW
     - SG Iron castings
     - Horizontal ring rolling facility
     - Centrifugal casting facility
     - Extrusion/ pullout of large nozzles/ shells
     - Two-piece dished-ends

4. Expenditure on R&D:
   - During the financial year, the Company has not spent any significantamount towards R&D.

Technology Absorption, Adaptation and Innovation:

1. Efforts in brief made towards technology absorption, adaptation and innovation:
   - Interaction with external agencies / consultants for exposure to the latest products, designs, manufacturing technologies, processes and engineering protocols
   - Active participation in international forge masters meet (IFM)
   - Knowledge sharing through national and international conferences, seminars and exhibitions
   - Collaborative efforts with educational / research institutions for research projects – M Tech. projects with IIT/NIT and other institutions
   - Use of the state- of- the- art equipment, instrument and software
   - Analyzing feedback from users to improve processes and services
   - Interaction with international bodies like ASME. API for improvements in technical specifications for forgings

2. Benefits derived as a result of the above efforts, e.g. product improvement, cost reduction, product development, import substitution, etc:
   - Indigenization (import substitution) of heavy forgings required in critical equipments in hydrocarbon industry and nuclear power plants
   - Establishment of state- of- the art laboratory facilities for metallurgical, mechanical and chemical testing including NABL certification

3. Information regarding technology imported during the last 5 years:
   The company has imported technology from Japan Steel Works during last three years and it will be absorbed by the company over a period of time.

[C] FOREIGN EXCHANGE EARNINGS AND OUTGO:

Activities relating to exports, initiatives taken to increase exports; development of new exports markets for products and services; and the export plans.

Overview:

The company has started its commercial operations in October 2012. The company has been set up with the purpose of making of high quality forgings, required in critical equipments in hydrocarbon industry and in nuclear power plants. This will not only reduce the dependence on foreign suppliers but also save valuable foreign exchange for the country.

A few initiatives detailed:

The following initiatives are being followed on a continuous basis by the Company-

1. Identifying areas for exports opportunities and import substitutions
2. Implementation of internal processes towards operational excellence and creating a high performance organization
3. Using L&T group's international net-work to spread awareness of the Company's facilities and capabilities

FORM NO. MR-3

FOR THE FINANCIAL YEAR ENDED 31ST MARCH, 2017

[Pursuant to section 204(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 and Rule No. 9 of the Companies (Appointment and Remuneration of Managerial Personnel) Rules, 2014]

To,
The Members,
L&T SPECIAL STEELS AND HEAVY FORGINGS PRIVATE LIMITED

We have conducted the Secretarial Audit of the compliance of applicable statutory provisions and the adherence to good corporate practices by L&T Special Steels and Heavy Forgings Private Limited (hereinafter called "the Company").

Secretarial Audit was conducted in a manner that provided us a reasonable basis for evaluating the corporate conduct, statutory compliances and expressing our opinion thereon.

Based on the verification of the Company's statutory registers, books, papers, minute books, forms and returns filed and other records maintained by the Company and the information provided by the Company, its officers, agents and authorized representatives during the conduct of secretarial audit, we hereby report that in our opinion, the Company has, during the audit period covering the financial year ended on 31st March, 2017 complied with the statutory provisions listed hereunder and also that the Company has followed proper Board-processes and have required compliance mechanism in place to the extent, in the manner and subject to the reporting made hereinafter:

We have examined the books, papers, minute books, forms and returns filed and other records maintained by the Company for the financial year ended on 31st March, 2017 according to the provisions of:

(i) The Companies Act, 2013 (the Act) and the rules made thereunder;

(ii) The Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 ('SCRA') and the rules made thereunder - Not Applicable to the Company;

(iii) The Depositories Act, 1996 and the Regulations and Bye-laws framed thereunder - Not Applicable to the Company;

(iv) Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 and the rules and regulations made thereunder to the extent of Foreign Direct Investment, Overseas Direct Investment and External Commercial Borrowings, as applicable;

(v) The following Regulations and Guidelines prescribed under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 ('SEBI Act'):-

   a) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011 - Not Applicable to the Company;

   b) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Prohibition of Insider Trading) Regulations, 2015 - Not Applicable to the Company;

   c) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2009- Not Applicable to the Company;

   d) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Share Based Employee Benefits) Regulations, 2014 - Not Applicable to the Company;

   e) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue and Listing of Debt Securities) Regulations, 2008 - Not Applicable to the Company;

   f) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Registrars to an Issue and Share Transfer Agents) Regulations, 1993 regarding the Companies Act and dealing with client Not applicable as the Company is not registered as Registrar to issue and Share Transfer Agent during the financial year under review;

   g) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Delisting of Equity Shares) Regulations, 2009 - Not Applicable to the Company; and

   h) The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Buyback of Securities) Regulations, 1998 - Not Applicable to the Company.

(vi) Other specific business/industry related laws applicable to the Company - The Company has complied with the provisions of the Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981 and the rules and standards made thereunder, Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974 and Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Rules, 1975, Environment Protection Act, 1986 and the rules, notifications issued thereunder, Factories Act, 1948 and the other applicable general laws, rules, regulations and guidelines.

We have also examined compliance with the applicable clauses of the following:

(i) Secretarial Standards with regard to Meeting of Board of Directors (SS-1) and General Meetings (SS-2) issued by The Institute of Company Secretaries of India; and

(ii) Listing Agreements entered into by the Company with the Stock Exchanges - Not Applicable to the Company.

During the period under review the Company has complied with the provisions of the Act, Rules, Regulations, Guidelines, Standards, etc. mentioned above and there are no material non-compliances that have come to our knowledge.

We further report that

The Board of Directors of the Company is duly constituted with proper balance of Executive Directors, Non-Executive Directors and Independent Directors. The changes in the composition of the Board of Directors that took place during the period under review were carried out in compliance with the provisions of the Act.

Adequate notice is given to all directors to schedule the Board Meetings, agenda and detailed notes on agenda were sent at least seven days in advance, and a system exists for seeking and obtaining further information and clarifications on the agenda items before the meeting and for meaningful participation at the meeting.

As per the minutes of the meetings duly recorded and signed by the Chairman, the decisions of the Board were unanimous and no dissenting views have been recorded.

We further report that, there are adequate systems and processes in the Company commensurate with the size and operations of the Company to monitor and ensure compliance with applicable laws, rules, regulations and guidelines. As informed, the Company has responded appropriately to communication received from various statutory / regulatory authorities including initiating actions for corrective measures, wherever found necessary.

We further report that during the audit period the company, the following events / actions have taken place which have a major bearing on the company's affairs in pursuance of the above referred laws, rules, regulations, guidelines and standards:-

The Company's borrowing powers were increased to ₹ 2025 Crores by the Shareholders of the Company.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

LTSSHF is a joint venture (JV) of Larsen & Toubro Limited (L&T) and Nuclear Power Corporation of India Limited (NCPIL), with L&T and NPCIL holding 74% and 26% stakes respectively.

The JV was formed to set up a fully integrated forging facility (from steel scrap to finished forgings of alloy steels, carbon steel &stainless steels) with a capacity to produce a single piece ingot up to 300 MT and forgings up to 120 MT in the first phase. These are required for critical equipment in nuclear power and hydrocarbon industry, for rotors in power industry, blocks for oil & gas segment and for general engineering applications. TheJVis a major strategic step towards achieving India's independence from imports of heavy forgings for Nuclear Power Plants and ensuring timely supply of heavy forgings for hydrocarbon sector.

Business Scenario:

The demand for heavy forgings is a dependent on the outlook of the industry segments comprising refineries,petrochemicals, thermal and nuclear power, hydro power and other industries like steel. The Company has been witnessing fierce competition from global established players having excess capacities. The domestic sectors in the fields of nuclear and defence are expected to grow in coming years. Make in India campaign is also likely to have positive impact on domestic manufacturing sector.

The Company has been successful in getting approvals and qualifications from many key customers. The Company has been successful in manufacturing ofhigh quality Stainless Steel grade forgings required for International Thermonuclear Experimental Reactor (ITER) and all critical forgings for 700 MW domestic nuclear power program. The Company is also developing special grade steels and forgings for domestic strategic programs.

The Company has been manufacturing heavy forgings forrefineries,petrochemical and fertilizer plants. The Company has made successful supplies of Blow out Preventers (BOP) and forged blocks required for oil &gas segment

The Company is focusing on stabilizing the production processes and improve manufacturing efficiencies so as to remain competitive in the market. A series of initiatives have been takenin the areas of cost control and improving process efficiencies.

The Company has embarked on establishment of Quality Systems in the new facility, complying with ISO 9001. The Company has been accredited by NABL certification for laboratories.

The strategic focus of the Company remains to fillthe technological and manufacturing gap in the country for critical heavy forgings for nuclear, strategic, defence and other engineering sectors. The Company has demonstrated its capabilityto manufacture critical forgings for the Indian Pressurized Heavy Water Reactor (PHWR) plants. Ithas also taken up the development of the critical forgings for thenext generation IPWR - nuclear plants. Discussions are on with foreign technology partners for possible development of forgings to meet their specifications for future Indian nuclear installations.

We have audited the accompanying Ind AS Financial Statements of L&T Special Steels and Heavy Forgings Private Limited ("the Company"), which comprise the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2017, the Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the Statement of Cash Flows and the Statement of Changes in Equity for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as "Ind AS Financial Statements").

2. MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in Section 134 (5) of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") with respect to the preparation of these Ind AS Financial Statements that give a true and fair view of the state of affairs (financial position), profit or loss (financial performance including other comprehensive income), cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards ("Ind AS") prescribed under Section 133 of the Act, read with Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015.

This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Ind AS Financial Statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

3. AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITY

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these Ind AS Financial Statements based on our audit.

We have taken into account the provisions of the Act, the accounting and auditing standards and matters which are required to be included in the audit report under the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder.

We conducted our audit of the Ind AS Financial Statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing specified under Section 143 (10) of the Act. Those Standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Ind AS Financial Statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the Ind AS Financial Statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal financial control relevant to the Company's preparation of the Ind AS Financial Statements that give a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of the accounting estimates made by the Company's Directors as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the Ind AS Financial Statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Ind AS Financial Statements.

4. OPINION

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid Ind AS Financial Statements give the information required by the Act in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India including the Ind AS, of the state of affairs (financial position) of the Company as at March 31, 2017, and its loss (financial performance including other comprehensive income) its cash flows and the changes in equity for the year ended on that date.

OF EVEN DATE ON THE IND ASFINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF L&T SPECIAL STEELS AND HEAVY FORGINGS PRIVATE LIMITED

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of L & T Special Steels and Heavy Forgings Private Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the Ind AS Financial Statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS Financial Statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of the Ind AS Financial Statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that

(1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;

(2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of the Ind AS Financial Statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and

(3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the Ind AS Financial Statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2017, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

29: SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

1. Statement of compliance

The Company's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs in respect of sections 133 read with section 469 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013).

These financial statements include the balance sheet, the statement of profit and loss, the statement of changes in equity and the statement of cashflows and notes, comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information–and comparative information in respect of the preceding period.

Up to the year ended March 31, 2016, the Company prepared its financial statements in accordance with the requirements of generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) in compliance withAccounting Standards as specified in the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006 read with Rule 7(1) of the Companies (Accounts) Rules,2014 issued by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs in respect of Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013. These are the Company's first Ind AS financial Statements. The date of transition to Ind AS is April 1, 2015.

The company has adopted all the Ind AS and the adoption was carried out in accordance with Ind AS 101 First-time Adoption of Indian Accounting Standards.

Refer Note 30.1 for the details of first time adoption exemptions availed by the Company.

These financial statements are approved for issue by the company's Board of Directors on May 5, 2017.

2. Basis of accounting

The Company maintains its accounts on accrual basis following the historical cost convention except that the carrying value of all the items of property, plant and equipment as on date of transition is considered as the deemed cost and except certain financial instruments that are measured at fair values in accordance with Ind AS. Further, the guidance notes/ announcements issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) are also considered, wherever applicable except to the extent where compliance with other statutory promulgations overrides the same requiring a different treatment.

Fair value measurements are categorized into Level 1, 2 or 3 based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurements are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

- Level1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that entity can access at measurement date
- Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included in Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability

3. Presentation of financial statements

The financial statements(except Statement of Cash-flow) are prepared and presented in the format prescribed in the Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act"). The Statement of Cash Flow has been prepared and presented as per the requirements of Ind AS 7 "Statement of Cash flows". The disclosure requirements with respect to items in the financial statements, as prescribed in the Schedule III to the Act, are presented by way of notes forming part of accounts along with the other notes required to be disclosed under the notified Accounting Standards. Amounts in the financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees in Lakhs in line with the requirements of Schedule III. Per share data are presented in Indian Rupees to two decimals places.

4. Operating cycle for current and non-current classification

All assets and liabilities are presented as Current or Non-current as per the Company's normal operating cycle. Based on the nature of the products and the time between acquisition of assets for processing and their realization, the Company has ascertained its operating cycle as 12 months for the purpose of Current / Non-current classification of assets and liabilities.

Operating cycle for the business activities of the Company covers the duration of the specific project/contract/product line/service including the defect liability period, wherever applicable and extends up to the realization of receivables (including retention monies) within the agreed credit period normally applicable to the respective lines of business.

5. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized based on nature of activity when consideration can be reasonably measured and there exists reasonable certainty of its recovery. Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and is reduced for customer returns, rebates and other similar allowances. The price that is regularly charged for an item when sold in an arm's length transaction is the best evidence of its fair value.

A. Revenue fromoperations

a. Sale of goods

Revenue includes excise duty and adjustments made towards liquidated damages and price variation wherever applicable. Escalation and other claims, which are not ascertainable/acknowledged by customers, are not taken into account. Revenue from the sale of goods is recognised when the goods are delivered and titles have passed, at which time all the following conditions are satisfied:

i. Significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods are transferred to the buyer;

ii. The Company retains neither continuing managerial involvement to the degree usually associated with ownership nor effective control over the good sold;

iii. The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;

iv. It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company; and

v. the costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably

In case of export sales, sales are accounted on the basis of the date of bill of lading/airways bill.

b. Rendering of services

Revenue from rendering services is recognised when the outcome of a transaction can be estimated reliably by reference to the stage of completion of the transaction. The outcome of a transaction can be estimated reliably when all the following conditions are satisfied:

i. The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;

ii. It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company; and

iii. the stage of completion of the transaction at the end of the reporting period can be measured reliably; and

iv. the costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably

Stage of completion is determined by the proportion of actual costs incurred to date to the estimated total costs of the transaction.

c. Revenue from construction/project related activity and contracts (fixed price) for supply/commissioning of complex plant and equipment is recognised only to the extent of cost incurred that it is probable will be recoverable till such time the outcome of the job cannot be ascertained reliably. When the outcome of the contract is ascertained reliably, contract revenue is recognized at cost of work performed on the contract plus proportionate margin, using the percentage of completion method. Percentage of completion is the proportion of cost of work performed to-date, to the total estimated contract costs.

Expected loss, if any, on the construction/project related activity is recognized as an expense in the period in which it is foreseen, irrespective of the stage of completion of the contract. While determining the amount of foreseeable loss, all elements of costs and related incidental income not included in contract revenue are taken into consideration.

d. Revenue from engineering and service fees is recognised as per the terms of the contract.

B. Other operational revenue

Other operational revenue represents income earned from the activities incidental to the business and is recognised when the right to receive the income is established as per the terms of the contract.

C. Other Income

a. Interest income is accrued on a time basis by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

b. Government Grants - The Company has recognized two types of Government Grants reflected in the Ind AS Financial statements-

1. Grant received in the nature of part compensation for purchase of a fixed asset is recognized in the profit & loss account on a systematic basis over the life of the non-monetary asset acquired by the company.

2. Grant received in the nature of concessions in the statutory dues - Government grants towards non-monetary nature recognized at fair value is recognized as deferred income. This deferred income is recognized in the Profit & Loss account over the years on a systematic basis.

Other items of income are accounted as and when the right to receive arises and it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the amount of income can be measured reliably

6. Property, plant and equipment (PPE)

PPE is recognized when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can measured reliably. PPE is stated at cost net of tax/duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated depreciation and cumulative impairment. Specific know-how fees paid, if any, relating to plant & equipment is treated as a part of cost thereof. Cost includes professional fees and, for qualifying assets, borrowing costs capitalized in accordance with the Company's accounting policy.

For transition to Ind AS, the carrying value of PPE under previous GAAP as on April 1,2015 is regarded as itscost. The carrying value was original costless accumulated depreciation and cumulative impairment.

Own manufactured PPE iscapitalized at cost including an appropriate share of overheads.

Administrative and other general overhead expenses that are specifically attributable to construction or acquisition of PPE or bringing the PPE to working condition are allocated and capitalized as a part of the cost of the PPE.

PPE not ready for the intended use on the date of the Balance Sheet is disclosed as "capital work-in-progress". (Also refer to policy on leases, borrowing costs, impairment of assets and foreign currency transactions)

Depreciation is calculated, when the asset is in location and condition to operate as per its intended use, on a straight-line method, on the basis of the useful life as specified in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013, except in certain assets where the useful life was determined by technical evaluation.

	Useful life (in years) *
	Estimated Useful Life as per Schedule II of Companies Act	As on 01.04.2015		As on 31.03.2016		As on 31.03.2017
		Minimum	Maximum	Minimum	Maximum	Minimum	Maximum
Building	30	20	60	20	60	20	60
Roads	5	10	10	10	10	10	10
Plant & machinery	15	2.5	60	2.5	60	3	60
Laboratory equipment	8	6.5	8	6.5	8	6.5	8
Motor vehicle	7 to 10	7	10	7	10	7	10
Office equipment	5	5	5	5	5	5	5
Furniture & Fixtures	10	10	10	10	10	10	10
Computers	3	3	6	3	6	3	6
Lease Hold Land	99	99	99	99	99	99	99

The company has carried out assessment of useful lives of these assets and based on technical justification, different useful lives have been arrived at. The justification for adopting different useful life compared to the useful life of assets provided in Schedule II is based on the consumption pattern of the assets, past performance of similar assets and peer industry comparison duly supported by technical assessment by a Chartered Engineer.

Depreciation method is reviewed at each financial year end to reflect expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the asset.

Where cost of a part of the asset (“asset component”) is significant to total cost of the asset and useful life of that part is different from the useful life of the remaining asset, useful life of that significant part is determined separately and such asset component is depreciated over its separate useful life. Depreciation for additions to/deductions from, owned assets is calculated pro rata on the basis of number of months.

Depreciation charge for impaired assets is adjusted in future periods in such a manner that the revised carrying amount of the asset is allocated over its remaining useful life.

The assets with value less than ₹ 5000/- are depreciated 100% in the year of capitalization.

Leasehold land is amortized over the period of lease.

7. Intangible assets

Intangible assets are stated at original cost net of tax/duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated amortisation and cumulative impairment. Intangible assets are recognised when it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the asset will flow to the enterprise and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Administrative and other general overhead expenses that are specifically attributable to acquisition of intangible assets are allocated and capitalised as a part of the cost of the intangible assets.

Intangible assets are amortised as follows:

a. Specialized software isamortized over a period of 6 years.

b. Lump-sum fees for foreign know-how are amortized over a period of 6 years.

c. Gas/water pipelines costs are amortized over the period of agreement to use, but not exceeding 10 years.

Administrative and other general overhead expenses that are specifically attributable to acquisition of intangible assets are allocated and capitalized as part of the cost of intangible assets.

Intangible assets not ready for the intended use on the date of the Balance Sheet are disclosed as ‘Intangible Assets under Development’.

Amortization on impaired assets, if any, is provided by adjusting the amortization charges in the remaining periods so as to allocate the asset’s revised carrying amount over its remaining useful life.

8. Impairment of assets

As at each Balance Sheet date, the carrying amount of assets is tested for impairment so as to determine:

(a) The provision for impairment loss, if any; and

(b) The reversal of impairment loss recognized in the previous periods, if any.

Impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount.

Recoverable amount is determined:

(a) In the case of an individual asset, at the higher of the net selling price and the value in use;

(b) In the case of a cash generating unit (a group of assets that generates identified, independent cash-flows), at the higher of the cash generating unit’s fair value less costs of disposal and the value in use.

(Value in use is determined as the present value of estimated future cash flows from the continuing use of an asset and from its disposal at the end of its useful life).

9. Employee benefits

The company has set up Employees’ Group Gratuity –cum-Life Assurance Scheme with Life Insurance Corporation of India.

The Contribution for Provident Fund is done to Regional Provident Fund Commissioner.

The following are the company policies on employee benefits-

a) Short Term Employee Benefit

All employee benefits falling due wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short term employee benefits. The benefits like salaries, wages, short term compensated absences etc. and the expected bonus, ex-gratia are recognized in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

b) Post-employment benefits

i. Defined contribution Plan: - State governed Provident Fund scheme and employee pension scheme are defined contribution plans. The contribution paid/payable under the schemes is recognized during the period in which the employee renders related service.

The Company contributes towards pension scheme and provident fund for employees, an amount equal to amount contributed by the employees towards provident fund. The Contributionsare done to Regional Provident Fund Commissioner.

ii. Defined benefit Plan: The Employees' Group Gratuity-cum-Life Assurance Scheme with Life Insurance Corporation of India is the Company's defined benefit Plan. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plan is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rate used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans, is based on the market yield on government securities of a maturity period equivalent to the weighted average maturity profile of the related obligations at the Balance Sheet date.

Re-measurement, comprising actuarial gains and losses, the return on plan assets (excluding net interest) and any change in the effect of asset ceiling (if applicable) are recognized in other comprehensive income and is reflected immediately in retained earnings and is not reclassified to profit & loss.

The interest element in the actuarial valuation of defined benefit plans, which comprises the implicit interest cost and the impact of changes in discount rate, is classified under finance cost. The balance charge is recognised as employee benefit expenses in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognise the obligation on a net basis.

Gains or losses on the curtailment or settlement of any defined benefit plan are recognised when the curtailment or settlement occurs. Past service cost is recognised as expense at the earlier of the plan amendment or curtailment and when the Company recognises related restructuring costs or termination benefits.

c) Long term employee benefits:

The obligation for long term employee benefits such as long term compensated absences; long service award etc. is recognised in the similar manner as in the case of defined benefit plans as mentioned in (b) (ii) supra.

d) Termination benefits:

Termination benefits if any are recognized as expense in the same year when it occurs.

10. Leases

The determination of whether an agreement is, or contains, a lease is based on the substance of the agreement at the date of inception.

Finance Leases:

Leases under which the company assumes substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance leases. When acquired, such assets are capitalized at fair value or present value of the minimum lease payments at the inception of the lease, whichever is lower.

Operating leases:

Assets acquired on leases where a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are retained by the lessor are classified as operating leases. Lease rentals are charged to the Profit and Loss Account on accrual basis.

11. Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the Company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments. Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

Financial Assets

All recognised financial assets are subsequently measured in their entirety at amortised cost. The Company has no financial assets classified under FVOCI/FVTPL.

A financial asset is primarily derecognized whenthe rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a pass-through arrangement; and with a)the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or b) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

Impairment of financial assets: The Company applies the expected credit loss model for recognising impairment loss on financial assets measured at amortised cost& trade receivables and other contractual rights to receive cash or other financial asset.

Expected credit loss on trade receivables are provided based on forward looking information and past experience.

Financial Liabilities

Financial liabilities are classified at initial recognition, as loans and borrowings, payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate. All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

Loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortised costs using EIR.

Financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires.

The Company designates certain hedging instruments, which include derivatives, embedded derivatives and non-derivatives in respect of foreign currency risk, as either fair value hedges or cash flow hedges. Hedges of foreign exchange risk on firm commitments, if applicable, are accounted for as cash flow hedges.

Changes in fair value of the designated portion of derivatives that qualify as fair value hedges are recognized in profit or loss immediately, together with any changes in the fair value of the hedged asset or liability that are attributable to the hedged risk.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. The fair value adjustment to the carrying amount of the hedged item arising from the hedged risk is amortised to profit or loss from that date.

The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated under the heading of cash flow hedging reserve. The gain or loss relating to the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in profit or loss.

Amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity relating to (effective portion as described above) are reclassified to profit or loss in the periods when the hedged item affects profit or loss, in the same line as the recognized hedged item.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. Any gain or loss recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity at that time remains in equity and is recognised when the forecast transaction is ultimately recognised in profit or loss. When a forecast transaction is no longer expected to occur, the gain or loss accumulated in equity is recognised immediately in profit or loss.

12. Inventories

Inventories are valued after providing for obsolescence, as under:

a) Raw materials, components, construction materials, stores, spares and loose tools at lower of weighted average cost or net realisable value. However, these items are considered to be realisable at cost if the finished products in which they will be used are expected to be sold at or above cost.

b) Manufacturing work-in-progress at lower of weighted average cost including related overheads or net realisable value. In some cases, manufacturing work-in-progress is valued at lower of specifically identifiable cost or net realisable value. In the case of qualifying assets, cost also includes applicable borrowing costs vide policy relating to borrowing costs.

c) Finished goods at lower of weighted average cost or net realisable value. Cost includes related overheads and excise duty paid/ payable on such goods.

Assessment of net realisable value is done in each subsequent period and when the circumstances that previously caused inventories to be written down below cost no longer exist or when there is clear evidence of an increase in net realisable value because of changed economic circumstances, the amount of the write-down is reversed (i.e. the reversal is limited to the amount of the original write-down) so that the new carrying amount is the lower of the cost and the revised net realisable value.

13. Cash and bank balances

Cash and bank balances also include fixed deposits, margin money deposits, earmarked balances with banks and other bank balances which have restrictions on repatriation, if any.

14. Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs include interest expense calculated using the effective interest method, finance charges in respect of assets acquired on finance lease and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings, to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs.

Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalised/inventorised as part of cost of such asset till such time the asset is ready for its intended use or sale. A qualifying asset is an asset that necessarily requires a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale. All other borrowing costs are recognised in profit or lossin the period in which they are incurred.

15. Foreign currency transactions

a) The functional currency of the Company is Indian Rupee.

b) Foreign currency transactions are recorded on initial recognition using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction. At each Balance Sheet date, foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate.Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in foreign currency are not retranslated.Exchange differences that arise on settlement of monetary items or on reporting of monetary items at each Balance Sheet date at the closing rate arerecognizedinprofit or loss in the period in which they arise except for:

i. exchange differences on foreign currency borrowings relating to assets under construction for future productive use, which are included in the cost of those assets when they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs in a foreign currency not translated and

ii. exchange differences on transactions entered into in order to hedge certain foreign currency risks

16. Operating Segments

Operating segments are defined as components of an enterprise for which discrete financial information is available that is evaluated regularly by the chief operating decision maker, in deciding how to allocate resources and assessing performance, The Company's chief operating decision maker is the Chief Executive as decided by the Board of Directors.

The company has identified 2 operating segments viz. Forgings and Value Added Products.

The following specific accounting policies have been followed for segment reporting-

- Segment revenue includes sales and other income directly identifiable with/allocable to the segment including inter segment revenue
- Expenses that are directly identifiable with/allocable to segments are considered for determining the segment result. Expenses which relate to company as a whole and not allocable to segments are included under "un-allocable corporate expenditure".
- Income which relates to the Company as a whole and not allocable to segments is included in "un-allocable corporate income".
- Segment assets and liabilities include those directly identifiable with the respective segments. Un-allocable corporate assets and liabilities represent the assets and liabilities that relate to the Company as a whole and not allocable to any segment

Tax on income for the current period is determined on the basis of taxable income and tax credits computed in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act 1961, and based on the expected outcome of assessments/appeals.

Deferred tax is recognised on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the Company's financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in computation of taxable profit and quantified using the tax rates and laws enacted or substantively enacted as on the Balance Sheet date.

Deferred tax assets relating to unabsorbed depreciation/business losses/losses under the head "capital gains" are recognised and carried forward to the extent there is virtual certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

Other deferred tax assets are recognised and carried forward to the extent that there is a reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

Transaction or event which is recognised outside profit or loss, either in other comprehensive income or in equity, is recorded along with the tax as applicable.

18. Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognised only when:

a) An entity has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event.

b) it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and

c) a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation

Reimbursement expected in respect of expenditure required to settle a provision is recognised only when it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received.

Contingent liability is disclosed in case of:

a) A present obligation arising from past events, when it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation.

b) A present obligation arising from past events, when no reliable estimate is possible.

Contingent assets are disclosed where an inflow of economic benefits is probable. A brief description of the nature of the contingent assets, where an inflow of economic benefits is probable, and, where practicable, an estimate of their financial effect will be disclosed.

Provisions, contingent liabilities and Contingent Assets, if any, are disclosed in the Notes to Accounts and are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date.

19. Commitments

Commitments are liabilities for contractual expenditure. Commitments areclassified and disclosed as follows:

a) Estimated amount of contracts remaining to be executed on capital account and not provided for

b) Other non-cancellable commitments, if any, to the extent they are considered material and relevant in the opinion of management.

Other commitments related to sales/procurements/borrowings made in the normal course of business are not disclosed to avoid excessive details except as required under the relevant accounting standard.

20. Earnings per Share

Basic Earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the year are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

21. Cash Flow Statement

Cash flow statement is prepared segregating the cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities. Cash flow from operating activities is reported using indirect method.

Under the indirect method, the net profit is adjusted for the effects of:

i. Changes during the period in inventories and operating receivables and payables transactions of a non-cash nature.

ii. non-cash items such as depreciation, provisions, deferred taxes, unrealised foreign currency gains and losses, and undistributed profits of associates; and

iii. All other items for which the cash effects are investing or financing cash flows.

Cash and cash equivalents (including bank balances and bank overdrafts) are reflected as such in the Cash Flow Statement. Those cash and cash equivalents which are not available for general use as on the date of Balance Sheet are also included under this category with a specific disclosure.

22. Key sources of estimation uncertainty

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management of the Company makes estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of income and expenses of the period, the reported balances of assets and liabilities and the disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as of the date of the financial statements. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period to which it affects.

Examples of such estimates include the useful lives of property plant and equipment, Intangible assets, allowance for doubtful debts/advances, future obligations in respect of retirement benefit plans, provision for rectification costs, fair value measurement etc. difference, if any, between the actual results and estimates is recognised in the period in which the results are known.

23. Exceptional Items

On certain occasions, the size, type or incidence of an item of income or expense, pertaining to the ordinary activities of the Company, is such that its disclosure improves the understanding of the performance of the company. Such income or expense is classified as exceptional item and accordingly disclosed in the statement of Profit and Loss.

Note A: First time adoption of Ind AS

The Company has prepared opening balance sheet as per Ind AS as of April 1, 2015 (transition date) by recognising all assets and liabilities whose recognition is required by Ind AS, not recognising items of assets or liabilities which are not permitted by Ind AS, by reclassifying items from previous GAAP to Ind AS as required under Ind AS, and applying Ind AS in measurement of recognised assets and liabilities. However, this principle is subject to certain exceptions and certain optional exemptions availed by the Company as detailed below:

1. The Company has opted to continue with the carrying value for all of its PPE as recognised in its previous GAAP as deemed cost at the transition date.

2. The estimates as at 1st April 2015 and at 31st March 2016 for the purpose of Ind AS financial statements are consistent with those made for the same dates in accordance with the previous GAAP.

2.2 Financial Risk Management

The Company's activities expose to a variety of financial risks:credit risk, market risk and liquidity risk. The Company's primary focus is to foresee the unpredictability of financial markets and to minimize potential adverse effects on its financial performance. The primary market risk is foreign exchange risk and interest risk. The Company uses derivative financial instruments to mitigate foreign exchange related risks.

2.2.1 Credit Risk

Credit risk refers to risk of default on its obligations by the counterparty resulting in a financial loss. The maximum exposure to the credit risk at the reporting date is primarily from trade receivables. Trade receivables are typically unsecured and are derived from domestic customers. However a significant portion of sales is to related parties and to that extent risk is reduced. Credit risk is managed by the Company through credit approvals, establishing credit limits and continuously monitoring the creditworthiness of the customers to which the Company grants a credit in ordinary course of business. On account of adoption of Ind AS, the Company uses expected credit loss model to assess the impairment loss or gain. The Company uses a provision matrix to compute the expected credit loss allowance for trade receivables. The company has developed this matrix basis historical data as well as forward looking information pertaining to assessment of credit risk.

The primary risk is on account of movement in foreign currency rates as the Company has taken foreign currency loans and the Company also imports raw materials in the ordinary course of business. This risk of variation in exchange rates is mitigated through derivative instruments like forward contracts.

The other risk is on account of movement in interest rates.

In line with the Company's risk management policy, the financial risks related to change in foreign exchange rates, are hedged byusing a combination of forward contracts, swaps and other derivative contracts, besides the natural hedges.

Discount rate	8%	8%	8%
Salary growth	5%	5%	5%

Assumptions regarding future mortality experience are set in accordance with the published statistics by the Life Insurance Corporation of India. The discount rate is based on government security yield.

j. Sensitivity analysis:

Gratuity is a lump sum plan and the cost of providing these benefits is typically less sensitive to small changes in demographic assumptions. The key actuarial assumptions to which the benefit obligation results are particularly sensitive are discount rate and future salary escalation rate. The following table summarizes the impact in percentage terms on the reported defined benefit obligation at the end of the reporting period arising on account of an increase or decrease in the reported assumption by 50 basis points.

	For the yearended 31.3.2017
	Discount rate	Salary escalation rate
Impact of increase in 50 bps on Defined Benefit Obligation	(4.8%)	5.4%
Impact of decrease in 50 bps on Defined Benefit Obligation	5.3%	(4.9%)

These sensitivities have been calculated to show the movement in defined benefit obligation in isolation and assuming there are no other changes in market conditions at the accounting date. There have been no changes from the previous periods in the methods and assumptions used in preparing the sensitivity analyses.

DIRECTORS' BENEFITS

Neither at the end of the financial year, nor at any time during that period, did there subsist any arrangement to which the Company was a party, whereby the directors might acquire benefits by means of the acquisition of shares in or debentures of the Company or any other body corporate.

Since the end of the previous financial year, no director has received or become entitled to receive a benefit (other than benefits included in the aggregate amount of emoluments received or due and receivable by the directors or the fixed salary of a full-time employee of the Company as shown in Note 8 to the financial statements) by reason of a contract made by the Company or a related corporation with any director or with a firm of which he is a member, or with a company in which he has a substantial financial interest.

The total amount of insurance premium affected for any director and officers of the Company as at the financial year is Nil.

DIRECTORS' INTERESTS

According to the register of directors' shareholding, none of the directors have any interest in the shares of the Company or its immediate holding company at the end of the financial year.

OTHER STATUTORY INFORMATION

(a) Before the statements of comprehensive income and statements of financial position of the Group and of the Company were made out, the directors took reasonable steps:

  (i) to ascertain that proper action had been taken in relation to the writing off of bad debts and the making of provision for doubtful debts and satisfied themselves that all known bad debts had been written off and that adequate provision had been made for doubtful debts; and

  (ii) to ensure that any current assets which were unlikely to realise their values as shown in the accounting records in the ordinary course of business had been written down to an amount which they might be expected so to realise.

(b) At the date of this report, the directors are not aware of any circumstances which would render:

(i) the amount written off for bad debts or the amount of the provision for doubtful debts in the financial statements of the Group and of the Company inadequate to any substantial extent; and

(ii) the values attributed to the current assets in the financial statements of the Group and of the Company misleading.

(c) At the date of this report, the directors are not aware of any circumstances which have arisen which would render adherence to the existing method of valuation of assets or liabilities of the Group and of the Company misleading or inappropriate.

(d) At the date of this report, the directors are not aware of any circumstances not otherwise dealt with in this report or financial statements of the Group and of the Company which would render any amount stated in the financial statements misleading.

(e) At the date of this report, there does not exist:

(i) any charge on the assets of the Group or of the Company which has arisen since the end of the financial year which secures the liabilities of any other person; or

(ii) any contingent liability of the Group or of the Company which has arisen since the end of the financial year.

(f) In the opinion of the directors:

(i) no contingent or other liability has become enforceable or is likely to become enforceable within the period of twelve months after the end of the financial year which will or may affect the ability of the Group or of the Company to meet their obligations when they fall due; and

(ii) no item, transaction or event of a material and unusual nature has arisen in the interval between the end of the financial year and the date of this report which is likely to affect substantially the results of the operations of the Group or of the Company for the financial period in which this report is made.

AUDITORS

The auditors, Ernst & Young, have expressed their willingness to continue in office.

Auditors' remuneration are disclosed in Note 8 to the financial statements.

INDEMNIFICATION OF AUDITORS

To the extent permitted by law, the Company has agreed to indemnify its auditors, Ernst & Young, as part of the terms of its audit engagement against claims by third parties arising from the audit (for an unspecified amount). No payment has been made to indemnify Ernst & Young during or since the financial year.

Before me,

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE MEMBER OF TAMCO SWITCHGEAR (MALAYSIA) SDN BHD (INCORPORATED IN MALAYSIA)

Report on the audit of the financial statements

We have audited the financial statements of Tamco Swithchgear (Malaysia) Sdn Bhd, which comprise the statements of financial position as at 31 March 2017 of the Group and of the Company, and statements of comprehensive income, statements of changes in equity and statements of cash flows of the Group and of the Company for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies, as set out on pages 4529 to 4562.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Group and of the Company as at 31 March 2017, and of their financial performance and their cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards, International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the Companies Act, 2016 in Malaysia.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with approved standards on auditing in Malaysia and International Standards on Auditing. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Independence and other ethical responsibilities

We are independent of the Group and of the Company in accordance with the By-Laws (on Professional Ethics, Conduct and Practice) of the Malaysian Institute of Accountants ("By-Laws") and the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants ("IESBA Code"), and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the By-Laws and the IESBA Code.

Information other than the financial statements and auditors' report thereon

The directors of the Company are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the Directors' Report, but does not include the financial statements of the Group and of the Company and our auditors' report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements of the Group and of the Company does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements of the Group and of the Company, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements of the Group and of the Company or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of the directors for the financial statements

The directors of the Company are responsible for the preparation of financial statements of the Group and of the Company that give a true and fair view in accordance with Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards, International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the Companies Act, 2016 in Malaysia. The directors are also responsible for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements of the Group and of the Company that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements of the Group and of the Company, the directors are responsible for assessing the Group's and the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the Group or the Company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements of the Group and of the Company as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with approved standards on auditing in Malaysia and International Standards on Auditing will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with approved standards on auditing in Malaysia and International Standards on Auditing, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements of the Group and of the Company, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's and of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's or the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements of the Group and of the Company or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group or the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements of the Group and of the Company, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements of the Group and of the Company represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the financial statements of the Group. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the directors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit

In accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act, 2016 in Malaysia, we report that the subsidiary of which we have not acted as auditor, is disclosed in note 12 to the financial statements.

Other matters

This report is made solely to the members of the Company, as a body, in accordance with Section 266 of the Companies Act, 2016 in Malaysia and for no other purpose. We do not assume responsibility to any other person for the content of this report.

Amendments to MFRS 101: Disclosure Initiatives	1 January 2016
Amendments to MFRS 10, MFRS 12 and MFRS 128:
Investment Entities: Applying the Consolidation Exception	1 January 2016
MFRS 14 Regulatory Deferral Accounts	1 January 2016

The adoption of the above standards did not have any significant effect on the financial performance or position of the Group and of the Company.

2.3 Standards issued but not yet effective

The standards and interpretations that are issued but not yet effective up to the date of issuance of the Group's and of the Company's financial statements are disclosed below. The Group and Company intend to adopt these standards, if applicable, when they become effective.

Description	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
Amendments to MFRS 12: Disclosure of interest in other entities	1 January 2017
Amendments to MFRS 107: Disclosures Initiatives	1 January 2017
Amendments to MFRS 112: Recognition of Deferred Tax for Unrealised Losses	1 January 2017
Amendments to MFRS 2: Classification and Measurement of
Share-based Payment Transactions	1 January 2018

Description	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
MFRS 9: Financial Instruments	1 January 2018
MFRS 15: Revenue from Contracts with Customers	1 January 2018
Amendments to MFRS 128: Investment in associates and joint ventures	1 January 2018
MFRS 16: Leases	1 January 2019
Amendments to MFRS 10, 128: Sale or Contribution of Assets between an Investor and its Associate or Joint Venture	Deferred

MFRS 107 Disclosures Initiatives (Amendments to MFRS 107)

The amendments to MFRS 107 Statement of Cash Flows requires an entity to provide disclosures that enable users of financial statements to evaluate changes in liabilities arising from financing activities, including both changes arising from cash flows and non-cash changes. On initial application of this amendment, entities are not required to provide comparative information for preceding periods. These amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2017, with early application permitted. Application of amendments will result in additional disclosures to be provided by the Group and Company.

MFRS 9 Financial Instruments

In November 2014, MASB issued the final version of MFRS 9 Financial Instruments which reflects all phases of the financial instruments project and replaces MFRS 139 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement and all previous versions of MFRS 9. The standard introduces new requirements for classification and measurement, impairment and hedge accounting. MFRS 9 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018, with early application permitted. Retrospective application is required, but comparative information is not compulsory. The Group and the Company are currently assessing the impact of MFRS 9 and plan to adopt the new standard on the required effective date.

MFRS 15: Revenue from Contracts with Customers

MFRS 15 establishes a new five-step models that will apply to revenue arising from contracts with customers. MFRS 15 will supersede the current revenue recognition guidance including MFRS 118 Revenue, MFRS 111 Construction Contracts and the related interpretations when it becomes effective.

The core principle of MFRS 15 is that an entity should recognise revenue which depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services.

Under MFRS 15, an entity recognises revenue when (or as) a performance obligation is satisfied, such as when “control” of the goods or services underlying the particular performance obligation is transferred to the customer.

Either a full or modified retrospective application is required for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018 with early adoption permitted. The Group and the Company are currently assessing the impact of MFRS 15 and plans to adopt the new standard on the required effective date.

2.4 Basis of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements comprise the financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries as at the reporting date. The financial statements of the subsidiaries used in the preparation of the consolidated financial statements are prepared for the same reporting date as the Company. Consistent accounting policies are applied for like transactions and events in similar circumstances.

The Company controls an investee if and only if the Company has all the following:

(i) Power over the investee (such as, existing rights that give it the current ability to direct the relevant activities of the investee);

(ii) Exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its investment with the investee; and

(iii) The ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns.

When the Company has less than a majority of the voting rights of an investee, the Company considers the following in assessing whether or not the Company’s voting rights in an investee are sufficient to give it power over the investee:

(i) The size of the Company’s holding of voting rights relative to the size and dispersion of holdings of the other vote holders;

(ii) Potential voting rights held by the Company, other vote holders or other parties;

(iii) Rights arising from other contractual arrangements; and

(iv) Any additional facts and circumstances that indicate that the Company has, or does not have, the current ability to direct the relevant activities at the time that decisions need to be made, including voting patterns at previous shareholders’ meetings.

Subsidiaries are consolidated when the Company obtains control over the subsidiary and ceases when the Company loses control of the subsidiary. All intra-group balances, income and expenses and unrealised gains and losses resulting from intra-group transactions are eliminated in full.

Losses within a subsidiary are attributed to the non-controlling interests even if that results in a deficit balance.

Changes in the Group's ownership interests in subsidiaries that do not result in the Group losing control over the subsidiaries are accounted for as equity transactions.

The carrying amounts of the Group's interests and the non-controlling interests are adjusted to reflect the changes in their relative interests in the subsidiaries. The resulting difference is recognised directly in equity and attributed to owners of the Company.

When the Group loses control of a subsidiary, a gain or loss calculated as the difference between (i) the aggregate of the fair value of the consideration received and the fair value of any retained interest and (ii) the previous carrying amount of the assets and liabilities of the subsidiary and any non-controlling interest, is recognised in profit or loss. The subsidiary's cumulative gain or loss which has been recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity are reclassified to profit or loss or where applicable, transferred directly to retained earnings. The fair value of any investment retained in the former subsidiary at the date control is lost is regarded as the cost on initial recognition of the investment.

2.5 Business combinations and goodwill

Acquisitions of subsidiaries are accounted for using the acquisition method. The cost of an acquisition is measured as the aggregate of the consideration transferred, measured at acquisition date fair value and the amount of any non-controlling interests in the acquiree. The Group elects on a transaction-by-transaction basis whether to measure the non-controlling interests in the acquiree either at fair value or at the proportionate share of the acquiree's identifiable net assets. Transaction costs incurred are expensed and included in administrative expenses.

Any contingent consideration to be transferred by the acquirer will be recognised at fair value at the acquisition date. Subsequent changes in the fair value of the contingent consideration which is deemed to be an asset or liability, will be recognised in accordance with MFRS 139 either in profit or loss or as a change to other comprehensive income. If the contingent consideration is classified as equity, it will not be remeasured. Subsequent settlement is accounted for within equity. In instances where the contingent consideration does not fall within the scope of MFRS 139, it is measured in accordance with the appropriate MFRS.

When the Group acquires a business, it assesses the financial assets and liabilities assumed for appropriate classification and designation in accordance with the contractual terms, economic circumstances and pertinent conditions as at the acquisition date. This includes the separation of embedded derivatives in host contracts by the acquiree.

If the business combination is achieved in stages, the acquisition date fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree is remeasured to fair value at the acquisition date through profit or loss.

Goodwill is initially measured at cost, being the excess of the aggregate of the consideration transferred and the amount recognised for non-controlling interests, and any previous interest held, over the net identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed. If the fair value of the net assets acquired is in excess of the aggregate consideration transferred, the Group re-assesses whether it has correctly identified all of the assets acquired and all of the liabilities assumed and reviews the procedures used to measure the amounts to be recognised at the acquisition date. If the re-assessment still results in an excess of the fair value of net assets acquired over the aggregate consideration transferred, then the gain is recognised in profit or loss.

After initial recognition, goodwill is measured at cost less any accumulated impairment losses. For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is, from the acquisition date, allocated to each of the Group's cash-generating units that are expected to benefit from the combination, irrespective of whether other assets or liabilities of the acquiree are assigned to those units.

Where goodwill has been allocated to a cash-generating unit and part of the operation within that unit is disposed of, the goodwill associated with the disposed operation is included in the carrying amount of the operation when determining the gain or loss on disposal. Goodwill disposed in these circumstances is measured based on the relative values of the disposed operation and the portion of the cash-generating unit retained.

2.6 Foreign currency

(a) Functional and presentation currency

The individual financial statements of each entity in the Group are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates ("the functional currency"). The consolidated financial statements are presented in Ringgit Malaysia (RM'000), which is also the Company's functional currency.

(b) Foreign currency transactions

Transactions in foreign currencies are measured in the respective functional currencies of the Company and its subsidiaries and are recorded on initial recognition in the functional currencies at exchange rates approximating those ruling at the transaction dates. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rate of exchange ruling at the reporting date. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at historical cost are translated using the exchange rates as at the dates of the initial transactions. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies measured at fair value are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value was determined.

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on translating monetary items at the reporting date are recognised in profit or loss except for exchange differences arising on monetary items that form part of the Group's net investment in foreign operations, which are recognised initially in other comprehensive income and accumulated under foreign currency translation reserve in equity. The foreign currency translation reserve is reclassified from equity to profit or loss of the Group on disposal of the foreign operation.

Exchange differences arising on the translation of non-monetary items carried at fair value are included in profit or loss for the period except for the differences arising on the translation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognised directly in equity. Exchange differences arising from such non-monetary items are also recognised directly in equity.

All items of property, plant and equipment are initially recorded at cost. The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised as an asset if, and only if, it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Group and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

Subsequent to recognition, property, plant and equipment are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. When significant parts of property, plant and equipment are required to be replaced in intervals, the Group recognises such parts as individual assets with specific useful lives and depreciation, respectively. Likewise, when a major inspection is performed, its cost is recognised in the carrying amount of the plant and equipment as a replacement if the recognition criteria are satisfied. All other repair and maintenance costs are recognised in profit or loss as incurred.

Freehold land has an unlimited useful life and therefore is not depreciated. Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

	Group
Buildings and improvements	2.0 – 2.5
Plants and machinery	7.5 – 20.0
Moulds and tools	100.0
Technical equipment	10.0 – 20.0
Electrical installation	10.0
Furniture and fittings	10.0 – 20.0
Office equipment	10.0 – 15.0
Motor vehicles	20.0
Computers	20.0 – 33.3
Property expenses	100.0

Assets under construction included in property, plant and equipment are not depreciated as these assets are not yet available for use.

Property expenses comprise individual asset, excluding part additions, less than RM1,000 each which are depreciated 100% upon incurrence.

The carrying values of property, plant and equipment are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable.

The residual value, useful life and depreciation method are reviewed at each financial year-end, and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any gain or loss on derecognition of the asset is included in the profit or loss in the year the asset is derecognised.

2.8 Intangible assets

Intangible assets acquired separately are measured initially at cost. The costs of intangible assets acquired in a business combination is their fair value as at the date of acquisition. Following initial acquisition, intangible assets are measured at cost less any accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses.

Intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortised over the estimated useful lives and assessed for impairment whenever there is an indication that the intangible asset may be impaired. The amortisation period and the amortisation method are reviewed at least at each financial year-end. Changes in the expected useful life or the expected pattern of consumption of future economic benefits embodied in the asset is accounted for by changing the amortisation period or method, as appropriate, and are treated as changes in accounting estimates. The amortisation expense on intangible assets with finite lives is recognised in profit or loss.

Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives or not yet available for use are tested for impairment annually, or more frequently if the events and circumstances indicate that the carrying value may be impaired either individually or at the cash-generating unit level. Such intangible assets are not amortised. The useful life of an intangible asset with an indefinite useful life is reviewed annually to determine whether the useful life assessment continues to be supportable. If not, the change in useful life from indefinite to finite is made on a prospective basis.

Gains or losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognised in profit or loss when the asset is derecognised.

(i) Research and development costs

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Deferred development costs arising from development expenditures on an individual project are recognised when the Company can demonstrate the technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale, its intention to complete and its ability to use or sell the asset, how the asset will generate future economic benefits, the availability of resources to complete and the ability to measure reliably the expenditures during development. Deferred development costs have a finite useful life and are amortised over the period of expected sales from the related project (ranging from 3 to 5 years) on a straight line basis.

(ii) Goodwill

Goodwill acquired in a business combination is initially measured at cost being the excess of the cost of business combination over the Group's interest in the net fair value of the identifiable assets, liabilities and contingent liabilities. Following the initial recognition, goodwill is measured at cost less any accumulated impairment losses. Goodwill is not amortised but instead, it is reviewed for impairment, annually or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may be impaired. Gains and losses on the disposal of an entity include the carrying amount of goodwill relating to the entity sold.

The cash-generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually and whenever there is an indication that the cash-generating unit may be impaired, by comparing the carrying amount of the cash-generating unit, including the allocated goodwill, with the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit. Where the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit is less than the carrying amount, an impairment loss is recognised in the profit or loss. Impairment losses recognised for goodwill are not reversed in subsequent periods.

Where goodwill forms part of a cash-generating unit and part of the operation within that cash-generating unit is disposed of, the goodwill associated with the operation disposed of is included in the carrying amount of the operation when determining the gain or loss on disposal of the operation. Goodwill disposed of in this circumstance is measured based on the relative fair values of the operations disposed of and the portion of the cash-generating unit retained.

2.9 Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any such indication exists, or when an annual impairment assessment for an asset is required, the Group makes an estimate of the asset's recoverable amount.

An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell and its value in use. For the purpose of assessing impairment, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are separately identifiable cash flows (cash-generating units ("CGU")).

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows expected to be generated by the asset are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. Where the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is written down to its recoverable amount. Impairment losses recognised in respect of a CGU or groups of CGUs are allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to those units or groups of units and then, to reduce the carrying amount of the other assets in the unit or groups of units on a pro-rata basis.

Impairment losses are recognised in profit or loss except for assets that are previously revalued where the revaluation was taken to other comprehensive income. In this case the impairment is also recognised in other comprehensive income up to the amount of any previous revaluation.

An assessment is made at each reporting date as to whether there is any indication that previously recognised impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased. A previously recognised impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognised. If that is the case, the carrying amount of the asset is increased to its recoverable amount. That increase cannot exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognised previously. Such reversal is recognised in profit or loss unless the asset is measured at revalued amount, in which case the reversal is treated as a revaluation increase. Impairment loss on goodwill is not reversed in a subsequent period.

2.10 Subsidiaries

A subsidiary is an entity over which the Group has all the following:

(i) Power over the investee (such as, existing rights that give it the current ability to direct the relevant activities of the investee);

(ii) Exposure, or rights, to variable returns from its investment with the investee; and

(iii) The ability to use its power over the investee to affect its returns.

In the Company's separate financial statements, investments in subsidiaries are accounted for at cost less impairment losses. On disposal of such investments, the difference between net disposal proceeds and their carrying amounts is included in profit or loss.

2.11 Financial assets

Financial assets are recognised in the statements of financial position when, and only when, the Group and the Company become a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument.

When financial assets are recognised initially, they are measured at fair value, plus, in the case of financial assets not at fair value through profit or loss, directly attributable transaction costs.

The Group and the Company determine the classification of their financial assets at initial recognition, and the categories include financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, loans and receivables, held-to-maturity investments and available-for-sale financial assets.

(a) Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets are classified as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss if they are held for trading or are designated as such upon initial recognition. Financial assets held for trading are derivatives (including separated embedded derivatives) or financial assets acquired principally for the purpose of selling in the near term.

Subsequent to initial recognition, financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are measured at fair value. Any gains or losses arising from changes in fair value are recognised in profit or loss. Net gains or net losses on financial assets at fair value through profit or loss do not include exchange differences, interest and dividend income. Exchange differences, interest and dividend income on financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are recognised separately in profit or loss as part of other losses or other income.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss could be presented as current or non-current. Financial assets that is held primarily for trading purposes are presented as current whereas financial assets that is not held primarily for trading purposes are presented as current or non-current based on the settlement date.

(b) Loans and receivables

Financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market are classified as loans and receivables.

Subsequent to initial recognition, loans and receivables are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the loans and receivables are derecognised or impaired, and through the amortisation process.

Loans and receivables are classified as current assets, except for those having maturity dates later than 12 months after the reporting date which are classified as non-current.

(c) Available-for-sale financial assets

Available-for-sale financial assets that are designated as available for sale or are not classified in any of the preceding categories.

At initial recognition, available-for-sale financial assets are measured at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition, available-for-sale financial assets are measured at cost less impairment loss for those investment in equity instruments whose fair value cannot be reliably measured.

Dividend on an available-for-sale equity instruments are recognised in profit or loss when the Group's right to receive payment is establish.

Investments in equity investments whose fair values cannot be reliably measured are recognised at cost less impairment loss.

Available-for-sale financial assets are classified as non-current assets unless they are expected to be realised within 12 months after the reporting date.

A financial asset is derecognised when the contractual right to receive cash flows from the asset has expired. On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received is recognised in profit or loss.

Regular way purchases or sales are purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within the period generally established by regulation or convention in the marketplace concerned. All regular way purchases and sales of financial assets are recognised or derecognised on the trade date, the date that the Group and the Company commit to purchase or sell the asset.

2.12 Impairment of financial assets

The Group and the Company assess at each reporting date whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset is impaired.

(a) Trade and other receivables and other financial assets carried at amortised cost

To determine whether there is objective evidence that an impairment loss on financial assets has been incurred, the Group and the Company consider factors such as the probability of insolvency or significant financial difficulties of the debtor and default or significant delay in payments. For certain categories of financial assets, such as trade receivables, receivables that are assessed not to be impaired individually are subsequently assessed for impairment on a collective basis based on similar risk characteristics. Objective evidence of impairment for a portfolio of receivables could include the Group's and the Company's past experience of collecting payments, an increase in the number of delayed payments in the portfolio past the average credit period and observable changes in national or local economic conditions that correlate with default on receivables.

If any such evidence exists, the amount of impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate. The impairment loss is recognised in profit or loss.

The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment loss directly for all financial assets with the exception of trade receivables, where the carrying amount is reduced through the use of an allowance account. When a trade receivable becomes uncollectible, it is written off against the allowance account.

If in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, the previously recognised impairment loss is reversed to the extent that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its amortised cost at the reversal date. The amount of reversal is recognised in profit or loss.

(b) Unquoted equity securities carried at cost

If there is objective evidence (such as significant adverse changes in the business environment where the issuer operates, probability of insolvency or significant financial difficulties of the issuer) that an impairment loss on financial assets carried at cost has been incurred, the amount of the loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the current market rate of return for a similar financial asset. Such impairment losses are not reversed in subsequent periods.

2.13 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash at bank and on hand, demand deposits, and short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amount of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. These also include bank overdrafts that form an integral part of the Group's cash management.

2.14 Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition are accounted for as follows:

- Raw materials: purchase costs on a weighted average basis.
- Finished goods and work-in-progress: costs of direct materials and labour and a proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity. These costs are assigned on a weighted average basis.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business less estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

2.15 Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Group has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of economic resources will be required to settle the obligation and the amount of the obligation can be estimated reliably.

Provisions are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate. If it is no longer probable that an outflow of economic resources will be required to settle the obligation, the provision is reversed. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre tax rate that reflects, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost.

2.16 Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are classified according to the substance of the contractual arrangements entered into and the definitions of a financial liability.

Financial liabilities, within the scope of MFRS 139, are recognised in the statement of financial position when, and only when, the Group and the Company become a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument. Financial liabilities are classified as either financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss or other financial liabilities.

(a) Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial liabilities held for trading include derivatives entered into by the Group and the Company that do not meet the hedge accounting criteria. Derivative liabilities are initially measured at fair value and subsequently stated at fair value, with any resultant gains or losses recognised in profit or loss. Net gains or losses on derivatives include exchange differences.

(b) Other financial liabilities

The Group's and the Company's other financial liabilities include trade payables, other payables and loans and borrowings.

Trade and other payables are recognised initially at fair value plus directly attributable transaction costs and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

Loans and borrowings are recognised initially at fair value, net of transaction costs incurred, and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. Borrowings are classified as current liabilities unless the Group has an unconditional right to defer settlement of the liability for at least 12 months after the reporting date.

For other financial liabilities, gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised, and through the amortisation process.

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is extinguished. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as a derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability, and the difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in profit or loss.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the statement of financial position if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

2.17 Financial guarantee contracts

A financial guarantee contract is a contract that requires the issuer to make specified payments to reimburse the holder for a loss it incurs because a specified debtor fails to make payment when due.

Financial guarantee contracts are recognised initially as a liability at fair value, net of transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, financial guarantee contracts are recognised as income in profit or loss over the period of the guarantee. If the debtor fails to make payment relating to financial guarantee contract when it is due and the Group, as the issuer, is required to reimburse the holder for the associated loss, the liability is measured at the higher of the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date and the amount initially recognised less cumulative amortisation.

Borrowing costs are capitalised as part of the cost of a qualifying asset if they are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of that asset. Capitalisation of borrowing costs commences when the activities to prepare the asset for its intended use or sale are in progress and the expenditures and borrowing costs are incurred. Borrowing costs are capitalised until the assets are substantially completed for their intended use or sale.

All other borrowing costs are recognised in profit or loss in the period they are incurred. Borrowing costs consist of interest and other costs that the Group and the Company incurred in connection with the borrowing of funds.

2.19 Employee benefits

(a) Short term benefits

Wages, salaries, bonuses and social security contributions are recognised as an expense in the year in which the associated services are rendered by employees of the Group and the Company. Short term accumulating compensated absences such as paid annual leave are recognised when services are rendered by employees that increase their entitlement to future compensated absences, and short term non-accumulating compensated absences such as sick leave are recognised when the absences occur.

(b) Defined contribution plans

The Group participates in the national pension schemes as defined by the laws of the countries in which it has operations. The Group make contributions to the Employees Provident Fund ("EPF") in Malaysia, a defined contribution pension scheme. Contributions to defined contributions pension schemes are recognised as an expense in the period in which the related service is performed.

(c) Long-term employee benefits

The Company additionally contributes a specified percentage of the eligible employees' salaries to EPF. Eligible employees refer to those employees who have completed five (5) years of service with the Company and such other relevant criteria as set out in Note 23. These additional contribution are recognised as expense in the period in which the related service is performed.

2.20 Leases

As lessee

Finance leases, which transfer to the Group substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of the leased item, are capitalised at the inception of the lease at the fair value of the leased asset or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. Any initial direct costs are also added to the amount capitalised. Lease payments are apportioned between the finance charges and reduction of the lease liability so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are charged to profit or loss. Contingent rents, if any, are charged as expenses in the periods in which they are incurred.

Leased assets are depreciated over the estimated useful life of the asset. However, if there is no reasonable certainty that the Group will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term, the asset is depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life and the lease term.

Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. The aggregate benefit of incentives provided by the lessor is recognised as a reduction of rental expense over the lease term on a straight-line basis.

2.21 Revenue

Revenue is recognised to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Group and the revenue can be reliably measured. Revenue is measured at the fair value of consideration received or receivable.

(a) Sale of goods

Revenue from sale of goods is recognised upon the transfer of significant risk and rewards of ownership of the goods to the customer. Revenue is not recognised to the extent where there are significant uncertainties regarding recovery of the consideration due, associated costs or the possible return of goods.

(b) Rendering of services

Revenue from services is recognised upon services rendered.

(c) Interest income

For all financial instruments measured at amortised cost, interest income is recorded using the Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method. EIR is the rate that exactly discounts the estimated future cash payments or receipts over the expected life of the financial instrument or a shorter period, where appropriate, to the net carrying amount of the financial asset or liability. Interest income is included in profit or loss.

2.22 Income taxes

(a) Current tax

Current tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date.

Current taxes are recognised in profit or loss except to the extent that the tax relates to items recognised outside profit or loss, either in other comprehensive income or directly in equity.

(b) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided using the liability method on temporary differences at the reporting date between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all temporary differences, except:

- where the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and
- in respect of taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, where the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses, to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised except:

- where the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and
- in respect of deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that the temporary differences will reverse in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax assets to be utilised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss. Deferred tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in other comprehensive income or directly in equity and deferred tax arising from a business combination is adjusted against goodwill on acquisition.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

(c) Goods and Service tax (“GST”)

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST except:

- When the GST incurred in a purchase of assets or services is not recoverable from the taxation authority, in which case, the GST is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of the expense item as applicable; and
- When receivables and payables that are stated with the amount of GST included.

The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is included as part of receivables or payables in the statement of financial position.

2.23 Hedge accounting

The Group applies hedge accounting for certain hedging relationships which qualify for hedge accounting.

For the purpose of hedge accounting, hedges are classified as:

- Fair value hedges when hedging the exposure to changes in the fair value of a recognised asset or liability or an unrecognised firm commitment; or

- Cash flow hedges when hedging exposure to variability in cash flows that is either attributable to a particular risk associated with a recognised asset or liability or a highly probable forecast transaction or the foreign currency risk in an unrecognised firm commitment.

At the inception of a hedging relationship, the Group formally designates and documents the hedging relationship to which the Group wishes to apply hedge accounting and the risk management objective and strategy for undertaking the hedge. The documentation includes identification of the hedging instrument, the hedged item or transaction, the nature of the risk being hedged and how the entity will assess the effectiveness of changes in the hedging instrument's fair value in offsetting the exposure to changes in the hedged item's fair value or cash flows attributable to the hedged risk. Such hedges are expected to be highly effective in achieving offsetting changes in fair value or cash flows and are assessed on an ongoing basis to determine that they actually have been highly effective throughout the financial reporting periods for which they were designated.

Hedges which meet the strict criteria for hedge accounting are accounted for as follows:

(a) Fair value hedges

The change in the fair value of a hedging derivative is recognised in profit or loss in finance costs. The change in the fair value of the hedged item attributable to the risk hedged is recorded as a part of the carrying value of the hedged item and is also recognised in profit or loss in finance costs.

For fair value hedges relating to items carried at amortised cost, the adjustment to carrying value is amortised through profit or loss over the remaining term of the hedge using the effective interest rate method. Effective interest rate amortisation may begin as soon as an adjustment exists and no later than when the hedged item ceases to be adjusted for changes in its fair value attributable to the risk being hedged. If the hedged item is derecognised, the unamortised fair value is recognised immediately in profit or loss.

When an unrecognised firm commitment is designated as a hedged item, the subsequent cumulative change in the fair value of the firm commitment attributable to the hedged risk is recognised as an asset or liability with a corresponding gain or loss recognised in profit or loss.

(b) Cash flow hedges

The effective portion of the gain or loss on the hedging instrument is recognised directly in other comprehensive income in the cash flow hedge reserve, while any ineffective portion is recognised immediately in profit or loss in other expenses.

The Group uses forward currency contracts as hedges of its exposure to foreign currency risk in forecast transactions and firm commitments, as well as forward commodity contracts for its exposure to volatility in the commodity prices. The ineffective portion relating to foreign currency contracts is recognised in finance costs and the ineffective portion relating to commodity contracts is recognised in other operating income.

Amounts recognised as other comprehensive income are transferred to profit or loss when the hedged transaction affects profit or loss, such as when the hedged financial income or financial expense is recognised or when a forecast sale occurs. Where the hedged item is the cost of a non-financial asset or non-financial liability, the amounts recognised as other comprehensive income are transferred to the initial carrying amount of the non-financial asset or liability.

If the forecast transaction or firm commitment is no longer expected to occur, the cumulative gain or loss previously recognised in equity is transferred to profit or loss. If the hedging instrument expired or is sold, terminated or exercised without replacement or rollover, or if its designation as a hedge is revoked, any cumulative gain or loss previously recognised in other comprehensive income remains in other comprehensive income until the forecast transaction or firm commitment affects profit or loss.

(c) Derivatives that are not designated or do not qualify for hedge accounting

Any gains or losses arising from changes in fair value on derivatives during the year that do not qualify for hedge accounting are directly recognised in profit or loss.

2.24 Share capital and share issuance expenses

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of the Group and of the Company after deducting all of its liabilities. Ordinary shares are equity instruments.

Ordinary shares are recorded at the proceeds received, net of directly attributable incremental transaction costs. Ordinary shares are classified as equity. Dividends on ordinary shares are recognised in equity in the period in which they are declared.

2.25 Contingencies

A contingent liability or asset is a possible obligation or asset that arises from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of uncertain future event(s) not wholly within the control of the Group.

Contingent liabilities and assets are not recognised in the statement of financial position of the Group.

2.26 Fair value measurement

The Group measures financial instruments, such as, derivatives, at fair value at each reporting date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability take place either:

- in the principal market for the asset or liability; or
- in the absence of a principle market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Group.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Group uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

(i)	Level 1:	Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities
(ii)	Level 2:	Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable
(iii)	Level 3:	Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements at fair value on a recurring basis, the Group determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosure, the Group has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the assets or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

2.27 Current versus non-current classification

The Group presents its assets and liabilities in the statement of financial position based on current/non-current classification. An asset is current when it is:

- expected to be realised or intended to be sold or consumed in the normal operating cycle;
- held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period; or
- cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current. A liability is current when:

- it is expected to be settled in the normal operating cycle;
- it is held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- it is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period; or
- there is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

The Group classifies all other liabilities as non-current.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS AND ESTIMATES

The preparation of the Group's financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities at the reporting date. However, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that could require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of the asset or liability affected in the future.

3.1 Judgements made in applying accounting policies

There are no critical judgements made by management in the process of applying the Group's accounting policies that have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements.

3.2 Key sources of estimation uncertainty

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year are discussed below.

(a) Impairment of loans and receivables

The Group assesses at each reporting date whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset is impaired. To determine whether there is objective evidence of impairment, the Group considers factors such as the probability of insolvency or significant financial difficulties of the debtor and default or significant delay in payments.

Where there is objective evidence of impairment, the amount and timing of future cash flows are estimated based on historical loss experience for assets with similar credit risk characteristics. The carrying amount of the Group and of the Company's loans and receivables at the reporting date is disclosed in Note 17.

(b) Impairment of goodwill

Goodwill are tested for impairment annually and at other times when such indicators exist. This requires an estimation of the value in use of the cash-generating units to which goodwill are allocated.

When value in use calculations are undertaken, management must estimate the expected future cash flows from the asset or cash-generating unit and choose a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows.

The carrying value of goodwill as at the reporting date was RM13,814,000 (2016: RM13,814,000).

(c) Useful lives of property, plant and equipment

The cost of property, plant and machinery is depreciated on a straight-line basis over the assets' useful lives. Management estimates the useful lives of these property, plants and machinery to be within 1 to 50 years. These are common life expectancies applied in the industry. Changes in the expected level of usage and technological developments could impact the economic useful lives and the residual values of these assets, therefore future depreciation charges could be revised.

The carrying amount of the Group's property, plant and equipment at the reporting date is disclosed in Note 11.

(d) Deferred tax assets

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all unused tax losses, unabsorbed capital allowances and unutilised reinvesment allowances to the extent that is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the losses, capital allowances and reinvestment allowances can utilised. Significant management judgement is required to determine the amount of deferred tax assets that can be recognised, based upon the likely timing and level of future taxable profits together with future tax planning strategies. Details of deferred tax assets are disclosed in Note 22.

4. REVENUE AND COST OF SALES

Revenue represents the gross invoiced value of sales and services rendered less returns, discounts, price variation, liquidated damages and taxes while cost of sales represents the cost of the products sold and services rendered.

Impairment testing of goodwill

Goodwill arising from business combinations is allocated to one cash-generated unit ("CGU") for impairment testing, manufacturing segment.

The recoverable amount of the CGU has been determined based on value in use calculations using cash flow projections from financial budgets approved by management covering a four-year period. The pre-tax discount rate applied to the cash flow projections and the forecast growth rates used to extrapolate cash flows beyond the four-year period were as follows:

	Group 2017 RM'000	2016 RM'000
Growth rate	10%	10%
Pre-tax discount rate	14%	14%

The calculations of value in use for the CGU is most sensitive to the following assumptions:

Budgeted gross margins - Gross margins are based on average values achieved by the Group in the recent years. These are increased over the budget period for anticipated efficiency improvements.

Growth rates - The forecast growth rate used is based on the best estimation by the Group's management for a newly acquired subsidiary within the L&T's Group.

Pre-tax discount rates - Discount rates reflect the current market assessment of the risks specific to the CGU. This is the benchmark used by management to assess operating performance and to evaluate future investment proposals.

B. Determination of fair value

Financial instruments that are not carried at fair value and whose carrying amounts are reasonable approximation of fair value.

The following are classes of financial instruments that are not carried at fair value and whose carrying amounts are reasonable approximation of fair value:

	Note
Trade and other receivables (current)	17
Cash and cash equivalents	19
Trade and other payables (current)	21
Loans and borrowings (current)	20

The carrying amounts of these financial assets and liabilities are reasonable approximation of fair values, either due to their short-term nature or that they are floating rate instruments that are re-priced to market interest rates on or near the reporting date.

The carrying amounts of the current portion of loans and borrowings are reasonable approximations of fair values due to the insignificant impact of discounting.

The fair values of non-current financial instruments are estimated by discounting expected future cash flows at market incremental lending rate for similar types of lending, borrowing or leasing arrangements at the reporting date.

C. Fair value hierarchy

The Group's financial instruments carried at fair value by level of fair value hierarchy in which the different levels have been defined as follows:

Level 1 : Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;

Level 2 : Other techniques for which all inputs that have a significant effect on the recorded fair value are observable, either directly or indirectly: and

Level 3 : Techniques that used inputs that have a significant effect on the recorded fair value that are not based on observable market data.

31. FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT OBJECTIVES AND POLICIES

The Group and the Company are exposed to financial risks arising from its operations and the use of financial instruments. The key financial risks include credit risk, liquidity risk, interest rate risk and foreign currency risk.

The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies and procedures for the management of these risks, which are executed by the Chief Financial Controller. The Board of Directors provides independent oversight to the effectiveness of the risk management process.

It is, and has been throughout the current and previous financial year, the Group's policy that no derivatives shall be undertaken except for the use as hedging instruments where appropriate and cost-efficient.

The following sections provide details regarding the Group's exposure to the above-mentioned financial risks and the objectives, policies and processes for the management of these risks.

(a) Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of loss that may arise on outstanding financial instruments should a counterparty default on its obligations. The Group's and the Company's exposure to credit risk arises primarily from trade and other receivables. For other financial assets (including investment securities, cash and short-term deposits and derivatives), the Group and the Company minimise credit risk by dealing exclusively with high credit rating counterparties.

The Group's objectives is to seek continual revenue growth while minimising losses incurred due to increased credit risk exposure. The Group trade only with recognised and creditworthy third parties. It is the Group's policy that all customers who wish to trade on credit terms are subject to credit verification procedures. In addition, receivable balances are monitored on an ongoing basis with the result that the Group's exposure to bad debts is not significant.

Exposure to credit risk

At the reporting date, the Group and the Company's maximum exposure to credit risk is represented by the carrying amount of each class of financial assets recognised in the statement of financial position.

Information regarding credit enhancements for trade and other receivables is disclosed in Note 17.

Credit risk concentration profile

The Group determines concentrations of credit risk by monitoring the country profile of the Group's and of the Company's trade receivables at the reporting date as follows:

	Group

* Other countries include countries such as European countries, Australia, Singapore, and United Kingdom.

At the reporting date, approximately:

(a) 21% (2016: 22%) of the Group's trade receivables were due from five (5) major customers who are located in Malaysia.

(b) 11% (2016: 21%) of the Group's trade receivables were due from two (2) major customer who are located in Qatar and United Arab Emirates.

Financial assets that are neither past due nor impaired

Trade and other receivables that are neither past due nor impaired are creditworthy debtors with good payment record with the Group. Cash and short-term deposits, investment securities and derivatives that are neither past due nor impaired are placed with or entered into with reputable financial institutions or companies with high credit ratings and no history of default.

Financial assets that are either past due or impaired

Information regarding financial assets that are either past due or impaired is disclosed in Note 17 (Trade and other receivables).

(b) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Group or the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting financial obligations due to shortage of funds. The Group's and the Company's exposure to liquidity risk arises primarily from mismatches of the maturities of financial assets and liabilities. The Group's and the Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of stand-by credit facilities.

The Group and the Company manage liquidity risk by maintaining sufficient cash. In addition, the Group and the Company maintain bank facilities such as working capital lines deemed adequate by the management to ensure it will have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when they fall due. The Group's and the Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of stand-by credit facilities.

Analysis of financial instruments by remaining contractual maturities

The table below summarises the maturity profile of the Group's and of the Company's financial liabilities at the end of the reporting period based on contractual undiscounted repayment obligations.

(c) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of the Group's and of the Company's financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates.

The Group's and the Company's exposure to interest rate risk arises primarily from their loans and borrowings.

The Group manages its interest rate exposure by maintaining a prudent mix of fixed and floating rate borrowings. The Group actively reviews its debt portfolio, taking into account the investment holding period and nature of its assets. This strategy allows it to capitalise on cheaper funding in a low interest rate environment and achieve a certain level of protection against rate hikes.

Sensitivity analysis for interest rate risk

At the reporting date, if interest rates had been 25 basis points lower/higher, with all other variables held constant, the Group's profit for the period would have been RM130,000 (2016: RM122,000) higher/lower, arising mainly as a result of lower/higher interest expenses on floating loans and borrowings The assumed movement in basis points for interest rate sensitivity analysis is based on the currently observable market environment.

(d) Foreign currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates.

The Group has transactional currency exposures arising from sales or purchases that are denominated in a currency other than the functional currency of Group entities, which is Ringgit Malaysia ("RM"). The foreign currencies in which these transactions are denominated is mainly United States Dollars (USD). Approximately 49% (2016: 47%) of the Group's sales are denominated in foreign currencies.

The Group and the Company also hold cash and short-term deposits denominated in foreign currencies for working capital purposes. At the end of the reporting period, such foreign currency balances are mainly in USD.

The Group requires its operating entities to use forward currency contracts to mitigate currency fluctuation risk on significant transactions, as may be decided from time to time and case to case basis. It is the Group's policy not to enter into forward contracts until a firm commitment is in place. It is the Group's policy to negotiate the terms of the forward currency contracts to match the terms of the firm commitment to maximise hedge effectiveness.

At 31 March 2017, the Group and the Company had hedged 55% (2016: 31%) of its foreign currency denominated sales respectively for which highly probable forecast transactions existed at reporting date.

The following table demonstrates the sensitivity of the Group's profit net of tax to a reasonably possible change in the USD exchange rates against the respective functional currencies of the Group entities, with all other variables held constant.

Sensitivity analysis for foreign currency risk

32. CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

The primary objective of the Group's capital management is to ensure that it maintains an optimal capital structure in order to support its business and maximises shareholder value.

The Group manages its capital structure and makes adjustments to it, in light of changes in economic condition. To maintain or adjust its capital structure, the Group may adjust the dividend payment to shareholders, return capital to shareholders or issue new shares. No changes were made in the objectives, policies or processes during the years ended 31 March 2017 and 31 March 2016.

The Group monitors capital using a gearing ratio, which is loans and borrowings divided total equity plus loans and borrowings.

Before me,

COMMISSIONER OF OATHS

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE MEMBERS OF LARSEN & TOUBRO (EAST ASIA) SDN BHD (INCORPORATED IN MALAYSIA)

Report on the financial statements

We have audited the financial statements of Larsen & Toubro (East Asia) Sdn Bhd, which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2016, and the statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows of the Company for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information, as set out on pages 4566 to 4584.

Directors' responsibility for the financial statements

The directors of the Company are responsible for the preparation of financial statements so as to give a true and fair view in accordance with Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards, International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the Companies Act, 1965 in Malaysia. The directors are also responsible for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with approved standards on auditing in Malaysia. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amount and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on our judgement, including the assessment of risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, we consider internal control relevant to the entity's preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of the accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company as at 31 March 2016 and of its financial performance and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with the Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards, International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the Companies Act, 1965 in Malaysia.

Report on other legal and regulatory requirements

In accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act, 1965 ("the Act") in Malaysia, we also report that in our opinion, the accounting and other records and the registers required by the Act to be kept by the Company have been properly kept in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

Other matters

This report is made solely to the members of the Company, as a body, in accordance with Section 174 of the Companies Act, 1965 in Malaysia and for no other purpose. We do not assume responsibility to any other person for the content of this report.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE FINANCIAL PERIOD ENDED MARCH 31, 2016

1. Corporate information

The Company is a private limited liability company, incorporated and domiciled in Malaysia. The registered office of the Company is located at Unit 1009, Block F, Phileo Damansara 1, Jalan 16/11, 46350 Petaling Jaya, Selangor Darul Ehsan.

The immediate and ultimate holding companies are Larsen & Toubro International FZE and Larsen & Toubro Limited respectively, which are incorporated in Abu Dhabi and India respectively.

The principal activity of the Company is the provisions of data-mining services to the oil and gas industry. There has been no significant change in the nature of the principal activity of the Company during the financial year.

The previous reporting period covers a period of 15 months from 1 January 2014 to 31 March 2015. Consequently, the comparative amounts for the statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity, statement of cash flow and related notes to the financial statements are not comparable.

The financial statements were authorised for issue by the Board of Director in accordance with a resolution of the directors on December 1, 2016

2. Summary of significant accounting policies

2.1 Basis of preparation

The financial statements of the Company has been prepared in accordance with Malaysian Financial Reporting Standards ("MFRSs"), International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRSs") and the requirements of the Companies Act, 1965 in Malaysia. At the beginning of the current financial period, the Company adopted new and amended MFRSs as described in Note 2.2 which are mandatory for financial periods beginning on or after 1 April 2015.

The financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except as disclosed in the accounting policies section and are presented in Ringgit Malaysia (RM).

2.2 Changes in accounting policies

The accounting policies adopted are consistent with those of the previous financial year except as follows:

On 1 April 2015, the Company adopted the following new and amended MFRS and IC Interpretations mandatory for annual financial periods beginning on or after 1 April 2015.

Description	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
Amendments to MFRS 119: Defined Benefit Plans: Employee Contributions	1 July 2014
Annual Improvements to MFRSs 2010 - 2012 Cycle	1 July 2014
Annual Improvements to MFRSs 2011 - 2014 Cycle	1 July 2014

The adoption of the above standards and interpretations did not have any effect on the financial performance or position of the Company.

2.3 Standards issued but not yet effective

The standards and interpretations that are issued but not yet effective up to the date of issuance of the Company's financial statements are disclosed below. The Company intend to adopt these standards, if applicable, when they become effective.

Description	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
Annual Improvements to MFRSs 2012 - 2015 Cycle	1 January 2016
Amendments to MFRS 116 and MFRS 138: Clarification of Acceptable Methods of Depreciation and Amortisation	1 January 2016
Amendments to MFRS 116 and MFRS 141: Agriculture: Agriculture: Bearer Plants	1 January 2016
Amendments to MFRS 10 and MFRS 128: Sale or Contribution of Assets between an Investor and its Associate or Joint Venture	Deferred
Amendments to MFRS 11: Accounting for Acquisitions of Interests in Joint Operations	1 January 2016
Amendments to MFRS 127: Equity Method in Separate Financial Statements	1 January 2016

Description	Effective for annual periods beginning on or after
Amendments to MFRS 10, MFRS 12 and MFRS 128: Investment Entities: Applying the Consolidation Exception	1 January 2016
MFRS 14 Regulatory Deferral Accounts	1 January 2016
MFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers	1 January 2018
MFRS 9 Financial Instruments	1 January 2018

The directors expect that the adoption of the above standards and interpretations will have no material impact on the financial statements in the period of initial application except as discussed below:

MFRS 15 Revenue from Contracts with Customers

MFRS 15 establishes a new five-step models that will apply to revenue arising from contracts with customers. MFRS 15 will supersede the current revenue recognition guidance including MFR 118 Revenue, MFRS 111 Construction Contracts and the related interpretations when it becomes effective.

The core principle of MFRS 15 is that an entity should recognise revenue which depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services.

Under MFRS 15, an entity recognises revenue when (or as) a performance obligation is satisfied, such as when "control" of the goods or services underlying the particular performance obligation is transferred to the customer.

Either a full or modified retrospective application is required for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2017 with early adoption permitted. The Company is in the midst of assessing the impact of MFRS 15 and plans to adopt the new standard on the required effective date.

MFRS 9 Financial Instruments

In November 2014, MASB issued the final version of MFRS 9 Financial Instruments which reflects all phases of the financial instruments project and replaces MFRS 139 Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement and all previous versions of MFRS 9. The standard introduces new requirements for classification and measurement, impairment and hedge accounting. MFRS 9 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2018, with early application permitted. Retrospective application is required, but comparative information is not compulsory. The Company is currently assessing the impact of MFRS 9 and plans to adopt the new standard on the required effective date.

2.4 Foreign currency

(a) Functional and presentation currency

The financial statements of the Company is measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates ("the functional currency"). The financial statements are presented in Ringgit Malaysia ("RM"), which is also the Company's functional currency.

(b) Foreign currency transactions

Transactions in foreign currencies are measured in the functional currency of the Company and are recorded on initial recognition in the functional currency at exchange rates approximating those ruling at the transaction dates. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the rate of exchange ruling at the reporting date. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at historical cost are translated using the exchange rates as at the dates of the initial transactions. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies measured at fair value are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value was determined.

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on translating monetary items at the reporting date are recognised in profit or loss.

Exchange differences arising on the translation of non-monetary items carried at fair value are included in profit and loss for the period except for the differences arising on the translation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognised in other comprehensive income. Exchange differences arising from such non-monetary items are also recognised in other comprehensive income.

All items of property, plant and equipment are initially recorded at cost. The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised as an asset if, and only if, it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

Subsequent to recognition, property, plant and equipment are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. When significant parts of property, plant and equipment are required to be replaced in intervals, the Company recognises such parts as individual assets with specific useful lives and depreciation, respectively. Likewise, when a major inspection is performed, its cost is recognised in the carrying amount of the plant and equipment as a replacement if the recognition criteria are satisfied. All other repair and maintenance costs are recognised in profit or loss as incurred.

Depreciation is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

Furniture and fittings	25
Office equipment	50
Motor vehicles	25
Computers	50

The carrying values of property, plant and equipment are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable.

The residual values, useful lives and depreciation method are reviewed at each financial year end, and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any gain or loss on derecognition of the asset is included in the profit or loss in the year the asset is derecognised.

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any such indication exists, the Company makes an estimate of the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell and its value in use. For the purpose of assessing impairment, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are separately identifiable cash flows (cash-generating units ("CGU")).

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows expected to be generated by the asset are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. Where the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is written down to its recoverable amount. Impairment losses recognised in respect of a CGU or groups of CGUs are allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of the assets in the unit or groups of units on a pro-rate basis. Impairment losses are recognised in profit or loss.

A previously recognised impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the assets recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognised. If that is the case, the carrying amount of the asset is increased to its recoverable amount. That increase cannot exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognised previously. Such reversal is recognised in profit or loss.

2.7 Financial assets

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial assets are classified, at initial recognition, as financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, loans and receivables, held-to-maturity investments, available-for-sale financial investments, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate. All financial assets are recognised initially at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset.

Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within a time frame established by regulation or convention in the market place (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, the date that the Company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

Subsequent measurement

For purposes of subsequent measurement, financial assets are classified into four categories:

- Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss
- Loans and receivables
- Held-to-maturity investments
- Available-for-sale financial investments

(a) Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss include financial assets held for trading and financial assets designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss. Financial assets are classified as held for trading if they are acquired for the purpose of selling or repurchasing in the near term. Derivatives, including separated embedded derivatives are also classified as held for trading unless they are designated as effective hedging instruments as defined by MFRS 139. Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are carried in the statement of financial position at fair value with net changes in fair value presented as finance costs (negative net changes in fair value) or finance income (positive net changes in fair value) in the statement of profit or loss. The Company has not designated any financial assets at fair value through profit or loss during the financial periods ended 31 March 2016 and 31 March 2015.

Derivatives embedded in host contracts are accounted for as separate derivatives and recorded at fair value if their economic characteristics and risks are not closely related to those of the host contracts and the host contracts are not held for trading or designated at fair value though profit or loss. These embedded derivatives are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss. Re-assessment only occurs if there is either a change in the terms of the contract that significantly modifies the cash flows that would otherwise be required or a reclassification of a financial asset out of the fair value through profit or loss.

(b) Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. After initial measurement, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate (“EIR”) method, less impairment. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in profit or loss as interest income. The losses arising from impairment are recognised in profit or loss as finance costs for loans and as cost of sales or other operating expenses for receivables.

(c) Held-to-maturity investments

Non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturities are classified as held to maturity when the Company has the positive intention and ability to hold them to maturity. After initial measurement, held to maturity investments are measured at amortised cost using the EIR, less impairment. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in profit or loss as interest income. The losses arising from impairment are recognised in profit or loss as finance costs. The Company does not have any held-to-maturity investments during the financial period ended 31 March 2016 and 31 March 2015.

(d) Available-for-sale (“AFS”) financial investments

AFS financial investments include equity investments and debt securities. Equity investments classified as AFS are those that are neither classified as held for trading nor designated at fair value through profit or loss. Debt securities in this category are those that are intended to be held for an indefinite period of time and that may be sold in response to needs for liquidity or in response to changes in the market conditions.

After initial measurement, AFS financial investments are subsequently measured at fair value with unrealised gains or losses recognised in other comprehensive income (“OCI”) and credited in the AFS reserve until the investment is derecognised, at which time the cumulative gain or loss is recognised in other operating income, or the investment is determined to be impaired, when the cumulative loss is reclassified from the AFS reserve to profit or loss as finance costs. Interest earned whilst holding AFS financial investments is reported as interest income using the EIR method.

Investments in equity investments whose fair values cannot be reliably measured are recognised at cost less impairment loss.

The Company evaluates whether the ability and intention to sell its AFS financial assets in the near term is still appropriate. When, in rare circumstances, the Company is unable to trade these financial assets due to inactive markets, the Company may elect to reclassify these financial assets if the management has the ability and intention to hold the assets for foreseeable future or until maturity.

For a financial asset reclassified from the AFS category, the fair value carrying amount at the date of reclassification becomes its new amortised cost and any previous gain or loss on the asset that has been recognised in equity is amortised to profit or loss over the remaining life of the investment using the EIR. Any difference between the new amortised cost and the maturity amount is also amortised over the remaining life of the asset using the EIR. If the asset is subsequently determined to be impaired, then the amount recorded in equity is reclassified to profit or loss. The Company does not have any AFS financial investments during the financial periods ended 31 March 2016 and 31 March 2015.

Derecognition

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (such as removed from the Company’s statement of financial position) when:

- The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or
- The Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a ‘pass-through’ arrangement; and either (a) the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, it evaluates if and to what extent it has retained the risks and rewards of ownership. When it has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset, nor transferred control of the asset, the asset is recognised to the extent of the Company’s continuing involvement in the asset. In that case, the Company also recognises an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the Company has retained.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the Company could be required to repay.

2.8 Impairment of financial assets

The Company assesses, at each reporting date, whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired. An impairment exists if one or more events that has occurred since the initial recognition of the asset (an incurred 'loss event'), has an impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset or the group of financial assets that can be reliably estimated. Evidence of impairment may include indications that the debtors or a group of debtors is experiencing significant financial difficulty, default or delinquency in interest or principal payments, the probability that they will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganisation and observable data indicating that there is a measurable decrease in the estimated future cash flows, such as changes in arrears or economic conditions that correlate with defaults.

(a) Financial assets carried at amortised cost

For financial assets carried at amortised cost, the Company first assesses whether impairment exists individually for financial assets that are individually significant, or collectively for financial assets that are not individually significant. If the Company determines that no objective evidence of impairment exists for an individually assessed financial asset, whether significant or not, it includes the asset in a group of financial assets with similar credit risk characteristics and collectively assesses them for impairment. Assets that are individually assessed for impairment and for which an impairment loss is, or continues to be, recognised are not included in a collective assessment of impairment.

If there is objective evidence that an impairment loss has been incurred, the amount of the loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future expected credit losses that have not yet been incurred). The present value of the estimated future cash flows is discounted at the financial asset's original EIR. If a loan has a variable interest rate, the discount rate for measuring any impairment loss is the current EIR.

The carrying amount of the asset is reduced through the use of an allowance account and the loss is recognised in profit or loss. Interest income continues to be accrued on the reduced carrying amount and is accrued using the rate of interest used to discount the future cash flows for the purpose of measuring the impairment loss. Loans together with the associated allowance are written off when there is no realistic prospect of future recovery and all collateral has been realised or has been transferred to the Company. If, in a subsequent year, the amount of the estimated impairment loss increases or decreases because of an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, the previously recognised impairment loss is increased or reduced by adjusting the allowance account. If a write-off is later recovered, the recovery is credited to finance costs in profit or loss.

(b) AFS financial investments

For AFS financial investments, the Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is objective evidence that an investment or a group of investments is impaired.

In the case of equity investments classified as AFS, objective evidence would include a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value of the investment below its cost. 'Significant' is evaluated against the original cost of the investment and 'prolonged' against the period in which the fair value has been below its original cost. When there is evidence of impairment, the cumulative loss – measured as the difference between the acquisition cost and the current fair value, less any impairment loss on that investment previously recognised in profit or loss – is removed from OCI and recognised in profit or loss. Impairment losses on equity investments are not reversed through profit or loss; increases in their fair value after impairment are recognised in OCI.

In the case of debt instruments classified as AFS, the impairment is assessed based on the same criteria as financial assets carried at amortised cost. However, the amount recorded for impairment is the cumulative loss measured as the difference between the amortised cost and the current fair value, less any impairment loss on that investment previously recognised in profit or loss.

Future interest income continues to be accrued based on the reduced carrying amount of the asset, using the rate of interest used to discount the future cash flows for the purpose of measuring the impairment loss. If, in a subsequent year, the fair value of a debt instrument increases and the increase can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognised in profit or loss, the impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss.

2.9 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash at bank and on hand and deposits that are readily convertible to known amount of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value, with a maturity of three months or less.

2.10 Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of economic resources will be required to settle the obligation and the amount of the obligation can be estimated reliably.

Provisions are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimate. If it is no longer probable that an outflow of economic resources will be required to settle the obligation, the provision is reversed. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre tax rate that reflects, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost.

2.11 Financial liabilities

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, payables, or as derivatives designated as hedging instruments in an effective hedge, as appropriate.

All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

The Company's financial liabilities include trade and other payables, hire purchase payable and amount due to related companies.

Subsequent measurement

The measurement of financial liabilities depends on their classification, as described below:

(a) Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial liabilities are classified as held for trading if they are incurred for the purpose of repurchasing in the near term. This category also includes derivative financial instruments entered into by the Company that are not designated as hedging instruments in hedge relationships as defined by MFRS 139. Separated embedded derivatives are also classified as held for trading unless they are designated as effective hedging instruments.

Gains or losses on liabilities held for trading are recognised in profit or loss.

Financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss are designated at the initial date of recognition, and only if the criteria in MFRS 139 are satisfied. The Company has not designated any financial liability as at fair value through profit or loss during the years ended 31 March 2016 and 31 March 2015.

(b) Other financial liabilities

Trade and other payables are recognised initially at fair value plus directly attributable transaction costs and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the EIR method.

Loans and borrowings are recognised initially at fair value, net of transaction costs incurred, and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the EIR method.

Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised as well as through the EIR amortisation process.

Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in profit or loss as finance costs.

Derecognition

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled, or expired. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in profit or loss.

Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the statement of financial position if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

2.12 Financial guarantee contracts

A financial guarantee contract is a contract that requires the issuer to make specified payments to reimburse the holder for a loss it incurs because a specified debtor fails to make payment when due.

Financial guarantee contracts are recognised initially as a liability at fair value, net of transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, financial guarantee contracts are recognised as income in profit or loss over the period of the guarantee. If the debtor fails to make payment relating to financial guarantee contract when it is due and the Company, as the issuer, is required to reimburse the holder for the associated loss, the liability is measured at the higher of the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date and the amount initially recognised less cumulative amortisation.

2.13 Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs are capitalised as part of the cost of a qualifying asset if they are directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of that asset. Capitalisation of borrowing costs commences when the activities to prepare the asset for its intended use or sale are in progress and the expenditures and borrowing costs are incurred. Borrowing costs are capitalised until the assets are substantially completed for their intended use or sale.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE FINANCIAL PERIOD ENDED MARCH 31, 2016 (CONTD.)

All other borrowing costs are recognised in profit or loss in the period they are incurred. Borrowing costs consist of interest and other costs that the Company incurred in connection with the borrowing of funds.

2.14 Employee benefits

Defined contribution plans

The Company participates in the national pension schemes as defined by the laws of the countries in which it has operations. The Company make contributions to the Employees Provident Fund ("EPF") in Malaysia, a defined contribution pension scheme. Contributions to defined contributions pension schemes are recognised as an expense in the period in which the related service is performed.

2.15 Leases

As lessee

Finance leases, which transfer to the Company substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of the leased item, are capitalised at the inception of the lease at the fair value of the leased asset or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. Any initial direct costs are also added to the amount capitalised. Lease payments are apportioned between the finance charges and reduction of the lease liability so as to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are charged to profit or loss. Contingent rents, if any, are charged as expenses in the periods in which they are incurred.

Leased assets are depreciated over the estimated useful life of the asset. However, if there is no reasonable certainty that the Company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term, the asset is depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life and the lease term.

Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. The aggregate benefit of incentives provided by the lessor is recognised as a reduction of rental expense over the lease term on a straight-line basis.

2.16 Revenue

Revenue is recognised to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured. Revenue is measured at the fair value of consideration received or receivable.

(a) Revenue from data mining services

Revenue is recognised upon delivering or rendering of service to the customers.

(b) Interest income

Interest income is recognised on an accrual basis.

2.17 Income tax

(i) Current tax

Current tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date.

Current taxes are recognised in profit or loss except to the extent that the tax relates to items recognised outside profit or loss, either in other comprehensive income or directly in equity.

(ii) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided using the liability method on temporary differences at the reporting date between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all temporary differences, except:

- where the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and
- in respect of taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, where the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses, to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised except:

- where the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss; and
- in respect of deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that the temporary differences will reverse in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax assets to be utilised.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply to the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss. Deferred tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in other comprehensive income or directly in equity and deferred tax arising from a business combination is adjusted against goodwill on acquisition.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

(c) Goods and Services Tax ("GST")

On and after 1 April 2015, revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST except:

- when the GST incurred on a purchase of assets or services is not recoverable from the taxation authority, in which case, the GST is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or part of the expense item, as applicable; and
- when receivables and payables that are stated with the amount of GST included.

The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is included as part of receivables or payables in the statement of financial position.

2.18 Share capital and share issuance expenses

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of the Company after deducting all of its liabilities. Ordinary shares are equity instruments.

Ordinary shares are recorded at the proceeds received, net of directly attributable incremental transaction costs. Ordinary shares are classified as equity. Dividends on ordinary shares are recognised in equity in the period in which they are declared.

2.19 Current versus non-current classification

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the statement of financial position based on current/non-current classification. An asset is classified as current when it is:

(i) expected to be realised or intended to be sold or consumed in normal operating cycle;

(ii) held primarily for the purpose of trading;

(iii) expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period; or

(iv) cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is classified as current when:

(i) it is expected to be settled in the normal operating cycle;

(ii) it is held primarily for the purpose of trading;

(iii) it is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period; or

(iv) there is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

The Company classifies all other liabilities as non-current.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

2.20 Contingencies

A contingent liability or asset is a possible obligation or asset that arises from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of uncertain future event(s) not wholly within the control of the Company.

Contingent liabilities and assets are not recognised in the statements of financial position of the Company.

2.21 Fair value measurement

The Company measures financial instruments, such as, derivatives, at fair value at each reporting date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE FINANCIAL PERIOD ENDED MARCH 31, 2016 (CONTD.)

- in the principal market for the asset or liability; or
- in the absence of a principal market, i n the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible to by the Company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

(i) Level 1 : Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

(ii) Level 2 : Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable

(iii) Level 3 : Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

3. Significant accounting judgements and estimates

There are no significant accounting judgements and estimates made by management in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies that have a significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements.

4. Revenue and cost of sales

Revenue consists of data mining services rendered.

Cost of sales represents costs incurred in relation to the above services.

15. Financial instruments

The Company are exposed to financial risks arising from its operations and the use of financial instruments. The key financial risks include credit risk, liquidity risk and interest rate risk.

The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies and procedures for the management of these risks.

It is, and has been throughout the current and previous financial year, the Company's policy that no derivatives shall be undertaken. The Company do not apply hedge accounting.

The following sections provide details regarding the Company's exposure to the above-mentioned financial risks and the objectives, policies and processes for the management of these risks.

(a) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting financial obligations due to shortage of funds. The Company's exposure to liquidity risk arises primarily from mismatches of the maturities of financial assets and liabilities. The Company's objective is to maintain a balance between continuity of funding and flexibility through the use of stand-by credit facilities.

The Company manages liquidity risk by maintaining sufficient cash. In addition, the Company maintains bank facilities such as working capital lines deemed adequate by the management to ensure it will have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when they fall due.

The table below summarises the maturity profile of the Company's financial liabilities at the end of the reporting period based on contractual undiscounted repayment obligations.

(b) Credit risk

Credit risks, or the risk of counterparties defaulting, are controlled by the application of credit approvals, limits and monitoring procedures. Credit risks are minimised and monitored via strictly limiting the Company's associations to business partners with high creditworthiness. Trade receivables are monitored on an ongoing basis.

At the statement of financial position date, there were no significant concentration of credit risk. The maximum exposure to credit risk is represented by the carrying amount of each financial asset.

Exposure to credit risk

At the reporting date, the Company's maximum exposure to credit risk is primarily attributable to deposits and advances to related company. In addition, receivable balances are monitored on an ongoing basis and the Company's exposure to bad debts is not significant.

Credit risk concentration profile

At the reporting date, approximately 19% (2015: 30%) of the Company's trade and other receivables were due from one (1) major intercompany who is located in India.

Financial assets that are neither past due nor impaired

Information regarding receivables that are neither past due nor impaired is disclosed in Note 10.

(c) Interest rate risk

Cash flow interest rate risk is the risk that the future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. Fair value interest rate risk is the risk that the value of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates.

The Company does not have any fixed rate instruments at fair value through profit or loss. Therefore, a change in interest risk at reporting date would not affect the profit or loss.

(d) Foreign currency risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates.

The Company has transactional currency exposures arising from sales or purchases that are denominated in a currency other than the functional currency of the Company, which is Ringgit Malaysia ("RM"). Than foreign currencies in which these transactions are denominated in are United States Dollars (USD).

The following table demonstrates the sensitivity of the Company's loss net of tax to a reasonably possible change in the USD exchange rates against the functional currency of the Company, with all other variables held constant.

16. Fair value of financial instruments

A. Determination of fair value

Financial instruments of the Company comprise trade and other receivables and payables, amounts due from and (to) related companies, whose are not carried at fair value. The carrying amounts of these financial assets and liabilities are reasonable approximation of fair values due to their short-term nature or that they are fixed rate instruments that are at market interest rates.

17. Comparatives

ANNEXURE 'B' TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

[Referred to in paragraph 2(f) of our Report of even date]

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of L&T Valves Limited ("the Company") as of 31 March 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting ("the Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India("ICAI"). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act").

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable, to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A Company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31 March 2017, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Corporate Information

   L&T Valves Limited is an unlisted public limited company incorporated in India, having its registered office at L&T House, Ballard Estate, and Mumbai – 400001. Its parent Company is Larsen & Toubro Limited. The Company is primarily engaged in manufacturing valves for key sectors of the economy such as oil & gas, power, petrochemicals, chemicals, fertilizers and pharmaceuticals.

2. Statement of compliance

   The company's financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and the Indian Accounting Standards ("Ind AS") notified under the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 issued by Ministry of Corporate Affairs in respect of sections 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 read with sub-section (1) of Section 210A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956). In addition, the guidance notes/announcements issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) are also applied except where compliance with other statutory promulgations require a different treatment. The financials for the year ended March 31, 2017 of the company are the first financial statements prepared in compliance with Ind AS. The date of transition to Ind AS is April 1, 2015. The financial statements upto the year ended March 31, 2016, were prepared in accordance with the accounting standards notified under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006 ("I-GAAP") and other relevant provisions of the Act. The figures for the year ended March 31, 2016 have now been restated as per Ind AS to provide comparability.

   These financials statements have been approved for issue by the Board of Directors at their meeting held on May 19, 2017.

3. Basis of accounting

   The Company maintains accounts on accrual basis following the historical cost convention, except for certain financial instruments that are measured at fair value in accordance with Ind AS and certain items of property, plant and equipment that were revalued in earlier years in accordance with the I-GAAP principles. The carrying value of all the items of property, plant and equipment and investment property as on date of transition is considered as the deemed cost.

   Fair value measurements under Ind AS are catagorised as below based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurements are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

   - Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the company can access at measurement date
   - Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included in Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
   - Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability

4. Presentation of financial statements

   The Balance Sheet and the Statement of Profit and Loss are prepared and presented in the format prescribed in the Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act"). The Cash Flow Statement has been prepared and presented as per the requirements of Ind AS 7 "Statement of Cash flows". The disclosure requirements with respect to items in the Balance Sheet and Statement of Profit and Loss, as prescribed in the Schedule III to the Act, are presented by way of notes forming part of accounts along with the other notes required to be disclosed under the notified Accounting Standards.

   Amounts in the financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees in Lakhs rounded off to two decimal places in line with the requirements of Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013. Per share data are presented in Indian Rupees to two decimals places.

5. Operating cycle for current and non-current classification

   The Operating cycle for the business activities of the company covers the duration of the specific product line wherever applicable and extends up to the realization of receivables (including retention monies) within the agreed credit period normally applicable to the industries.

6. Revenue recognition

   Revenue is recognized based on nature of activity when consideration can be reasonably measured and there exists reasonable certainty of its recovery. Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable and is reduced for estimated customer returns, rebates and other similar allowances.

   A. Revenue from operations

      a. Sale of goods

         Revenue includes excise duty and adjustments made towards liquidated damages and volume rebates wherever applicable. Revenue from the sale of goods is recognized when the goods are delivered and titles have passed, at which time all the following conditions are satisfied:

         i) Significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods are transferred to the buyer;

         ii) The Company retains neither continuing managerial involvement to the degree usually associated with ownership nor effective control over the good sold;

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

iii) The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;

iv) It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company; and

v) the costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably

b. Rendering of services

Revenue from rendering of services is recognized when the outcome of a transaction can be estimated reliably by reference to the stage of completion of the transaction. The outcome of a transaction can be estimated reliably when all the following conditions are satisfied:

i) The amount of revenue can be measured reliable;

ii) It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company;

iii) The stage of completion of the transaction at the end of the reporting period can be measured reliably; and

iv) The costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliable

Stage of completion is determined by the proportion of actual costs incurred to date to the estimated total costs of the transaction.

c. Other operational revenue

Other operational revenue represents income earned from the activities incidental to the business and is recognised when the right to receive the income is established as per the terms of the contract.

B. Other Income

a. Interest income is accrued on a time basis by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

b. Dividend income is accounted in the period in which the right to receive the same is established.

c. Other items of income are accounted as and when the right to receive arises and it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the amount of income can be measured reliably

7. Exceptional Items

An item of income or expense which by its size, type or incidence requires disclosure in order to improve an understanding of the performance of the company is treated as an exceptional item and the same is disclosed in the notes to accounts.

8. Property, plant and equipment (PPE)

PPE is recognized when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. PPE is stated at original cost net of tax/duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated depreciation and cumulative impairment. Cost includes professional fees and, for qualifying assets, borrowing costs capitalized in accordance with the Company's accounting policy.

For transition to Ind AS, the carrying value of PPE under I-GAAP as on April 1, 2015 is regarded as its deemed cost.

Own manufactured PPE is capitalized at cost including an appropriate share of overheads. Administrative and other overhead expenses that are specifically attributable to construction or acquisition of PPE or bringing the PPE to working condition are allocated and capitalized as part of the cost of the PPE.

PPE not ready for the intended use on the date of the Balance Sheet are disclosed as "capital work-in-progress". (Also, refer to policy on leases, borrowing costs, impairment of assets and foreign currency transactions stated below)

Depreciation is recognized using straight-line method so as to write off the cost of the assets (other than freehold land and properties under construction) less their residual values over their useful life specified in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013, except building others and electrical installation which are constructed on leasehold property which are depreciated over their useful life of the lease period whichever is lower. Depreciation method is reviewed at each financial year-end to reflect expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the asset. The estimated useful life and residual values are also reviewed at each financial year end and the effect of any change in the estimates of useful life / residual value is accounted on prospective basis

The useful life of the PPE are as follows

Particulars	Years
Buildings
Building factories	30
Concrete Roads	10
Other than concrete roads	5
Plant & Equipment	15
Furniture & Fittings	10

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

Particulars	Years
Desktop & Laptops	3
Servers	6
Printers	5
Office equipment	5
Vehicles	8

Where cost of a part of the assets ("asset components") is significant to total cost of the asset and useful life of that part is different from the useful life of the remaining asset, useful life of that significant part is determined separately and such asset components is depreciated over its separate useful life.

Depreciation for additions to/deductions from, owned assets is calculated pro rata from / to the period of use. Extra shift depreciation is provided based on the usage of the assets. Depreciation charge for impaired assets is adjusted in future periods in such a manner that the revised carrying amount of the asset is allocated over its remaining useful life.

Freehold land is not depreciated.

9. Investment property

Properties held to earn rentals and / or capital appreciation (including property under construction for such purposes) are classified as Investment properties and are measured at cost, including transaction costs.

For transition to Ind AS, the carrying value of Investment properties under I-GAAP as on April 1, 2015 is regarded as its deemed cost.

Depreciation is recognized using straight line method so as to write off the cost of the investment properties less their residual values over their useful lives specified in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013. Depreciation method is reviewed at each financial year-end to reflect expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the investment property. The estimated useful life and residual values are reviewed at each financial year end and the effect of any change in the estimated useful life / residual value is accounted on prospective basis. Freehold land and properties under construction are not depreciated.

An investment property is derecognized upon disposal or when the investment property is permanently withdrawn from use and no future economic benefits are expected from the disposal. Any gain or loss arising on derecognizing of property is recognized in the statement of profit and loss in the same period.

10. Intangible assets

Intangible assets are recognized when it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the asset will flow to the enterprise and the cost of the asset can be measured reliably. Intangible assets are stated at original cost net of tax/duty credits availed, if any, less accumulated amortization and cumulative impairment. Administrative and other general overhead expenses that are specifically attributable to acquisition of intangible assets are allocated and capitalized as a part of the cost of the intangible assets.

Research and development expenditure on new products

a. Expenditure on research is expensed under respective heads of account in the period in which it is incurred.

b. Development expenditure on new products is capitalized as intangible asset, if all of the following can be demonstrated:

    i) The technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale.

    ii) The Company has intention to complete the intangible asset and use or sell it.

    iii) The Company has ability to use or sell the intangible asset.

    iv) The manner in which the probable future economic benefits will be generated including the existence of a market for output of the intangible asset or intangible asset itself or if it is to be used internally, the usefulness of intangible assets.

    v) The availability of adequate technical, financial and other resources to complete the development and to use or sell the intangible asset; and

    vi) The Company has ability to measure the expenditure attributable to the intangible asset during its development reliably.

Development expenditure that does not meet the criteria listed above is expensed in the period in which it is incurred.

Intangible assets not ready for the intended use on the date of the Balance Sheet are disclosed as "intangible assets under development".

Intangible assets are amortized over estimated their useful life. Amortization on impaired assets is provided by adjusting the amortization charges in the remaining periods to allocate the asset's revised carrying amount over its remaining useful life.

Technical know-how is amortized over a period of six years.

11. Impairment of assets

As at the end of each accounting year, the company reviews the carrying amounts of its PPE, investment property and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If such indication exists, the said assets are tested for impairment so as to determine the impairment loss, if any.

Impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount. Recoverable amount is determined:

a. in the case of an individual asset, at the higher of the net selling price and the value in use;

b. in the case of a cash generating unit (a group of assets that generates identified, independent cash flows), at the higher of the cash generating unit's net selling price and the value in use.

(The amount of value in use is determined as the present value of estimated future cash flows from the continuing use of an asset and from its disposal at the end of its useful life. For this purpose, the discount rate (pre-tax) is determined based on the weighted average cost of capital of the company suitably adjusted for risks specified to the estimated cash flows of the asset).

For this purpose, a cash generating unit is ascertained as the smallest identifiable group of assets that generates cash inflows that are largely independent of the cash inflows from other assets or groups of assets.

If recoverable amount of an asset (or cash generating unit) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, such deficit is recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss as impairment loss and the carrying amount of the asset (or cash generating unit) is reduced to its recoverable amount.

When an impairment loss subsequently reverses, the carrying amount of the asset (or cash generating unit) is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but so that the increased carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss is recognised for the asset (or cash generating unit) in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

12. Employee benefits

a. Short term employee benefits:

Employee benefits such as salaries, wages, short term compensated absences, expected cost of bonus, ex-gratia and performance-linked rewards falling due wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short term employee benefits and are expensed in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

b. Post-employment benefits:

i) Defined contribution plans: The State governed provident fund scheme and employee state insurance scheme are defined contribution plans. The contribution paid/payable under the schemes is recognized during the period in which the employee renders the related service.

ii) Defined benefit plans: The employees' gratuity fund schemes, post-retirement medical care scheme, pension scheme and provident fund scheme managed by trust are the Company's defined benefit plans. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plans is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows using a discount rate based on the market yield on government securities of a maturity period equivalent to the weighted average maturity profile of the defined benefit obligations at the Balance Sheet date.

Remeasurements, comprising actuarial gains and losses, the return on plan assets (excluding net interest) and any change in the effect of asset ceiling (wherever applicable) are recognized immediately in other comprehensive income and reflected immediately in retained earnings and is not reclassified to profit or loss.

Defined benefit employee costs comprising current service cost, past service cost and gains or losses on settlements are recognised in the Statement of Profit or Loss as employee benefits expense. Gains or losses on settlement of any defined benefit plan are recognised in profit or loss when such settlement occurs. Past service cost is recognised as expense at the earlier of the plan amendment or curtailment and when the company recognises related restructuring costs or termination benefits.

In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans to recognize the obligation on a net basis.

c. Long term employee benefits:

The present value of the obligation under long term employee benefit plans such as compensated absences is determined based on actuarial valuation using the Projected Unit Credit Method.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows using a discount rate based on the market yield on government securities of a maturity period equivalent to the weighted average maturity profile of the defined benefit obligations at the Balance Sheet date.

Long term employee benefit costs comprising current service cost and gains or losses on curtailments and settlements, remeasurements including actuarial gains and losses are recognised in the statement of profit or loss as employee benefit expenses.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

d. Termination benefits:

Termination benefits such as compensation under employee separation schemes are recognised as expense when the company's offer of the termination benefit is accepted or when the company recognises the related restructuring costs whichever is earlier.

13. Leases

The determination of whether an agreement is, or contains, a lease is based on the substance of the agreement at the date of inception.

Operating leases:

i) Assets acquired on leases where a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are retained by the lessor are classified as operating leases. Lease rentals are charged to the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease.

ii) Assets leased out under operating leases are continued to be capitalized by the Company. Rental income is recognized on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease. (Also, refer to policy on depreciation, stated under "Property, Plant & Equipment")

14. Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when the Company becomes a party to a contract embodying the related financial instruments. All financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at transaction values and where such values are different from the fair value, at fair value. Transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to the fair value of such assets or liabilities, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

The financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and presented on net basis in the Balance Sheet when there is a current legally enforceable right to set-off the recognised amounts and it is intended to either settle on net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

a) Financial Assets

All recognized financial assets are subsequently measured in their entirety at amortized cost or at fair value depending on the classification of the financial assets as follows

i) Investments in debt instruments that are designated as fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL) – at fair value.

ii) Other investments in debt instruments – at amortized cost, subject to the following conditions:

- The asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets in order to collect contractual cash flows; and
- The contractual terms of instrument give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

iii) Debt instruments that meet the following conditions are subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVOCI) (unless they are designated as FVTPL)

- The asset is held within a business model whose objective is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets; and
- The contractual terms of instrument give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

For financial assets that are measured at FVTOCI, income by way of interest, dividend and exchange difference (on debt instrument) is recognised in profit or loss and changes in fair value (other than on account of such income) are recognised in Other Comprehensive Income and accumulated in other equity. On disposal of debt instruments measured at FVTOCI, the cumulative gain or loss previously accumulated in other equity is reclassified to profit or loss.

A financial asset is primarily derecognized when;

i) The right to receive cash flows from the asset has expired, or

ii) The company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a pass-through arrangement; and (a) the company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or b) the company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the carrying amount measured at the date of derecognition and the consideration received is recognised in profit or loss.

Impairment of financial assets: The company recognises impairment loss on trade receivables using expected credit loss model, which involves use of a provision matrix constructed on the basis of historical credit loss experience as permitted under Ind AS 109.

b) Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities, including derivatives, which are designated for measurement at FVTPL are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial liabilities including loans and borrowings are measured at amortised cost using Effective Interest Rate (EIR) method.

A financial liability is derecognized when the related obligation expires or is discharged or cancelled.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

c) Cash flow hedges

In case of transaction related hedges, the effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity as 'hedging reserve'. The gain or loss relating to the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in profit or loss. Amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity relating to the effective portion, are reclassified to profit or loss in the periods when the hedged item affects profit or loss, in the same head as the hedged item. The effective portion of the hedge is determined at the lower of the cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument from inception of the hedge and the cumulative change in the fair value of the hedged item from the inception of the hedge and the remaining gain or loss on the hedging instrument is treated as ineffective portion.

Hedge accounting in respect of cash flow hedges is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. Any gain or loss recognized in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity at that time remains in equity and is recognized when the forecast transaction is ultimately recognized in profit or loss. When a forecast transaction is no longer expected to occur, the gain or loss accumulated in equity is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

15. Inventories

Inventories are valued after providing for obsolescence, as under:

a. Raw materials, components, stores, spares and loose tools at lower of weighted average cost and net realizable value

b. Work-in-progress at lower of cost of material including overheads and net realizable value.

c. Finished Goods (Manufacturing) at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes related overheads and excise duty payable on such goods.

d. Finished Goods (Trading) at lower of weighted average cost and net realizable value.

Raw materials components, stores and other supplies held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished goods in which they will be used are expected to be sold at cost or above cost.

Assessment of net realisable value is done in each subsequent period and when the circumstances that previously caused inventories to be written down below cost no longer exist or when there is clear evidence of an increase in net realisable value because of changed economic circumstances, the amount of the write-down is reversed. Such reversal is limited to the amount of the original write-down so that the new carrying amount is the lower of the cost and the revised net realisable value.

16. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand, demand deposits with banks and include short-term highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amount of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.

17. Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs include interest expense calculated using the effective interest method, finance charges in respect of assets acquired on finance lease and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings, to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs.

Borrowing costs that are attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset are capitalized/inventorised as part of cost of such asset till such time the asset is ready for its intended use or sale. A qualifying asset is an asset that necessarily requires a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale. All other borrowing costs are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

18. Foreign currencies

a. The functional currency of the Company is Indian rupee.

b. Transactions in currencies other than the Company's functional currency are recorded on initial recognition using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction. At each Balance Sheet date, foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in foreign currency are not retranslated. Exchange differences that arise on settlement of monetary items or on reporting of monetary items at each Balance Sheet date at the closing spot rate are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise except for:

i) exchange differences on foreign currency borrowings relating to assets under construction for future productive use, which are included in the cost of those assets when they are regarded as an adjustment to interest costs on those foreign currency borrowings; and

ii) exchange differences on transactions entered into in order to hedge certain foreign currency risks.

19. Accounting and reporting of information for Operating Segments

Operating segments are those components of the business whose operating results are regularly reviewed by the chief operating decision making body in the Company to make decisions for performance assessment and resource allocation.

The reporting of segment information is the same as provided to the management for the purpose of the performance assessment and resource allocation to the segments.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

Segment accounting policies are in line with the accounting policies of the Company. In addition, the following specific accounting policies have been followed for segment reporting:

i) Segment revenue includes sales and other income directly identifiable with/allocable to the segment including inter segment revenue.

ii) Expenses that are directly identifiable with/allocable to segments are considered for determining the segment result. The expenses, which relate to the company as a whole and not allocable to the segments, are included under "other unallocable corporate expenditure".

iii) Income, which relates to the company as a whole and not allocable to segments is included in "Unallocable income".

iv) Segment assets and liabilities include those directly identifiable with the respective segments.

20. Taxes on Income

Tax on income for the current period is determined on the basis of taxable income and tax credits computed in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act 1961, and based on the expected outcome of assessments/appeals.

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the Company's financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in computation of taxable profit and quantified using the tax rates and laws enacted or substantively enacted as on the Balance Sheet date.

Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognised for all taxable temporary differences including the temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates, and interests in joint ventures, except where the Company is able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are generally recognised for all taxable temporary differences to the extent that is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilised. The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets relating to unabsorbed depreciation/business losses/losses under the head "capital gains" are recognized and carried forward to the extent of available taxable temporary differences or where there is convincing other evidence sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized.

Transaction or event, which is recognized outside profit or loss, either in other comprehensive income or in equity, is recorded along with the tax as applicable.

21. Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets

Provisions are recognized only when:

a) an entity has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event

b) it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation; and

c) a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation

Provision is measured using the cash flows estimated to settle the present obligation and when the effect of time value of money is material, the carrying amount of the provision is the present value of those cash flows. Reimbursement expected in respect of expenditure required to settle a provision is recognised only when it is virtually certain that the reimbursement will be received.

Contingent liability is disclosed in case of:

a) a present obligation arising from past events, when it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation; and

b) a present obligation arising from past events, when no reliable estimate is possible

Contingent assets are disclosed where an inflow of economic benefits is probable.

Provisions, contingent liabilities and contingent assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date.

22. Commitments

Commitments are future liabilities for contractual expenditure. Commitments are classified and disclosed as follows:

a) Estimated amount of contracts remaining to be executed on capital account and not provided for

b) Other non-cancellable commitments, if any, to the extent they are considered material and relevant in the opinion of management.

Other commitments related to sales/procurements made in the normal course of business are not disclosed to avoid excessive details.

23. Non-current assets held for sale

Non-current assets (and disposal groups) classified as held for sale are measured at lower of their carrying amount and fair value less costs to sell.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

24. Statement of Cash Flows

Statement of cash flows is prepared segregating the cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities. Cash flow from operating activities is reported using indirect method, adjusting the net profit is adjusted for the effects of:

a) changes during the period in inventories and operating receivables and payables transactions of a non-cash nature

b) non-cash items such as depreciation, provisions, deferred taxes, unrealized foreign currency gains and losses, and undistributed profits of associates; and

c) all other items for which the cash effects are investing or financing cash flows.

Cash and cash equivalents (including bank balances) shown in the Statement of cash flows exclude items which are not available for general use as on the date of Balance Sheet.

25. Key sources of estimation uncertainty

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires that the management of the Company makes estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of income and expenses of the period, the reported balances of assets and liabilities and the disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as of the date of the financial statements. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Examples of such estimates include the useful lives of PPE, Intangible assets, allowance for doubtful debts/advances, future obligations in respect of retirement benefit plans, provision for rectification costs, fair value measurement etc. Periodic revisions to such accounting estimates are recognized prospectively in the period to which it affects. Difference, if any, between the actual results and estimates is recognized in the period in which the results are known.

4) Mortality rate :	Published rates under the Indian Assured Lives Mortality (2006-08) Ult table

5) Attrition Rate:

(a) For post- retirement medical benefit plan the attrition rate varies from 1% to 6% (Previous year : 1% to 6%) for various age groups.

(b) For gratuity plan the attrition rate varies from 1% to 6% (previous year: 1% to 6%) for various age groups.

6) The estimates of future salary increases, considered in actuarial valuation, take into account inflation, seniority, promotion and other relevant factors, such as supply and demand the employment market.

7) The interest payment obligations of trust-managed provident fund is assumed to be adequately covered by the interest income on long term investments of the fund. Any shortfall in the interest income over the interest obligation is recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

8) The obligation of the Company under the post- retirement medical benefit plan is limited to the overall ceiling limits. At present, healthcare cost, as indicated in the principal actuarial assumption given above, has been assumed to increase at 0% p.a.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

9) Assumptions regarding future mortality are based on published rates under the Indian Assured Lives Mortality (2006-08) Ult Table . These assumptions translate into an average life expectancy in years for a pensioner retiring at the age of 58.

10) (a) A one percentage point change in actuarial assumptions would have the following effects on the defined benefit obligations of gratuity plan:

Particulars	Effect of 1% increase		Effect of 1% decrease
	2016-17	2015-16	2016-17	2015-16

Impact of change in discount rate	(80.88)	(68.06)	91.69	76.88

11) Presenting the above sensitivity analysis, the present value of the defined benefit obligation has been calculated using the projected unit credit method at the end of the reporting period, which is the same as that applied in calculating the defined benefit obligation liability recognised in Balance Sheet.

12) The company expects to make Nil contribution to the defined benefit plans during the next financial year as the company already having surplus plan assets

(viii) Major risks to the plan
The gratuity scheme offered by the Company covers substantially all regular employees. The present value of the obligation is determined actuarially based on “Projected Unit Credit” method. The plan exposes the company to the following major risks.

Investment risk:

The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated using a discount rate which is determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds. If the return on plan asset is below this rate, it will create plan deficit.

Interest risk:

A decrease in the bond interest rate will increase the plan liability: however, this will be partially offset by an increase in the plan’s assets.

Longevity risk:

The present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated by reference to the best estimate of the mortality of plan participants both during and after their employment. An increase in the life expectancy of the plan particpants will increase the plan’s liability.

Salary risk:

The Present value of the defined benefit plan liability is calculated by reference to the future salaries of plan particpants. As such, an increase in the salary of the plan participants will increase the plan’s liability.

NOTE 28 : FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT

The company’s activities expose it to market risk, liquidity risk and credit risk. In order to minimize any adverse effects on the financial performance of the company, derivative financial instruments such as foreign exchange forward contracts are entered to hedge certain foreign currency risk exposures. Derivatives are used exclusively for hedging purposes and not as trading or speculative instruments.

This note explains the sources of risk which the entity is exposed to and how the entity manages the risk and the impact of hedge accounting in the financial estimates.

Risk	Exposure arising from	Measurement	Management

Market risk - foreign exchange	Future commercial transactions. Recognized financial assets and liabilities not denominated in Indian rupee (INR)	Sensitivity analysis	Forward foreign exchange contracts

The Company's risk management is carried out under policies approved by the board of directors. The Board provides policies covering specific areas such as foreign exchange risk, use of derivative financial instruments etc. and investment of excess liquidity.

(a) Credit risk

Credit risk arises from credit exposures to customers including outstanding receivables.

(i) Credit risk management

For banks and financial institutions, only high rated banks/ institutions are accepted. For other financial assets, the company assesses and manages credit risk based on internal evaluation.

The company considers the probability of default upon initial recognition of asset and whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk on an ongoing basis throughout each reporting period. It considers available reasonable and supportive forward - looking information.

(ii) Provision for expected credit losses

The company has used a practical expedient by computing the expected credit loss allowance for trade receivables based on a provision matrix. The provision matrix takes into account historical credit loss experience and adjusted for forward looking information. The expected credit loss allowance is based in the ageing of the days the receivables are due and the rates as given in the provision matrix. Inter group receivables are not subject to expected credit loss allowance as their collectability is certain.

The provision matrix at the end of the reporting period with respect to delay and default in payment by customers is as follows:

Ageing	Expected Credit Loss
	Delay	Default
Within the credit period	Nil	Nil
Upto 6 Months past due	Nil	Nil
6 Months - 12 Months past due	5%	1%

(b) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk management implies maintaining sufficient cash and marketable securities and the availability of funding through an adequate amount of committed credit facilities to meet obligations when due.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

The company maintains rolling forecasts of the company's liquidity position and cash and cash equivalents on the basis of expected cash flows. This involves projecting cash flows in major currencies and considering the level of liquid assets necessary to meet these, monitoring balance sheet liquidity ratios against internal and external requirements.

(i) Maturities of financial liabilities

(c) Market Risk

(i) Foreign currency risk

The company operates internationally and is exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from foreign currency transactions primarily with respect to USD, EUR and JPY. Foreign exchange risk arises from future commercial transactions and recognised assets and liabilities denominated in a currency that is not the company's functional currency (INR).

The risk is measured through a forecast of highly probable foreign currency cash flows. The objective of hedges is to minimise the volatality of the INR cash flows of highly probable forecast transactions. The company also imports certain materials which are denominated in USD, EUR and JPY which exposes it to foreign currency risk.

The company's policy is to hedge around 70% to 80% of net exposure from forecasted foreign currency sales and imports for the subsequent 12 months.

(ii) Interest rate risk

The Company's main interest rate risk arises from long- term borrowings with variable rates. During March 31, 2017 and March 31, 2016, the Company's borrowings at variable rate were in INR and EUR.

The Company's fixed rate borrowings are carried at amortised cost. They are therefore not suject to interest rate risk as defined in Ind AS 107, since neither the carrying amount nor the future cash flows will fluctuate because of a change in market interest rates.

Level 1 : Level 1 hierarchy includes financial instruments measured using quoted prices(unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date. This includes mutual funds that have quoted price. The mutual funds are valued using the closing NAV.

Level 2 : The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined using valuation techniques which maximize the use of observable market data and rely as little as possible on entity-specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in Level 2. This includes valuation of derivative instruments i.e., forward contracts based on valuation model using observable market data.

Level 3 : If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in Level 3. This is the case for unlisted equity securities, contingent consideration and indemnification asset included in Level 3.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

(c) Valuation technique used to determine fair value

Specific valuation techniques used to value financial instruments include:

(i) The fair value of forward foreign exchange contracts is determined using forward exchange rates at the balance sheet date.

(ii) Fair valuation of Mutual fund units based on published NAV.

NOTE 30 : CAPITAL MANAGEMENT

(a) Risk management

The company's objectives when managing capital are to :

(i) Safeguard their ability to continue as a going concern, so that they can continue to provide returns for shareholders and benefits for other stakeholders, and

(ii) Maintain an optimal capital structure to reduce the cost of capital.

In order to maintain or adjust the capital structure, the company may adjust the amount of dividends paid to shareholders, return capital to shareholders, issue new shares or sell assets to reduce debt.

Consistent with others in the industry, the company monitors capital on the basis of the gearing ratio. The company's strategy is to maintain a gearing ratio less than 30% . The gearing ratios were as follows:

Particulars	31-03-2017	31-03-2016	01-04-2015
Net debt (₹ Lakhs)	9,731.88	6,019.10	7,880.70
Total equity (₹ Lakhs)	60,358.47	52,069.80	38,433.25
Net debt to equity ratio	0.16	0.12	0.21

Debt = Long term borrowings+Short term borrowings+Current Maturities of long term debt+interest accrued

Loan Covenants

Under the terms of the major borrowing facilities, the Company is required to comply with certain financial covenants like gearing ratio, fixed assets coverage ratio, interest coverage ratio, etc. The company has complied with these covenants throughout the period.

NOTE 37 : DISCLOSURE FOR TRANSFER OF MANAPAKKAM UNDERTAKING PURSUANT TO THE SCHEME OF ARRANGEMENT OF DEMERGER:

(a) A Scheme of Arrangement (referred to as "Scheme of Arrangement of Demerger" in Notes forming part of Accounts) under Sections 230 to 240 of the Companies Act, 2013 and the rules made thereunder was approved by the shareholders of the Company on March 18, 2017 for inter alia transfer of the Manapakkam undertaking along with the identified assets and liabilities to L&T Electricals & Automation Limited (Resulting Company), a fellow subsidiary company.

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

(b) The Manapakkam undertaking of the Company was engaged in manufacturing valves for key sectors of the economy such as oil & gas, power, petrochemicals, chemicals, fertilizers and pharmaceuticals. The manufacturing facilities located at the Manapakkam have been shifted to the other manufacturing facilities of the Company located at Kanchipuram and Sriperambudur and accordingly there is no profit / loss attributable to the Manapakkam undertaking (discontinued operations).

(c) The Scheme of Arrangement of Demerger was sanctioned by the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), Division Bench, Mumbai vide its order dated April 27, 2017 and it came into effect on May 9, 2017 ("Effective Date") which is the date on which the Order from NCLT was filed with the Registrar of Companies(ROC).

(d) Pursuant to the declaration of the effective date of the Scheme of Arrangement of Demerger, the Manapakkam Undertaking of the Company stands transferred to and vested in Resulting Company as a going concern with effect from November 1, 2016, "appointed date" as per the Scheme of Arrangement of Demerger. Further, the receipt of NCLT Order on April 27, 2017 and the filing of the same with ROC on May 9, 2017 are adjusting events as per Ind AS 10 'Events after the reporting period'.

e) Accordingly the Financial Statements for the year ended March 31, 2017 have been prepared after giving effect to the demerger scheme and recording the transfer of the identified assets and the liabilities of the Company to Resulting Company at their respective book values as appearing in the books of the Company as on the appointed date, November 1, 2016.

(f) The following assets and liabilities have been transferred to Resulting Company for an aggregate consideration of ₹ 738.88 lakhs.

NOTE 39 : FIRST TIME ADOPTION OF IND AS

Transition to Ind AS

The accounting policies set out in note 1 have been applied in preparing the financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2017, the comparative information presented in these financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2016 and in the preparation of an opening Ind AS balance sheet at April 1, 2015 (the company's transition date). In preparing its opening Ind AS balance sheet, the company has adjusted the amounts reported previously in financial statements prepared in accordance with the accounting standards notified under Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules, 2006 (as amended) and other relevant provisions of the Act (previous GAAP or Indian GAAP).

An explanation of how the transition from previous GAAP to Ind AS has affected the company's financial position, financial performance and cash flows is set out in the following tables and notes.

a) Exemptions and exceptions availed

A) Optional exemptions

i) Deemed cost of property, plant and equipment

As per Ind AS 101 an entity may elect to use carrying values of property, plant and equipment as on the date of transition to Ind AS (which are measured in accordance with previous GAAP) if there has been no change in its functional currency on the date of transition.

The Company has elected to continue with the carrying value of all of its property, plant and equipment recognized as of 1 April 2015 (Transition date) measured as per the previous GAAP and use that carrying value as its deemed cost as of the transition date.

ii) Determining whether an arrangement contains a lease

Ind AS 101 includes an optional exemption that permits an entity to apply the relevant requirements in Appendix C of Ind AS 17 for determining whether an arrangement existing at the date of transition contains a lease by considering the facts and circumstances existing at the date of transition (rather than at the inception of the arrangement). The Company has elected to avail this exemption.

B) Mandatory exemptions

i) Estimates

As per Ind AS 101, an entity's estimates in accordance with Ind AS at the date of transition to Ind AS and at the end of the comparative period present in the entity's first Ind AS financial statements, as the case may be, should be consistent with estimates made for the same date in accordance with the previous GAAP unless there is objective evidence that those estimates were in error.

As per Ind AS 101, where an application of Ind AS requires an entity to make certain estimates that were not required under previous GAAP, those estimates should be made to reflect conditions that existed at the date of transition (for preparing opening Ind AS balance sheet) or at the end of the comparative period (for presenting comparative information as per Ind AS).

The Company's estimates under Ind AS are consistent with the above requirement. Key estimates considered in the preparation of the financial statements that were not required under the previous GAAP are listed below

- Impairment of financial assets based on the expected credit loss model

ii) Hedge accounting

As per Ind AS 101, an entity shall not reflect in its opening Ind AS Balance Sheet a hedging relationship of a type that does not qualify for hedging relationship in accordance with Ind AS 109. On the date of transition to Ind AS the Company has assessed that all the designated hedging relationship qualifies for hedge accounting as per Ind AS 109. Consequently, the company continues to apply hedge accounting on and after the date of transition to Ind AS.

iii) De-recognition of finacial assets and liabilities

Ind AS 101 requires a first-time adopter to apply the de-recognition provisions of Ind AS 109 prospectively for transactions occurring on or after the date of transition to Ind AS. However, Ind AS 101 allows a first-time adopter to apply the de-recognition requirements in Ind AS 109 retrospectively from a date as decided by the entity, provided that the information needed to apply Ind AS 109 to financial assets and financial liabilities derecognized as a result of past transactions was obtained at the time of initially accounting for those transactions.

The Company has elected to apply the de-recognition provisions of Ind AS 109 prospectively from the date of transition to Ind AS.

iv) Classification and measurement of financial assets

Ind AS 101 requires an entity to assess classification and measurement of financial assets (investment in debt instruments) on the basis of the facts and circumstances that exist at the date of transition to Ind AS. Accordingly the Company has classified the financial assets and liabilities on the basis of the facts and circumstances that exist at the date of transition to Ind AS.

b) Effect on Ind AS adoption on the Balance Sheet as at 1 April 2015 and 31 March 2016

NOTES ACCOMPANYING THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Contd.)

f) Notes to first-time adoption:

1. Share-based payments

The Holding company provides certain employee stock options to the employees of the Company. These options are valued as per Ind AS 102 and an additional cost of ₹ 6.76 lakhs is recognized in equity as at 1 April 2015. Further ₹ 2.36 lakhs is recognized as expenses during the year 2015-16 on account of valuation of the options as per Ind AS 102 as at 31 March 2016. On account of this adjustment there is a decrease in equity by ₹ 6.76 lakhs and ₹ 9.12 lakhs as at 1 April 2015 and 31 March 2016 respectively and a decrease in profit for the year 2015-16 by ₹ 2.36 lakhs .

2. Provisions

Under Indian GAAP, the Company had accounted for provisions, at the amounts expected to settle the obligation on an undiscounted basis since the previous GAAP prohibited discounting of provisions other than employee benefits. Ind AS 37 requires provisions to be discounted to its present value if the time value of money is material.

Accordingly the long term provision for warranty is recognized at the present value of the expenditure expected to be required to settle the obligation. The long term provision for warranty under Ind AS is lower by ₹ 39.32 lakhs as at 1 April 2015.

Under Ind AS the discounted provision needs to be adjusted for the time value of money over the period of the provision and accordingly interest of ₹ 39.32 lakhs is recognized for the year 2015-16. Further the impact of discounting the provision to present value is ₹ 15.98 lakhs (credit to profit and loss) for the year ended 31 March 2016. The carrying value of provision under Ind AS as at 31 March 2016 is reduced by ₹ 15.98 lakhs on account of the said adjustment.

On account of the above adjustments there is an increase in equity by ₹ 39.32 lakhs as at 1 April 2015 and ₹ 15.98 lakhs as at 31 March 2016 and the decline in profit for the year 2015-16 by ₹ 23.34 lakhs.

3. Items recognized in Other Comprehensive Income

(i) Remeasurements of defined benefit obligation

Under previous GAAP, the entire cost, including actuarial gains and losses, are charged to profit and loss. Under Ind AS, remeasurements [comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability] are recognised in other comprehensive income. The remeasurement loss on defined benefit obligations for the year 2015-16 is ₹ 203.91 lakhs and the tax impact on the same is ₹ 70.57 lakhs. There is no change in the total equity on account of this, however, the profit for the year 2015-16 has increased by ₹ 133.34 lakhs.

(ii) Cash flow hedges

Ind AS requires the effective portion of cash flow hedge to be recognized in Other Comprehensive Income. Accordingly movement in the fair value of cash flow hedge (effective portion) of ₹ 67.20 lakhs is recognized in OCI. Under previous GAAP, the movement in hedge reserves was directly recognized in hedging reserve.

4. Derivative instruments (Cash flow hedges)

The fair value of forward foreign exchange contracts is recognized under Ind AS, and was not recognized under Indian GAAP. The contracts, which were designated as hedging instruments under Indian GAAP, have been designated as at the date of transition to Ind AS as hedging instrument in cash flow hedges of expected future sales for which the company has firm commitments. The adjustment on account of complying with the hedge accounting as per Ind AS 109 as against hedging under Indan GAAP amounting to ₹ 502.23 lakhs is recognized directly in equity as at April 1, 2015 with corresponding impact in cash flow hedging reserve. Hence there is no impact on total equity as at April 1, 2015 on account of this adjustment.

Further, the impact of adopting hedge accounting as per Ind AS 109 has resulted in a decrease in profit for the year 2015-16 by ₹ 98.85 lakhs with the corresponding impact in cash flow hedging reserve. Accordingly there is no impact on total equity as at March 31, 2016 on account of this adjustment

5. Expected credit loss on trade receivables

Under previous GAAP, the Company has created provision for impairment of receivables in respect of specific amount for incurred losses. Under Ind AS, impairment allowance has been determined based on Expected Loss model (ECL). The Comapny has estimated the expected credit loss based on the ECL model and satisfied that the provision existing as at April 1 2015 and March 31, 2016 is sufficient to cover the expected credit loss. Accordingly no additional impairment allowance was recognized as at April 1, 2015 and as at March 31, 2016.

6. Deferred tax

Indian GAAP requires deferred tax accounting using the income statement approach, which focuses on differences between taxable profits and accounting profits for the period. Ind AS 12 requires entities to account for deferred taxes using the balance sheet approach, which focuses on temporary differences between the carrying amount of an asset or liability in the balance sheet and its tax base. The application of Ind AS 12 approach has resulted in recognition of deferred tax on new temporary differences which was not required under Indian GAAP. In addition, the various transitional adjustments lead to temporary differences. According to the accounting policies, the Company has to account for such differences. Deferred tax adjustments are recognized in correlation to the underlying transaction either in retained earnings. On the date of transition, the net impact on deferred tax liabilities is of ₹ 38.33 Lakhs (March 31, 2016 : ₹ 0.93 Lakhs).

7. Sale of goods

   (i) Under Indian GAAP, sale of goods was presented at net of excise duty. However, under Ind AS, sale of goods includes excise duty. Excise duty on sale of goods is separately presented on the face of statement of profit and loss. Thus sale of goods under Ind AS has increased by ₹ 7,612.69 Lakhs with a corresponding increase in Manufacturing and Operating expense.

   (ii) Under Indian GAAP, sale of goods was presented excluding volume rebate. However, under Ind AS, sale of goods includes volume rebate. Thus sale of goods under Ind AS has decreased by ₹ 319.62 Lakhs with a corresponding decrease in other expense.

8. Other comprehensive income

   Under Indian GAAP, the Company has not presented other comprehensive income (OCI) separately. Hence, Indian GAAP profit or loss is reconciled to total comprehensive income as per Ind AS.

9. Investment property

   Under the previous GAAP, investment properties were presented as part of Property, Plant and Equipment. Under Ind AS, investment properties are required to be separately presented on the face of the balance sheet. There is no impact on the total equity or profit as a result of this adjustment.

10. Retained earnings

    Retained earnings as at April 1, 2015 has been adjusted consequent to the above Ind AS transition adjustments.
